IN THE SPACE BETWEEN THESE WALLS — BETWEEN THESE COVERS — ARE THE STAIRS WHICH WE HAVE CLIMBED — THE PAGES ON WHICH WE'VE WRITTEN
OUR HOPES, DREAMS, DESIRES, AMBITIONS. NOT ONLY ARE THERE
PLACES WHERE WE LEARN, AND SEEK TO FIND TRUTH,
BUT THERE ARE SPACES WHERE WE CAN GROW AND DISCOVER SOME THINGS ON OUR OWN.

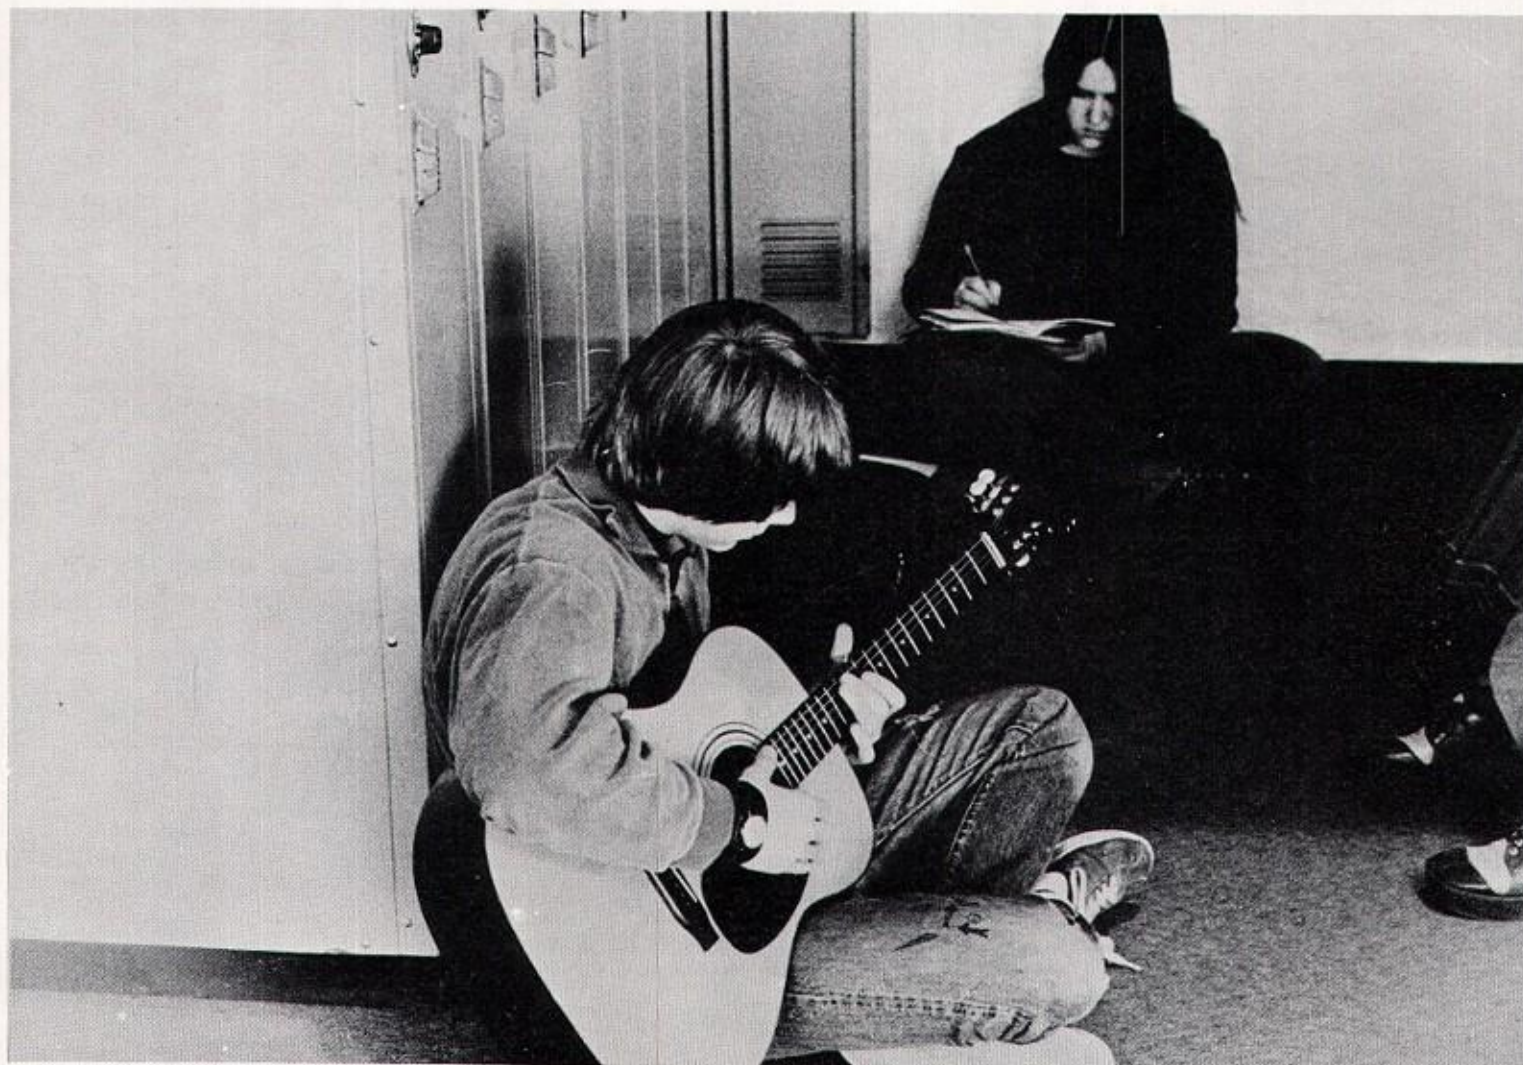

EACH DAY IS A STEP TOWARDS THE VAST AND CHANGING WORLD WHICH AWAITS US, CALLING US TO COME AND TASTE MORE OF LIFE THAN CAN BE FOUND HERE ON THESE PAGES.
 EACH DAY MAKES US REALIZE MORE CLEARLY THAT,
 THOUGH TODAY MAY SEEM LIKE ALL THERE IS TO LIFE, THINGS CHANGE, AND TOMORROW MAY SEE US SOMEWHERE ELSE.

SO WE MOVE ON, SLOWLY UNFOLDING THE SECRETS
WHICH SOMEONE PLACED HERE FOR US TO UNDERSTAND.

AS TIME PASSES, THINGS CHANGE. PEOPLE COME AND GO —
FRIENDS LEAVE, NEW FRIENDS APPEAR. EACH OF US HAS MOMENTS
WHEN WE WONDER WHY WE'RE ALL HERE.
THE FUNNY THING IS, WE CAN NEVER KNOW UNTIL IT'S OVER; UNTIL WE CLOSE THIS BOOK AND LEAVE.

After a hectic week of preparations, including separate orientation programs for incoming freshmen and returning students, Lakeridge began its third year in existence. September was greeted by over 1100 students anticipating a year of carrying out tradition rather than starting the new.

Traditionally, the Pacer sports programs have been strong, but this was a banner season which surpassed all others before it. By late October Lakeridge had everyone of the fall teams it fielded ranked in the top ten in Oregon. At seasons end, five girls and four boys traveled to the state gymnastics meet in Eugene.

As the season came close to an end, the drama department presented the play, "See How They Run." At the same time the speech team was in the midst of another successful year of competition, winning numerous trophies.

Quarterfinals end team's exciting season

The varsity football team, under head coach Tom Smythe, showed complete dominance over all Wilco opponents. The Pacers rolled up nine straight victories before suffering a disappointing loss at the hands of the Pendleton Buckaroos in the state's quarterfinal game in Pendleton.

The league winning Pacers began training for their victorious '73 season during the summer when many of the prospective lettermen spent a week at Sports Acres. This coastal camp gave them the desire and winning attitude that helped them into the state playoffs.

The powerful offensive team, which crossed the goal-line an awesome 45 times, was led by quarterback John Pigott and tackle Tom Eilertson. The defense, being one of the most dominant in the state, allowed opponents to cross their goal-line a mere 10 times. The defense was led by linebackers John Cleary and Marshall Cromer, tackles Greg Marshall and Tom Eilertson, and defensive back Brian Charles.

Coaches George Schull and John Fossatti deserve much credit for this year's success. With Jerry Grossen and Royce McDaniels also assisting, the Pacers were assured of anything but an average season.

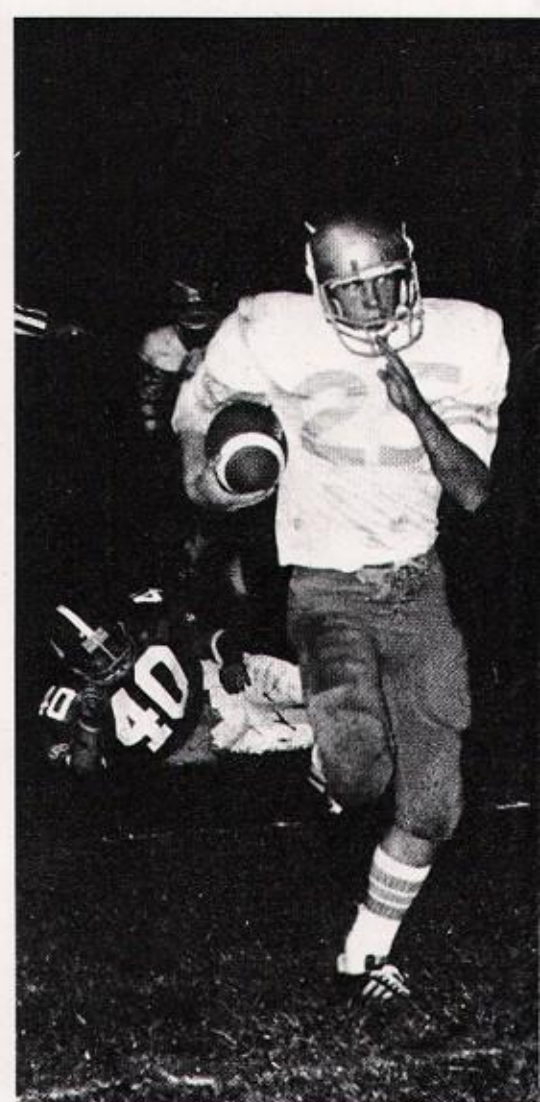

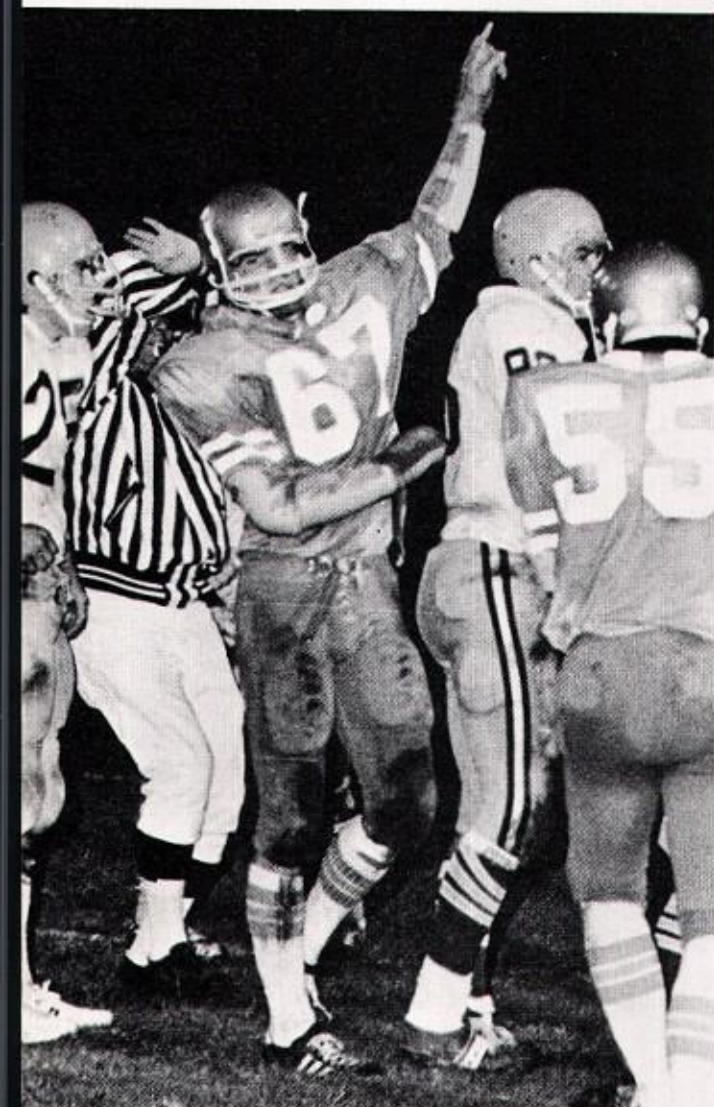

In November, the AAA coaches cast their votes for the all-state teams. The Pacers placed more people on the first team than any other school. Placed on the offensive first team were Tom Eilertson and John Pigott. Those on the defensive first team were Greg Marshall, John Cleary and Marshall Cromer. Charlie Klever was placed as a running back on the third team. Those receiving honorable mention were Scott Anderson at running back, Brad Johnston at offensive guard, Brian Charles at defensive back and Greg Marshall at offensive tackle.

FALL RALLY

Rally begins year with clinic — works all year

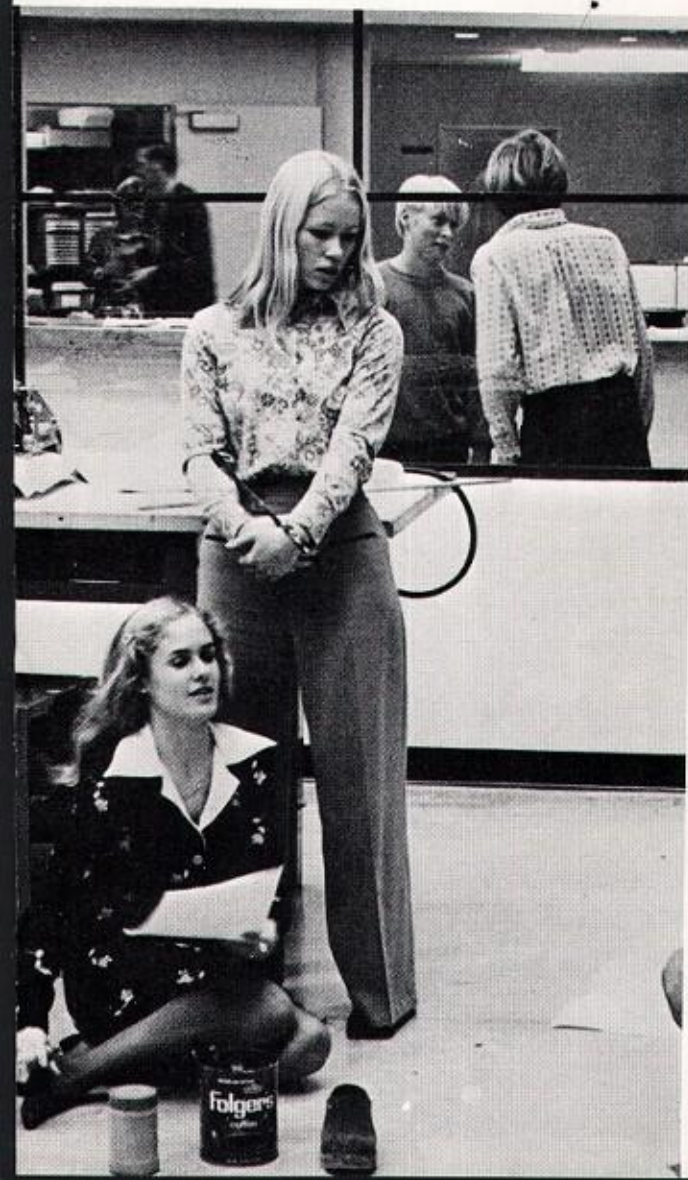

The 1973 Fall Rally squad consisted of Anne Buley, Angie Carroll, Barb Curtis, Kasey Davidson, Sandy Hagen and Sue Wellons. They were kept busy this year supporting the Wilco League championship football team.

The rally squad began working in August 1973 at Wilco Rally Clinic which lasted for three days at Marylhurst. Working under advisor Miss Jan Bailey, the rally squad organized a beach trip in order to get to know each other and work on communication. Throughout the season they were involved in making locker signs, posters, cookies and refreshments for the football players.

Included as part of their work was the selling of spirit ribbons and buttons, serving at luncheons and riding the rooter buses to the games. Pep assemblies played a major role in their work. Meeting with Jan Bailey everyday during 7th period, they practiced different yells and chants to help promote spirit among the student body at the pep assemblies and most of all, at the athletic events.

But all in all, as Sue Wellons said, "The season was great because we couldn't have had a better team and the six of us got along so well."

JV FOOTBALL

Pacer team shows improvement with each game

Coach Jerry Grossen and his assistant, Royce MacDaniel, led the Pacer JV squad to their finest season. The team finished with a 7 win 2 loss record.

Lakeridge got off to a fast start winning their first four games over Lake Oswego, Hood River, Clackamas, and Reynolds. Then the Pacers ran into some bad luck while losing their next two games against West Linn and Reynolds. The team then finished the season fast by winning their final three games. All wins were by wide margins and came over Tigard, Putnam, and Oregon City.

The offense was led by sophomore quarterback Kevin McMurry. The awesome running attack was provided by backs Josh Kaufman and Jeff Smith. McMurry's favorite passing targets were ends Dave Gellos and Ken Lawless. The offensive and defensive lines were anchored by Craig Wagner, Todd Spencer, Joel Offield and Mike Cranswick. Backup strength was provided by sophomores Lanny Instenes, Paul Gianotti, and junior Steve Studebaker.

The team showed poise in coming off two disappointing mid-season losses. They improved game by game, and by the end of the season had a powerhouse team contending for the league title.

The attitude and intensity of the young JV team typified the spirit and competitiveness of the entire Pacer football program

FROSH RALLY

Six girls promote spirit at numerous games

The 1973-74 Freshman Rally worked very hard to promote spirit at all freshman events. Tina Hansen, Debbie Hart, Tracy McKinnon, Jamie McMurdie, Jill McMurdie and Lori Panchot were the six girls chosen for freshman rally.

Promoting spirit at the games and events took up most of their time. Getting together and practicing yells and routines was done after school, and come rain or shine they were cheering at all the games.

Making it somewhat easier was the assistance from the varsity rallies. They helped them through rough spots and were there whenever a big crisis arose.

They followed their teams to all games and promoted Pacer spirit.

JV RALLY

Dedicated gals help their teams to victory

The 1973-74 Junior Varsity Rally consisted of Barbara Haneline, Carol Kuse, Pat Pierce, Debby Keller, Pert Marshall and Debbie Watson. Working under advisor Miss Patti Hammond, these six girls put in many hours to promote spirit at all the games.

They attended all football games, cross country meets, basketball games, wrestling and track meets. Before they could attend these athletic events, however, many hours were devoted to practice.

Much time was also spent helping to promote spirit throughout the school. This was done by painting signs and making cookies and refreshments for the players. They also helped sell spirit ribbons.

FROSH FOOTBALL

Bright future looms for team members

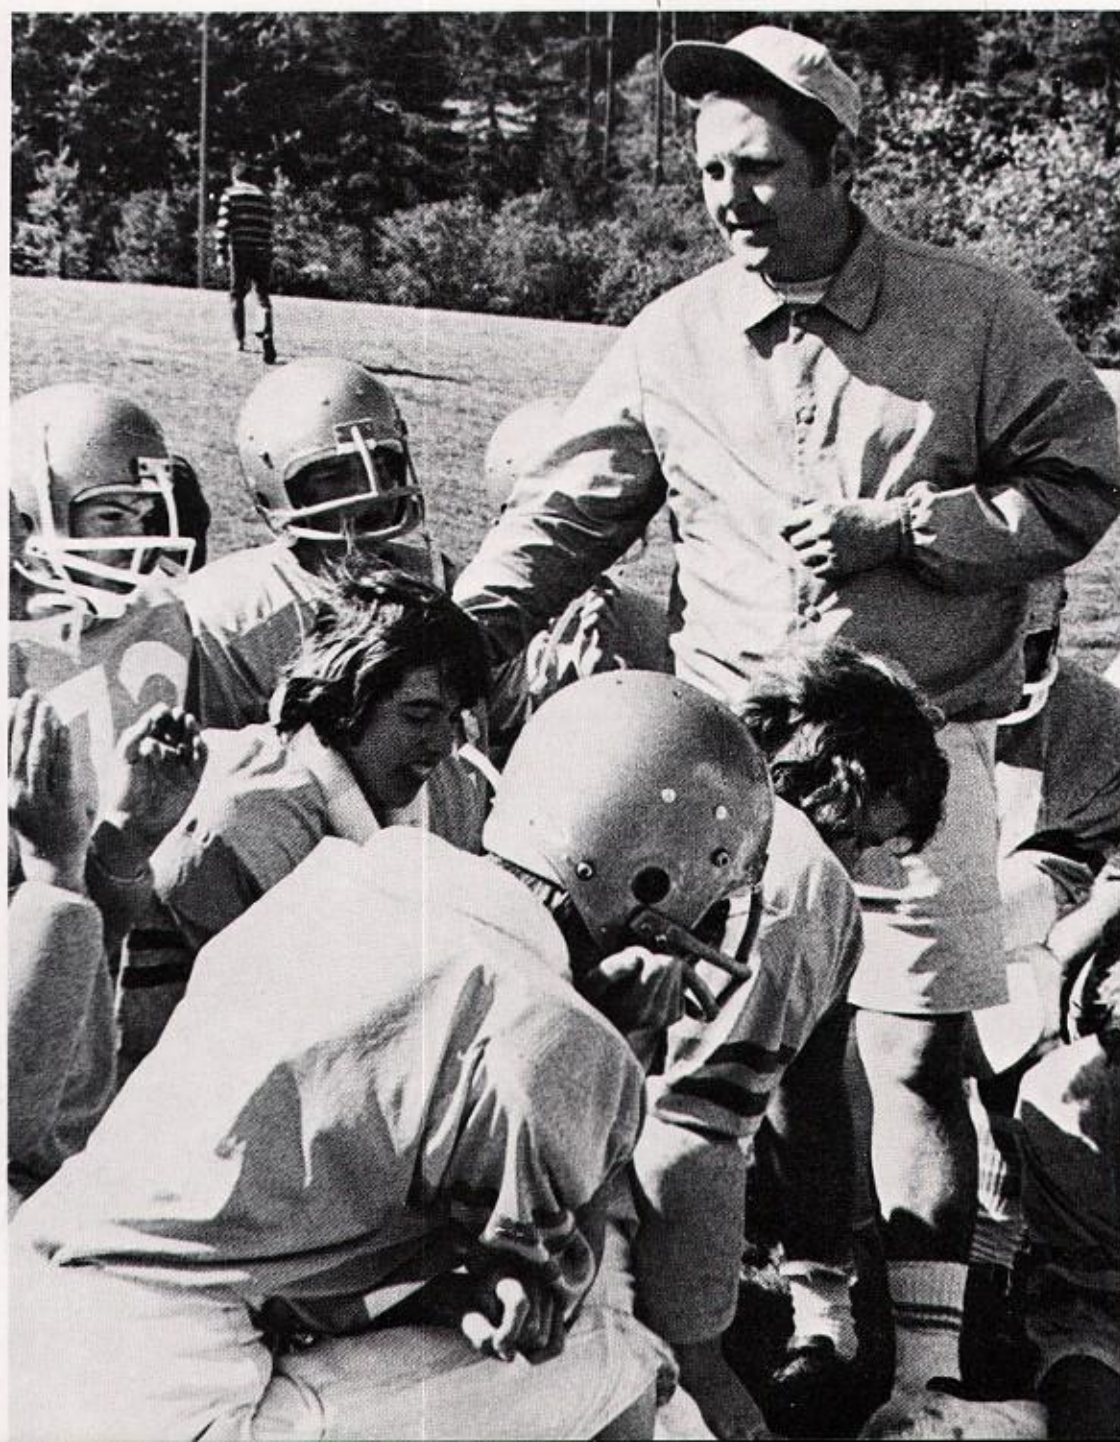

Throughout the football season, the freshman A and B teams showed great potential for the future of Lakeridge High School football. Great talent and versatility were shown by both teams.

The freshman A team, under coaches John Sanders and Jim Cooke, recorded a 6-1-1 record overall.

The freshman B team finished the season with a 6-2 record. Under the guidance of the two freshman football coaches, Mr. John Sanders and Mr. Jim Cooke, the B team showed considerable improvement throughout the season.

Pride was a big idea expressed as both teams did very well in their last of the season games with West Linn and Gresham. The A team defeated West Linn by a good score of 28 points to 12 points. The B team had a score of 0 points to Gresham's 16 points.

HOMEcoming

Connie Harris reigns as Homecoming queen

It was a real '73 skidoo! Senior Jan Rimmerman originated the theme "Silence of the Everlasting Stars" as well as authoring the skit on Prohibition presented at Monday's assembly.

Master of Ceremonies Jeff Cooney announced the Homecoming Court to an anxious assembly audience. Choices were seniors Laura Girod and Connie Harris, juniors Mary Pat Gianotti and Shawn Mackinsky, sophomores Janet Poort and Katy Smyth, and freshmen Lisa Massinger and Brook Home.

On Wednesday, October 10, many students brightened the school campus by attiring themselves in the styles of the twenties for dress-up day.

The week was brought to a great end when senior Connie Harris was crowned Homecoming queen. Mr. Ben Vose and his drama students also presented a skit featuring the stars of the 1920's at the Friday assembly.

During a pre-game rally that day Queen Connie rode on the junior-sophomore float and Mr. Herold Berentson's beautiful antique car held the Homecoming court. A trophy was awarded to Paula Avery for the best decorated car.

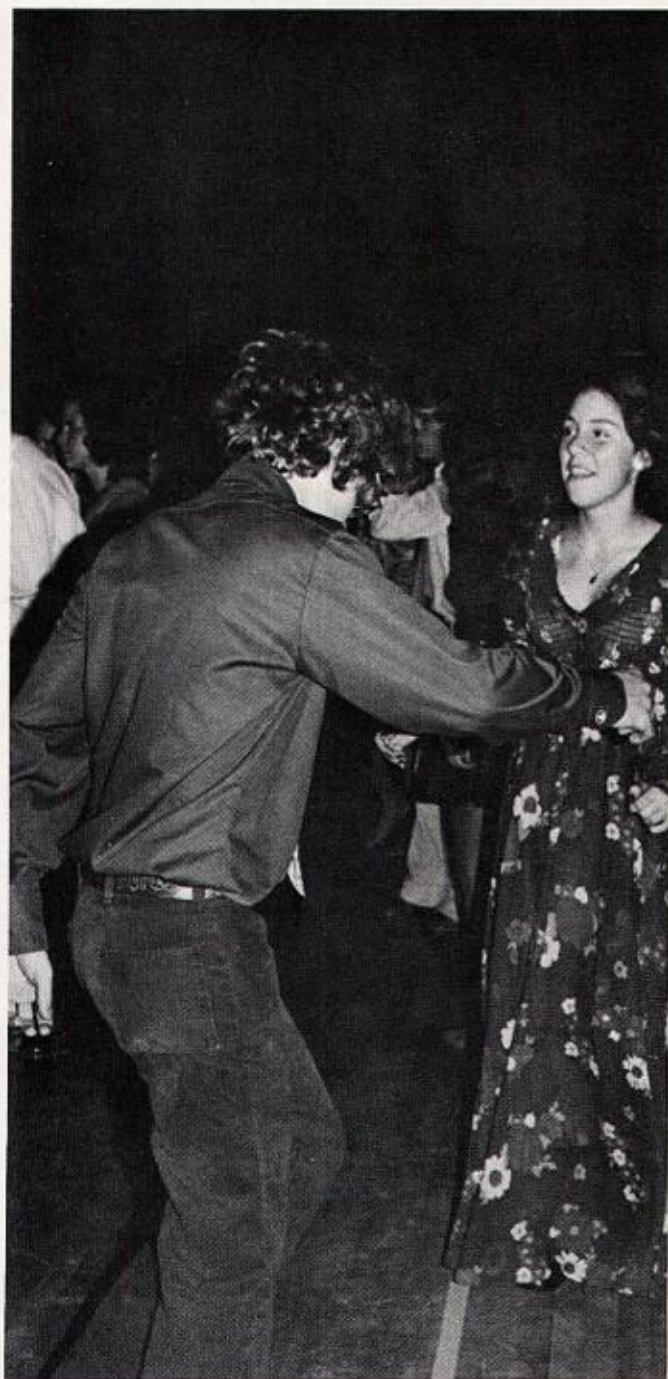

Lakeridge tramped West Linn by a score of 33-7 to climax a fun-filled week. After the game Crystal Wind played for students and alumni at a successful dance.

CROSS COUNTRY

Harriers earn near perfect dual-triangular record

The Lakeridge cross country team posted its finest season ever. A fourth place finish at the state meet in Corvallis topped off an outstanding year. A near perfect dual and triangular meet season was marred only by a slim loss to Putnam. The fact that made the year so remarkable was the strength and heavy burden placed on many underclassmen. Their response was indicative of Coach Hurdstrom's preparation and coaching style.

Coach Hurdstrom's main charges were juniors Tom Gleason and Ken Robinette. Robinette was top finisher at state with a 17th place finish. Gleason provided consistency throughout the year by continually finishing near the head of the pack. Tom was the only Pacer runner to be named all-Wilco League first team.

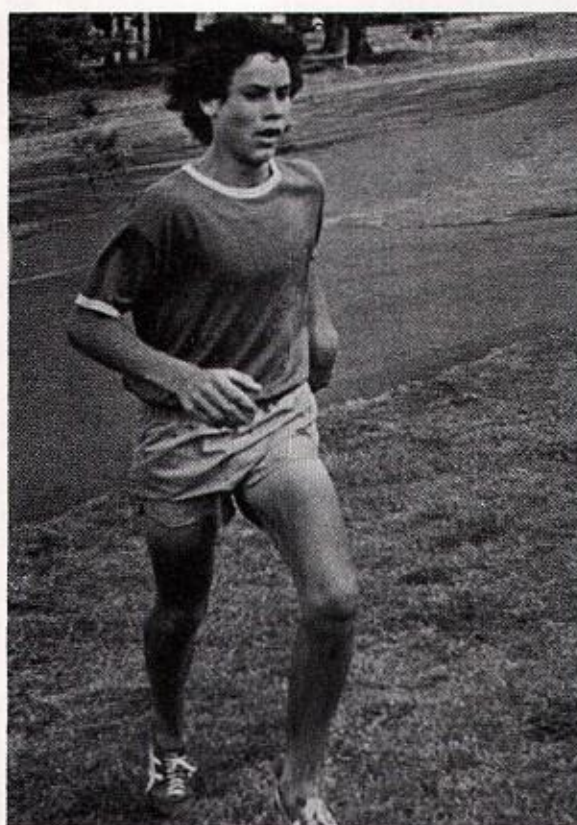

Sophomore Mike Berryman and freshman David Steffens were top finishers during much of the season

despite their youth. Coach Hurdstrom hails both as, "The top two runners at their age levels in the state of Oregon."

Junior Mike McGriff was this year's captain. He and seniors Doug Voderburg and Jay Knab gave the Pacers leadership and consistency in the regional and district meets, and later at the state contest.

Runners like Ken Robinette and Mike McGriff, who did much running and weightlifting on their own, reflected Hurdstrom's praise. Only three runners were lost to graduation while the rest of the team remains intact.

BOYS GYMNASTICS

Team places seventh in state tournament

The boys gymnastics team continued to improve, and in its third year developed into a contender for district and state honors. Though a change of season from winter to fall allowed more practice space, it afforded much less time to prepare for the first meet. This lack of time for preparation showed in the first weeks of the season. As the season progressed, gymnastics of high quality and several exciting contests helped to draw large crowds to home meets.

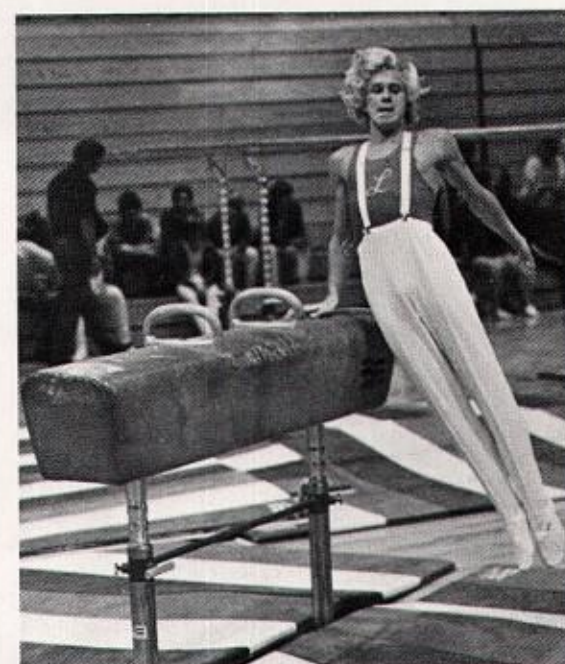

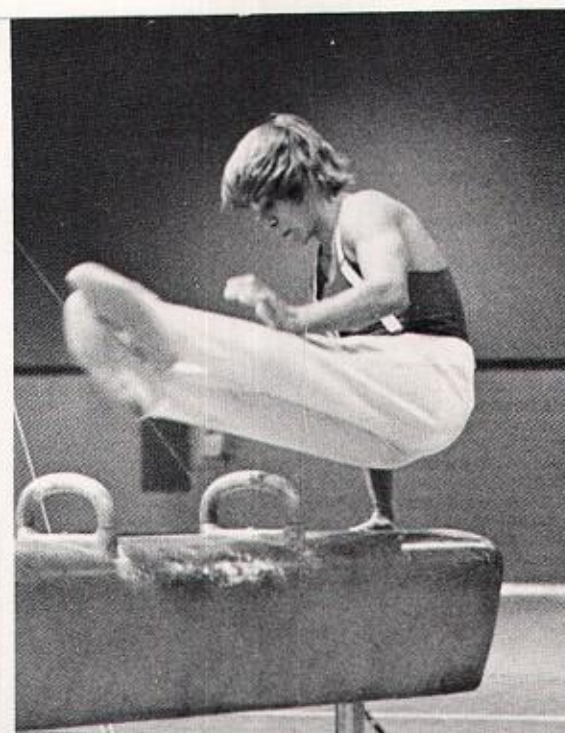

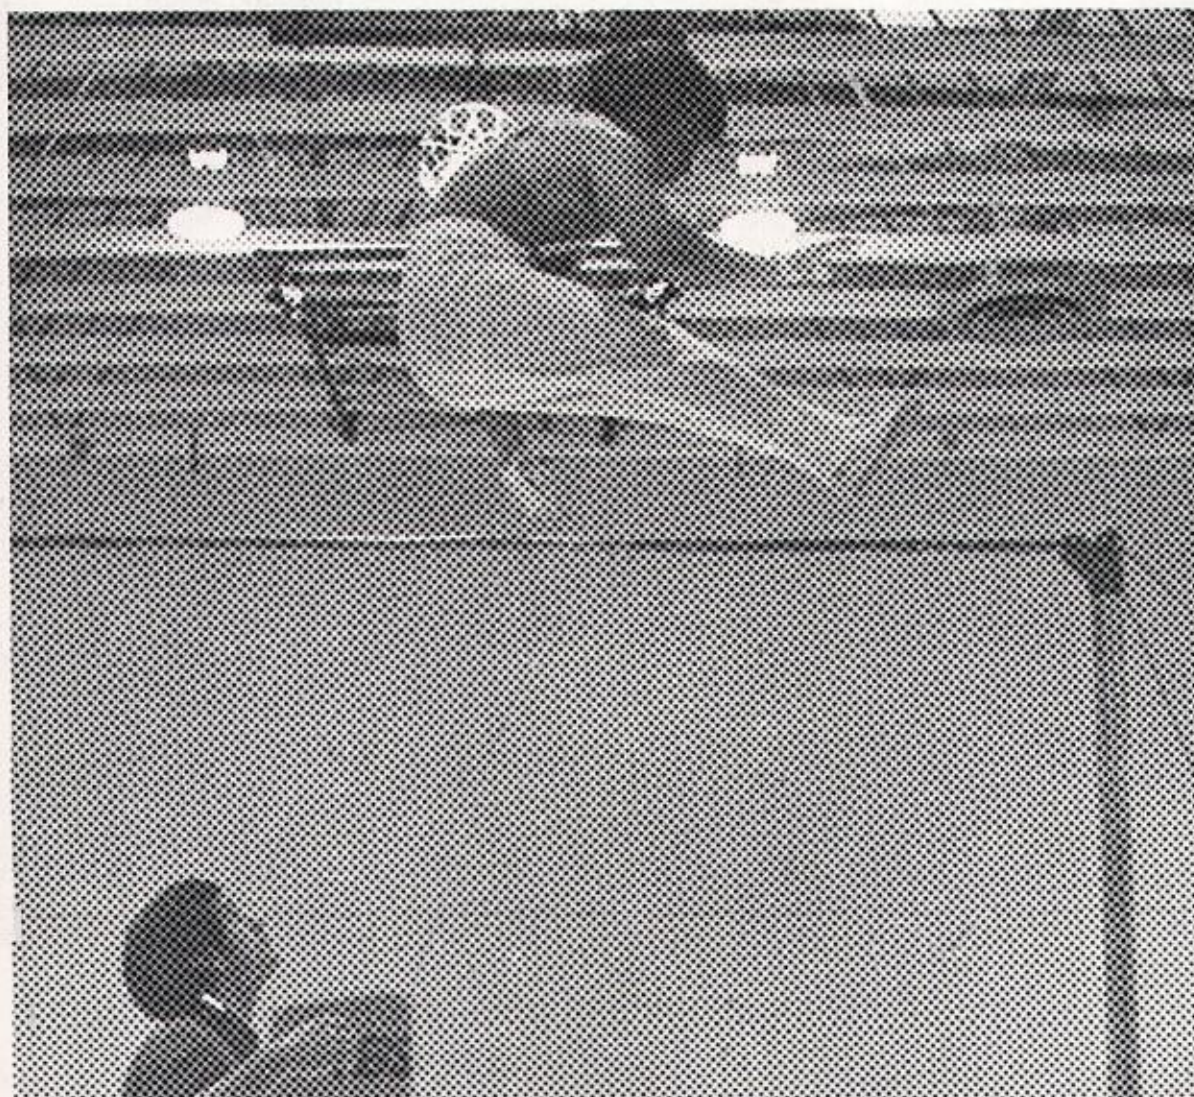

At the district meet, six gymnasts qualified for the state meet, as the team really put it all together, making very few mistakes and scored 110.27 points, highest ever.

The team was led by senior ringman and district champion Jim Coffel; by another senior ringman, Gene Singer, also team captain and the team's premier horizontal-bar competitor; and by district sidehorse champion Rick Lewis who was pressed into service as team all-around in the middle of the season.

Lewis, along with Jeff Lind who finished a close second in the district meet, and Dave Labs fourth at district, composed one of the finest trios of sidehorse men in the state. Only at district did all three "hit" their routines in the same meet. Pat Crowell, the other team captain, competed all-around (all events) the full season, and was the number one man in longhorse vaulting. Of these gymnasts, only Coffel did well enough to qualify for the finals.

Coach John Turchi was pleased with the season as a whole, and said, "Our district meet, with its twenty point improvement over last year's district, was definitely the high point of the season. We finished at about seventh place in the state and next year's team will be up there, too, if not higher."

GIRLS GYMNASTICS

Team sends five girls to state meet

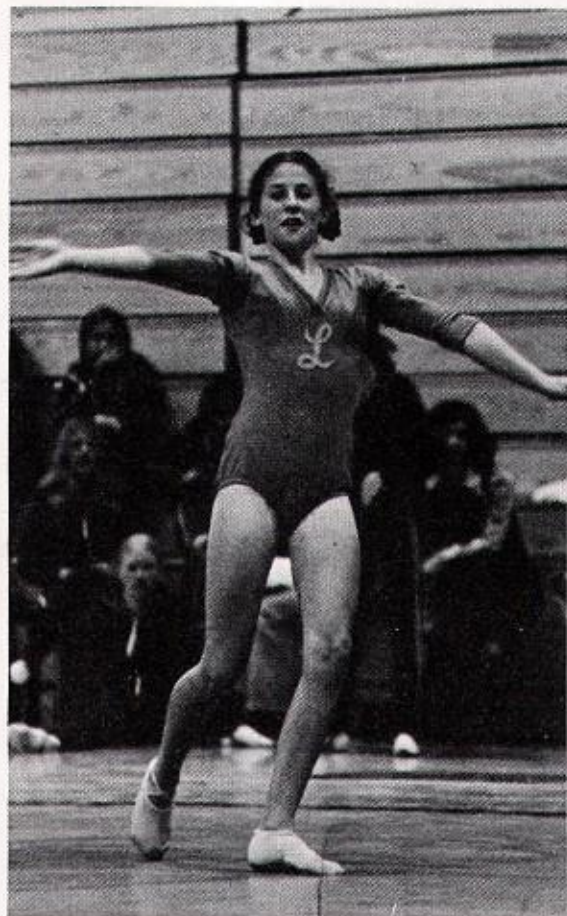

Considering the change in season from winter to fall, the girls had a fine season. They won three meets and lost four. The season change meant tough practice during the late summer.

Coached by Mrs. Pam Olds, the girls competed in four events. These events were the balance beam, side-horse, uneven parallel bars and floor exercise. All the girls competed equally well in all four events.

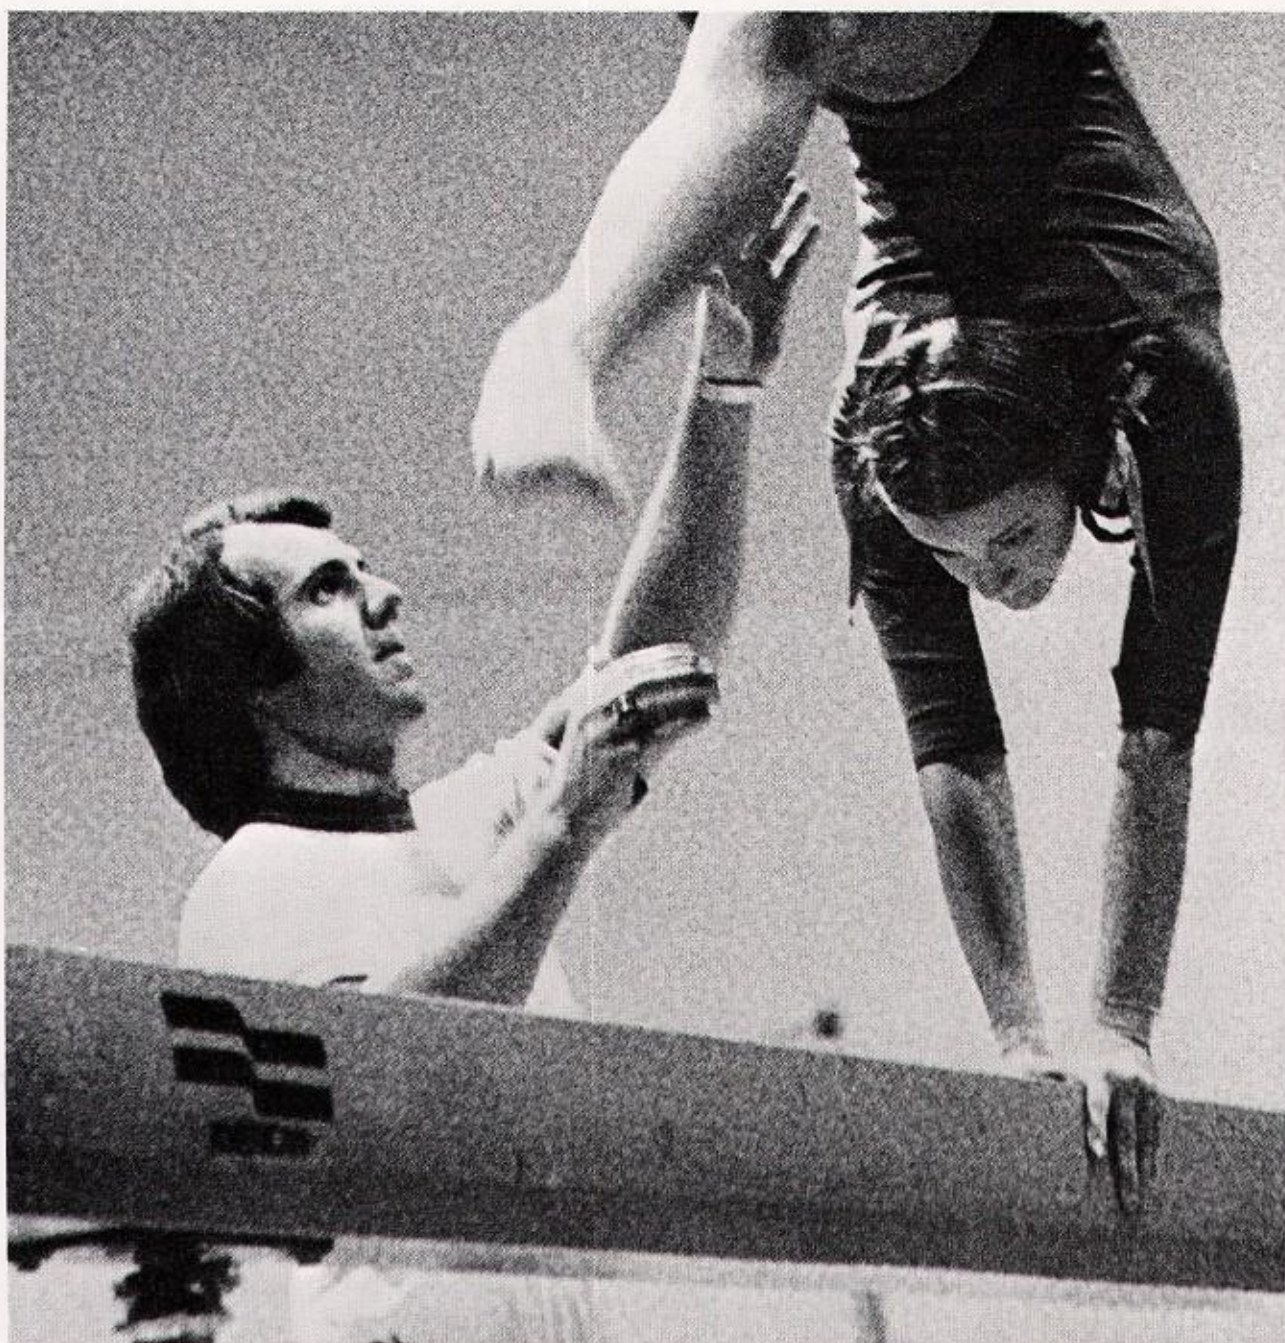

It took a lot of practice to perfect their routines, to achieve team goals and sometimes individual goals. Although it was a tough season, they showed great ability in working as a team. The team also shows great promise for the coming year.

At the district meet at Clackamas, some of the girls competed, hoping for a place in state. Ann Gianotti placed seventh in the parallel bars and seventh in the all round score. Dee Dee Miller placed fourth in vaulting, which is good enough for a place in state. Dee Dee finished the season by placing fifteenth out of 58 competing.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Community-faculty-students work together

The Assembly is Lakeridge's form of student government. The Assembly is made up of twenty-five students, ten faculty members, four people from the community and advisor Mr. Gordon James. The group of students were divided into six commissions with specific duties and a chairman. Senior Martha Inskip was the overall chairman.

Early in the fall, the school board became very concerned with the smoking problem and approached the Assembly for help.

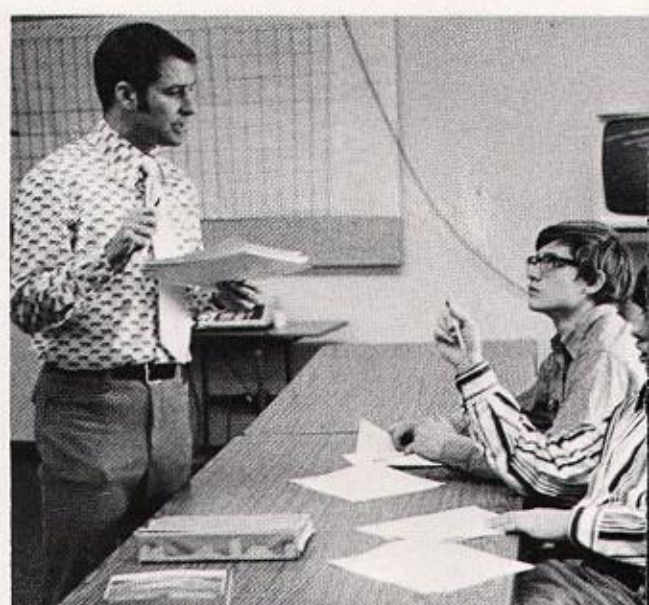

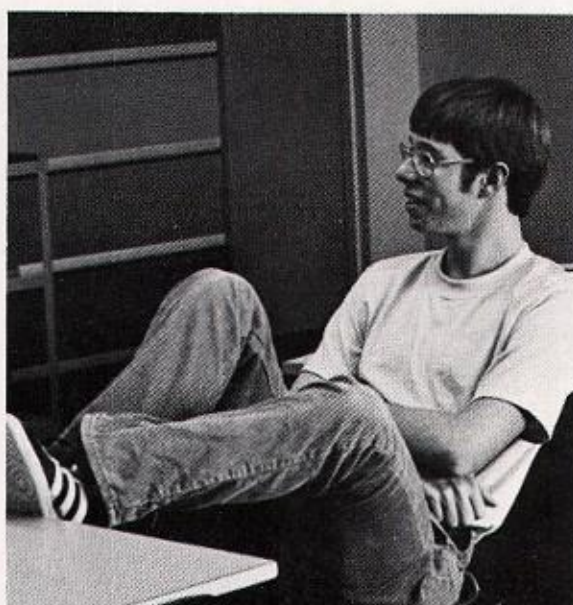

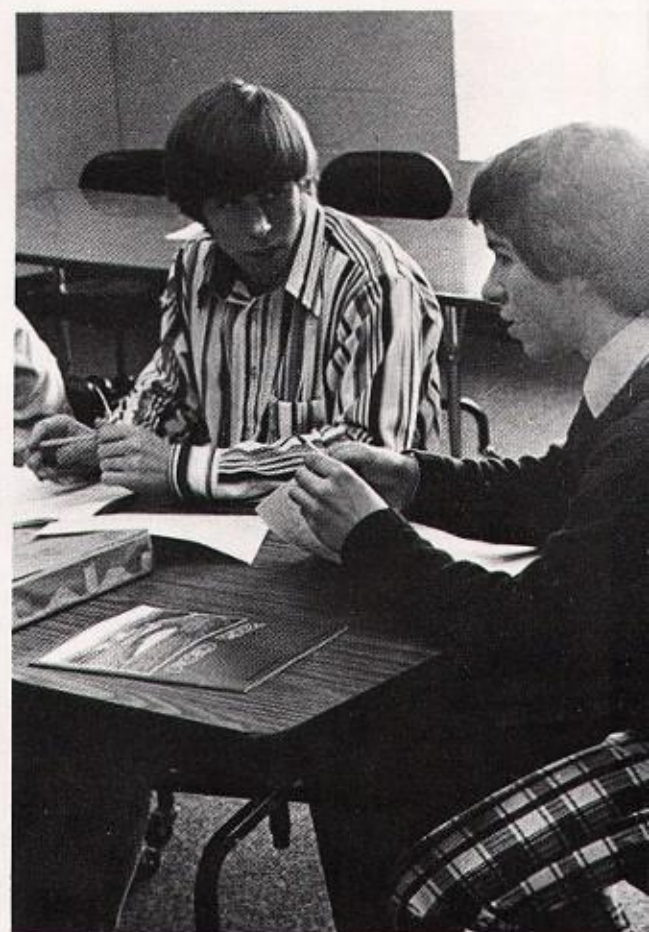

After Assembly members had a discussion, and took a student-faculty-community survey, a proposal was written up and put before the school board in favor of a designated smoking area. The bill was accepted and passed.

Concerned with the litter in the commons, a bill was passed cutting sale of candy from the student store.

When the parking situation got out of hand, the Assembly pushed for tow away of illegally parked cars at the owner's expense.

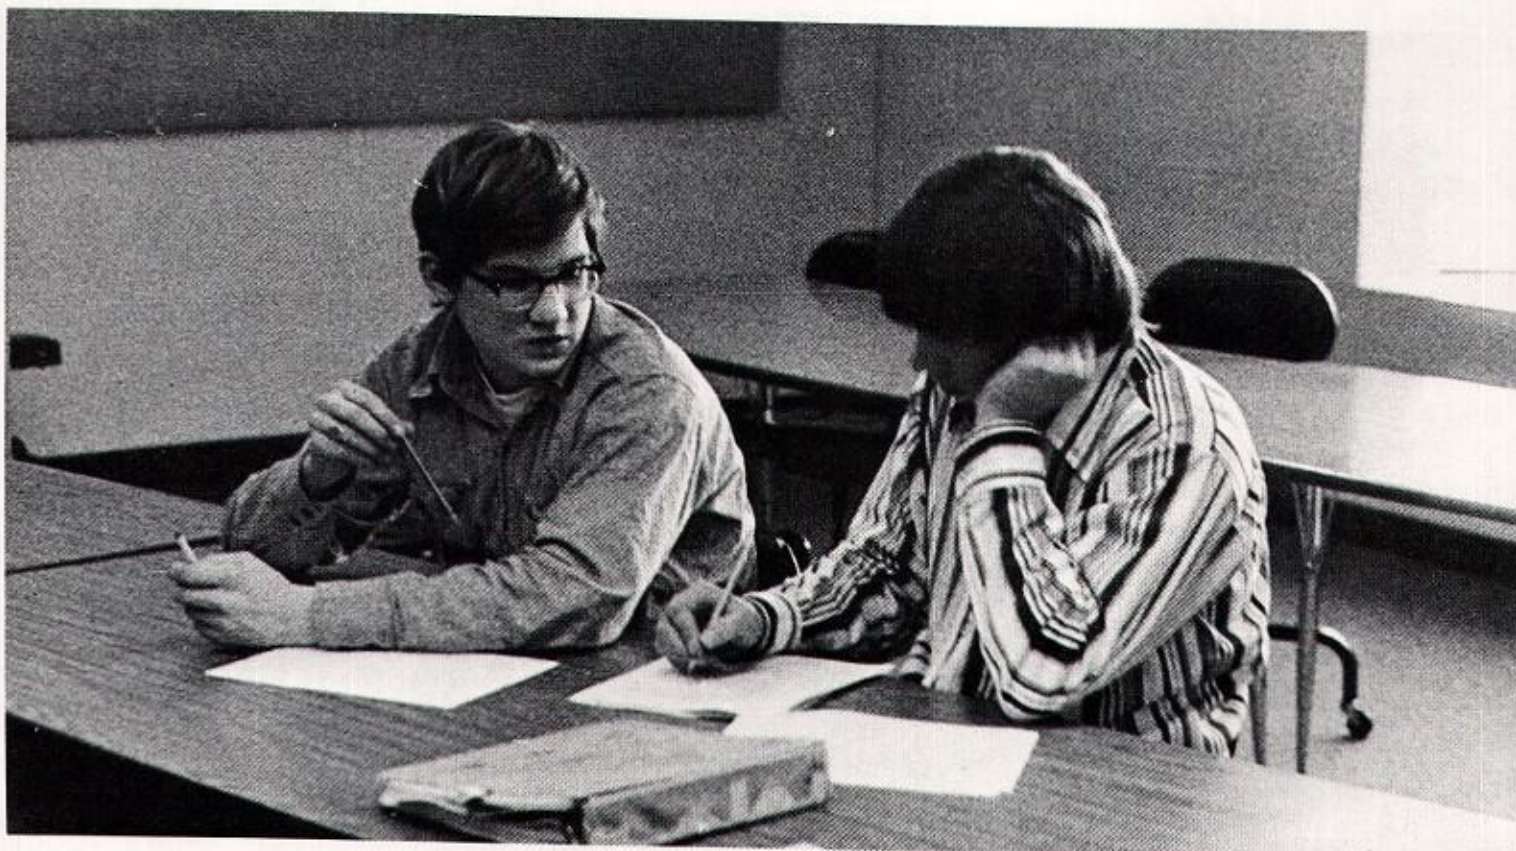

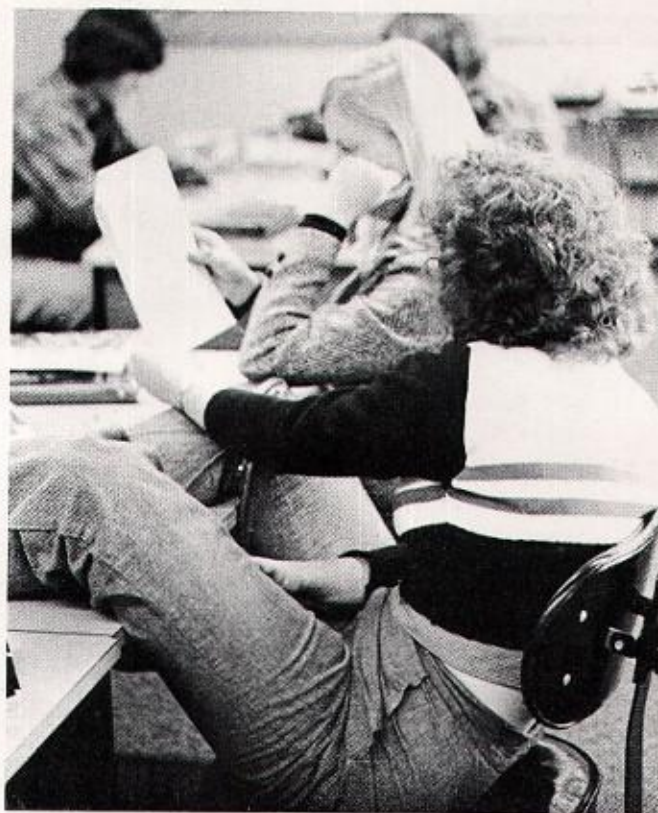

The 1973-74 school year proved to be a very progressive year for the Lakeridge Assembly.

FALL PLAY

"See How They Run" — hilarious comedy

"See How They Run" was chosen by the students in drama for the Lakeridge fall production.

The opening night, November 30, was performed after many weeks of preparation. Seen for the first time was a "Box Set," made with flats built this summer by Bill McNeil, student production assistant.

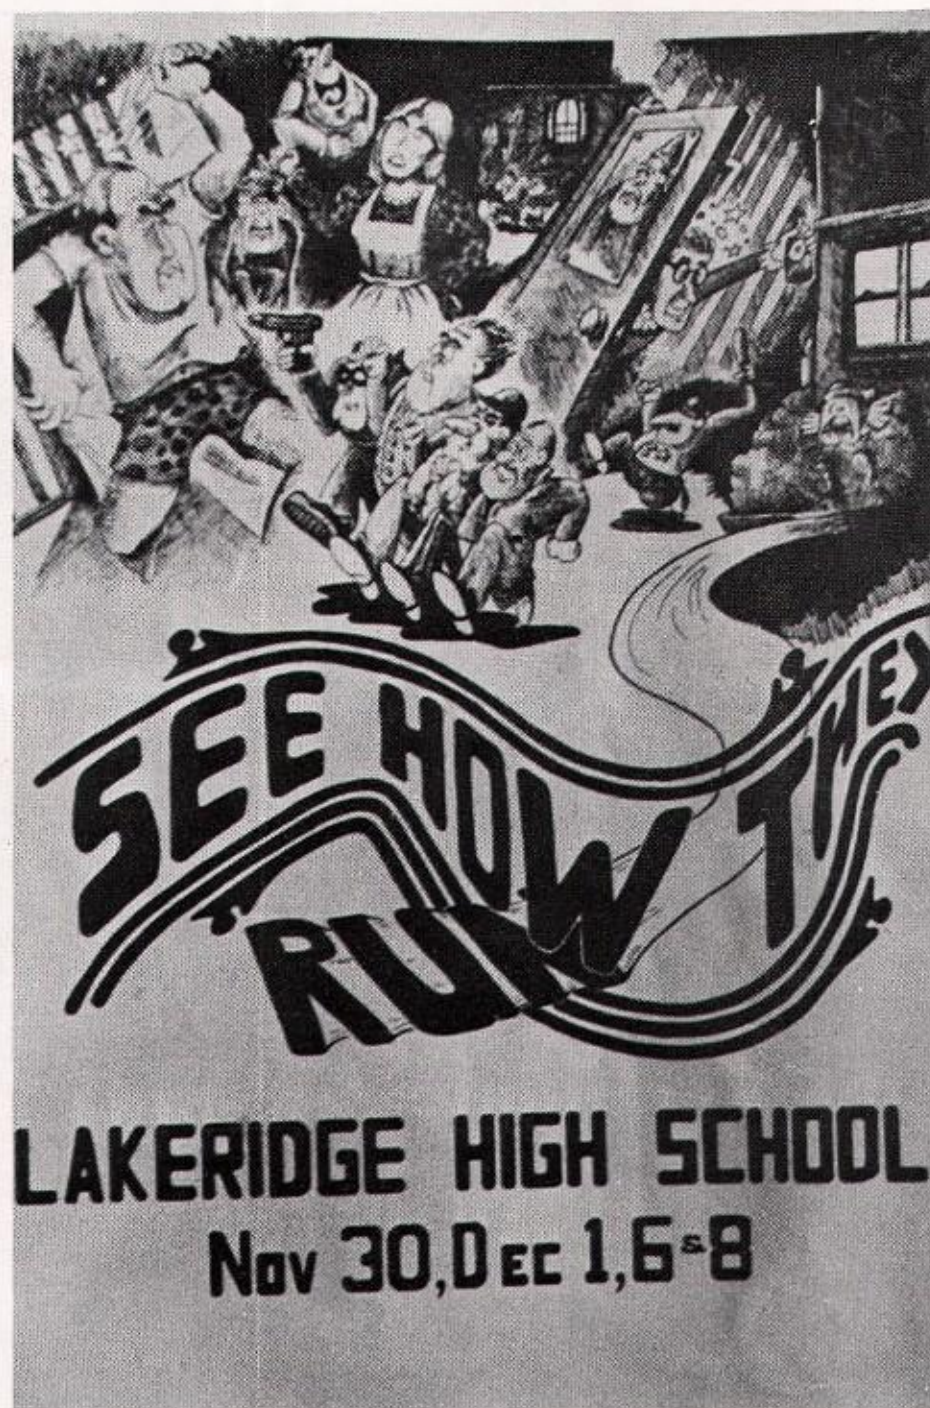

This hilarious comedy was about a Vicor and his unexpected guests. The mess begins when the Vicor goes out for the evening. The Vi-cor's wife, Penelope, gets an unexpected visit from an old corporal friend. Miss Skillon, the town "busy body" drops by and thinks Penelope is fooling around. Penelope's uncle, another Vicor, comes to spend the night, topped off with a Russian spy loose in their house. All of these situations put together made a very amusing play.

Under the direction of Mr. Ben Vose, "See How They Run" was a big success.

FALL CONCERT

Music provides for varied tastes of concert goers

The Fall Concert started out with a bang. Beginning the concert was the ninth and tenth grade choir. They sang four songs, with a flute accompaniment by Elin Cousins in "Movin' On."

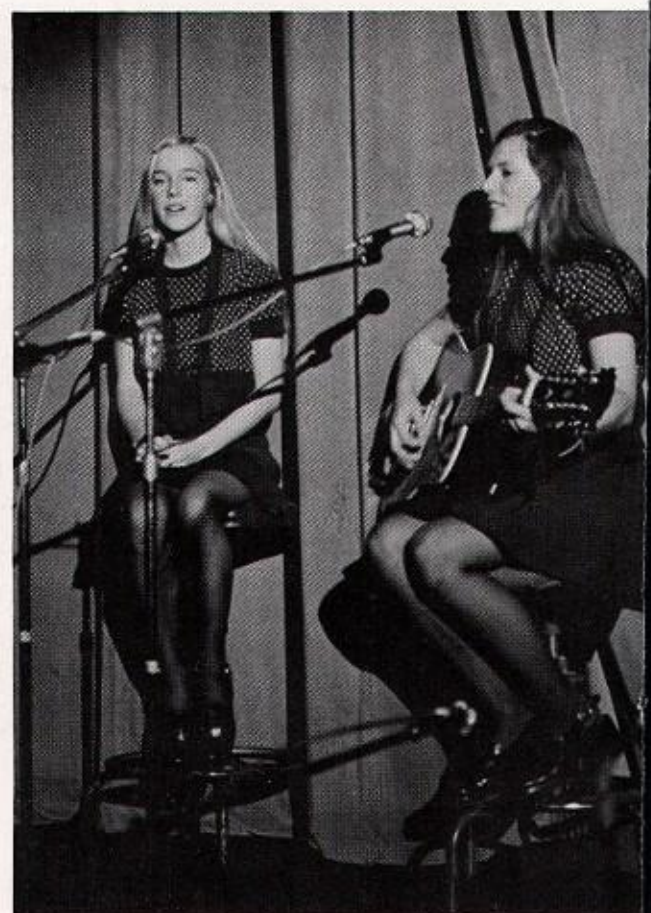

New to Lakeridge this year was the Girls Ensemble. The group made their first appearance by singing "If You Could Read My Mind."

The Reflections, Shawn Pihas, and Jill and Shelli Miller, sang and played the guitar for two songs.

Next to perform was the Stageband. Mr. Dale Cleland directed the twenty band members through four songs.

Singing "I Found Him" and "Maybe" was the duet of Terry Hausken and Debbie Watson, a new pair of performers this year. The singing and dance group, The Company, was a big, big hit again. Gene Evans played his own guitar and sang a baritone solo, "Operator" written by Jim Croce. The Concert Choir finished the evening with special lighting effects on their last song "Alleluia." Master of Ceremonies was Mr. Merlin Gackle.

BOYS SOCCER CLUB

Pacers earn second place in Lake League

Pulling off upsets seemed to be the Pacer's main objective this year as they downed Lake Oswego, winner of the Catlin Gable tournament twice and defeated Bishop Dagwell once.

After the first game, in which the Pacers beat Oswego 2-1 in the final seconds, they were not considered an easy win. After an easy 6-1 victory over LaSalle they were pitted against Bishop Dagwell. Dagwell defeated the Pacers 2-0. In the second half of the season the Pacers were upset by LaSalle 2-1, and then came the rematch against Bishop Dagwell in which the Pacers shut them out 2-0. In the final game the Pacers and the Lakers met. The winner would clinch second place in the Lake League and a spot into the playoffs. The Pacers won 5-3 and were to play Catlin Gable in the first round of the playoffs. They were beaten by Catlin 3-0 and the season suddenly came to an end.

Ending on a fine note, Brad Meader and Terry Hancock were named to the all-state team.

GIRLS SOCCER CLUB

New sports club interests many competitors

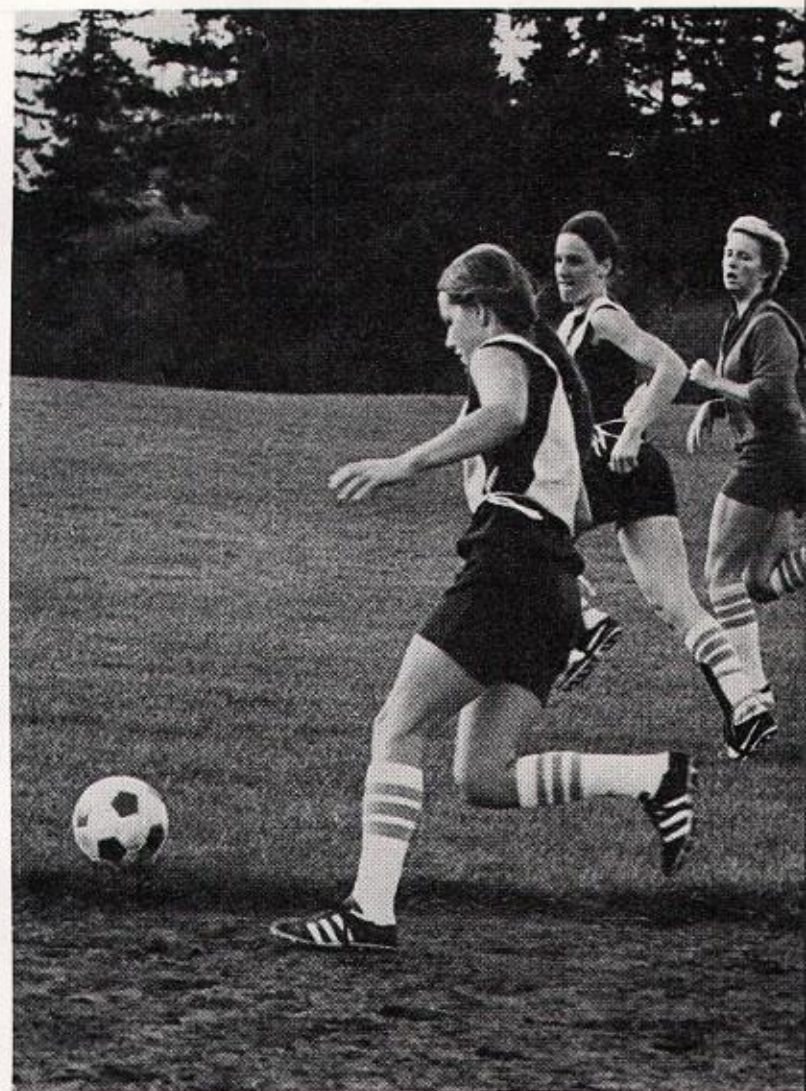

Newly chartered in the fall, the girls soccer team was under the direction of Mrs. Linda Ledridge.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Pigott and Dougie coached the girls. So many girls turned out they were forced to make two teams. The first few weeks were spent running drills and developing skills. In their first four games the "A" team could only score five times while losing four in a row. Even though it was a sour season it ended on a sweet note as they beat Beaverton 5 to 0.

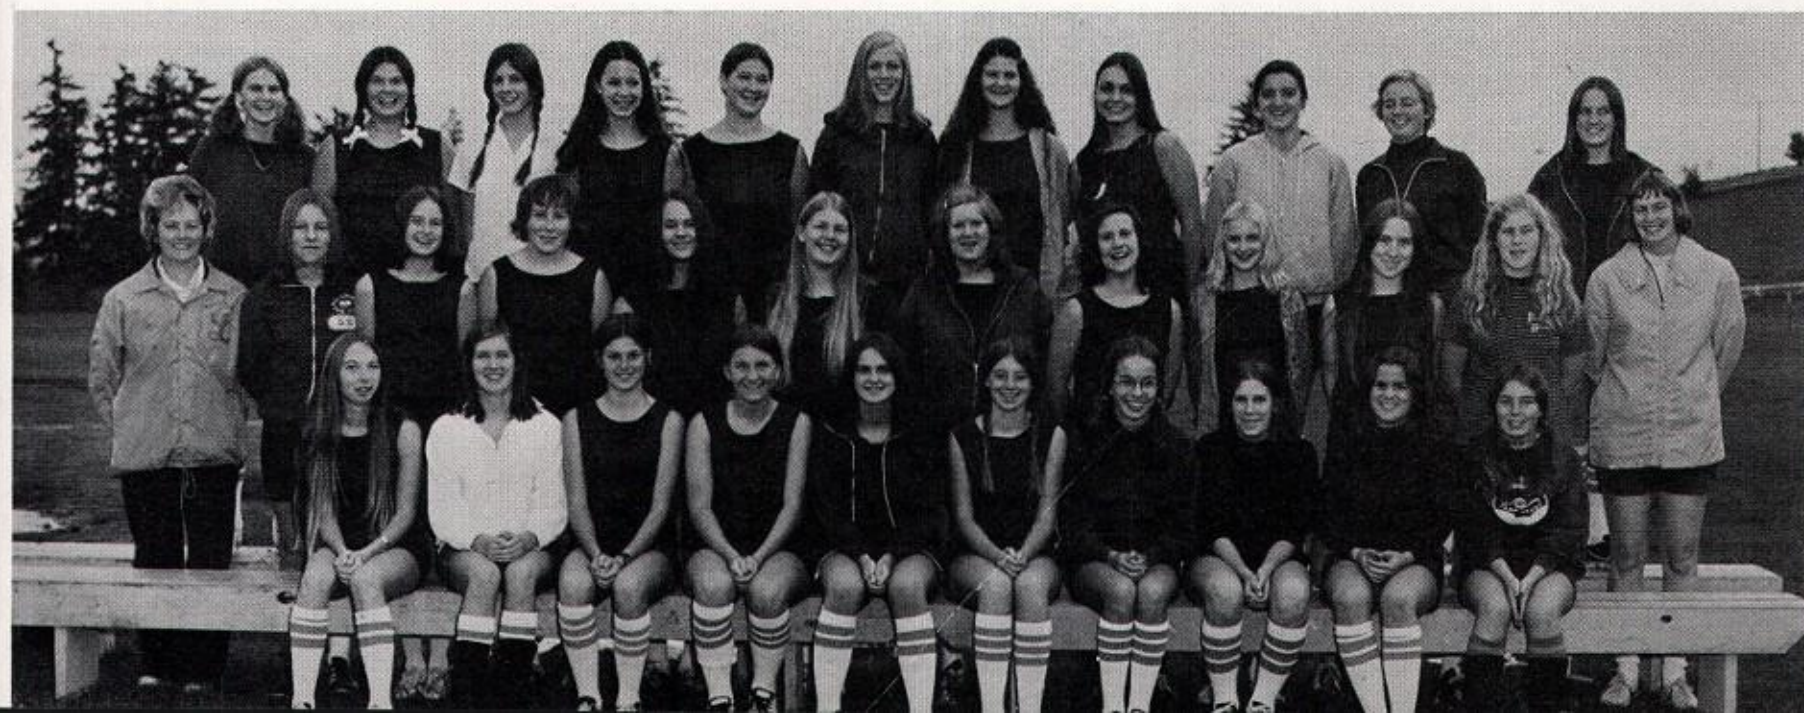

The "B" team had a semi-successful year as they only lost two while trying twice and winning once. They struggled through their first four games against St. Helens and Catlin Gable tying each team and losing to each team. In the final game against Beaverton they rampaged through the Beaver's defense to post a 5-0 win.

WINTER

In almost every department of the school, the beginning of winter meant the start of another new project. These activities were designed to increase student participation and enthusiasm, and were planned by a social committee made up of elected representatives from each English class.

Christmas week offered the first challenge, and the response from all classes was great. The festivities began with an initial assembly to announce the names of the sixteen princesses. Lynn Kuse was named as queen to reign over the Christmas dance which ended the week.

Another good sports season kept school spirit high from early December through March. Coach Charlie Nipp led his basketball squad to a second place finish in the Willamette Division.

"Fiddler on the Roof," the winter play, was a huge success. The musical turned out to be the most expensive and elaborate Lakeridge had ever done.

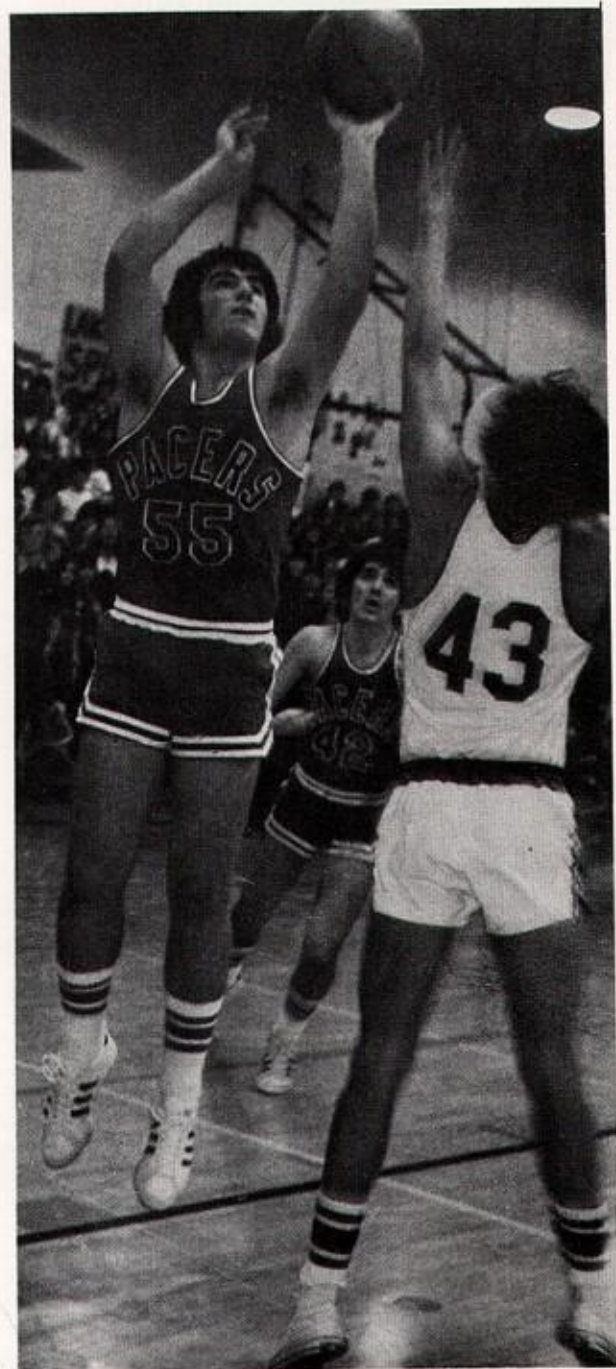

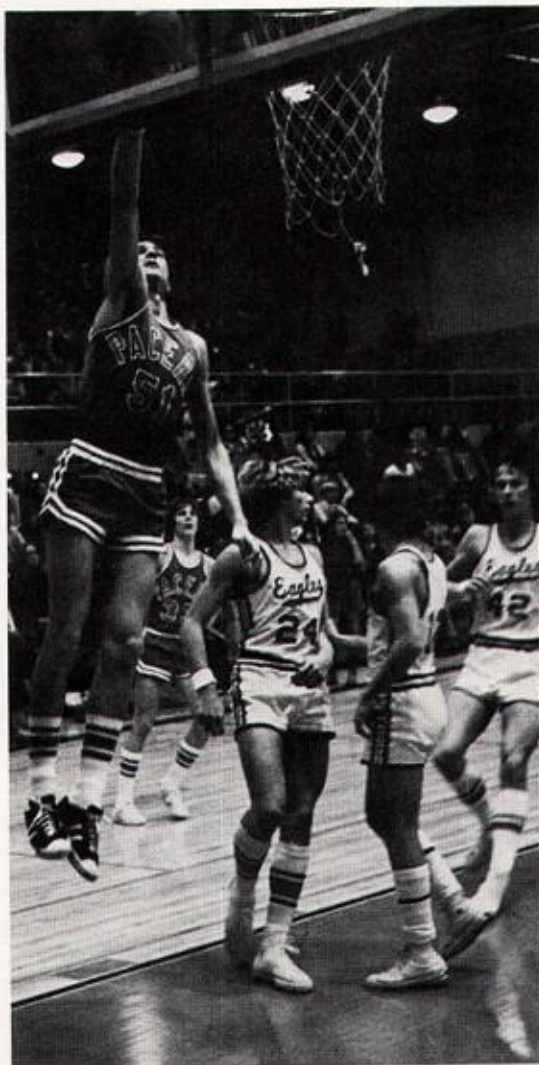

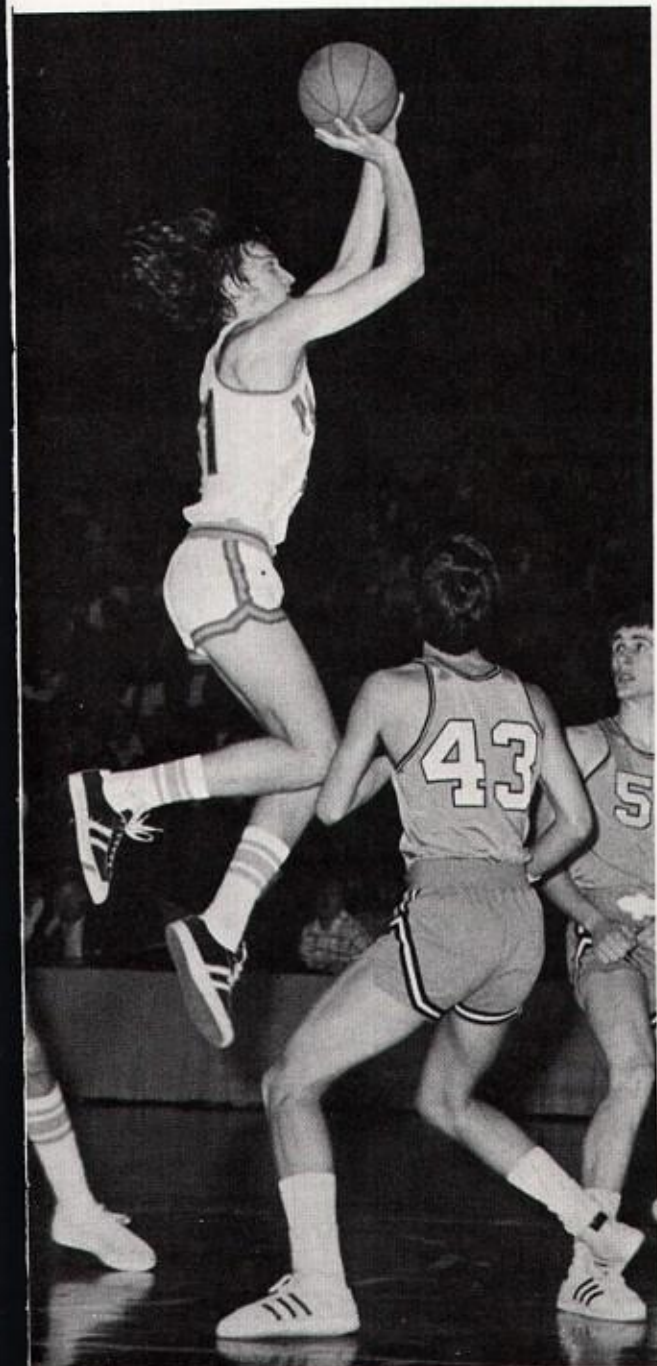

The 1973-74 season was one which saw the Lakeridge varsity team come of age. Behind the experience of an all senior roster, the Pacers breezed through the regular season with a 17-5 record, and their first league mark over 500.

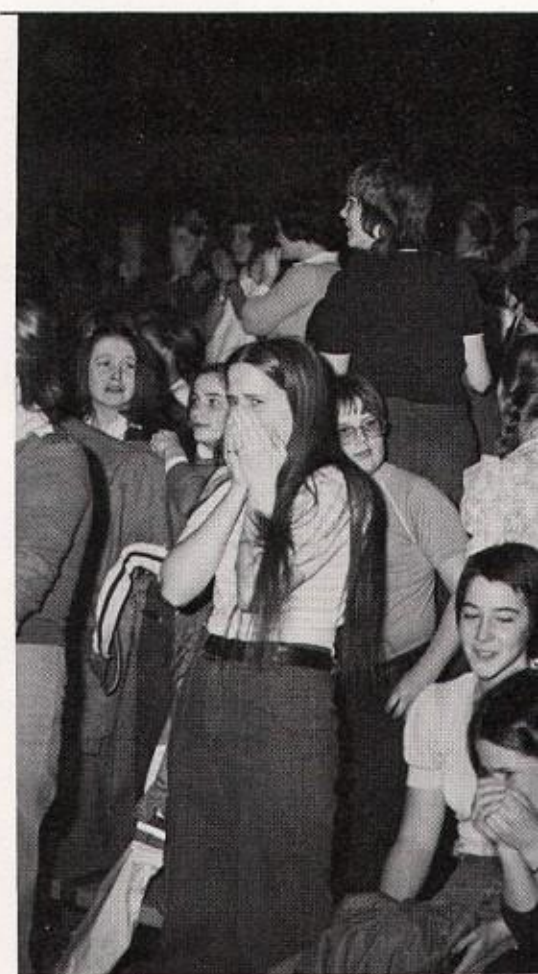

It was last year's JV team and one all-league transfer that played the starring roles in a season full of surprises. First, center Bob Wagner and guard Steve Newell teamed with fine performances to defeat highly rated Sunset, who later ended Pacer trophy hopes at the state tourney. Then at seasons end, Lakeridge pulled upsets over Reynolds and West Linn to go to state, transfer Jack Morris leading these wins.

At the tournament in March, coach Charlie Nipp's squad got the luck of the draw and was placed in a fairly easy bracket. Pendleton and Corvallis were no match for the Pacers. Unfortunately, North Eugene was next on the list but were too much for the Pacers to handle as they ended championship hopes. Sunset then did Lakeridge in, refusing them any trophy chances.

The year's success also was due to the experience of returning varsity performers Greg Lewis, Dave Parrish, Brian Downey and Greg Marshall. Mr. Nipp ended the season with high praise for all, collectively, his best team ever. Nipp was also named Coach of the Year.

JV BASKETBALL

Inexperienced team finishes with a 7-15 record

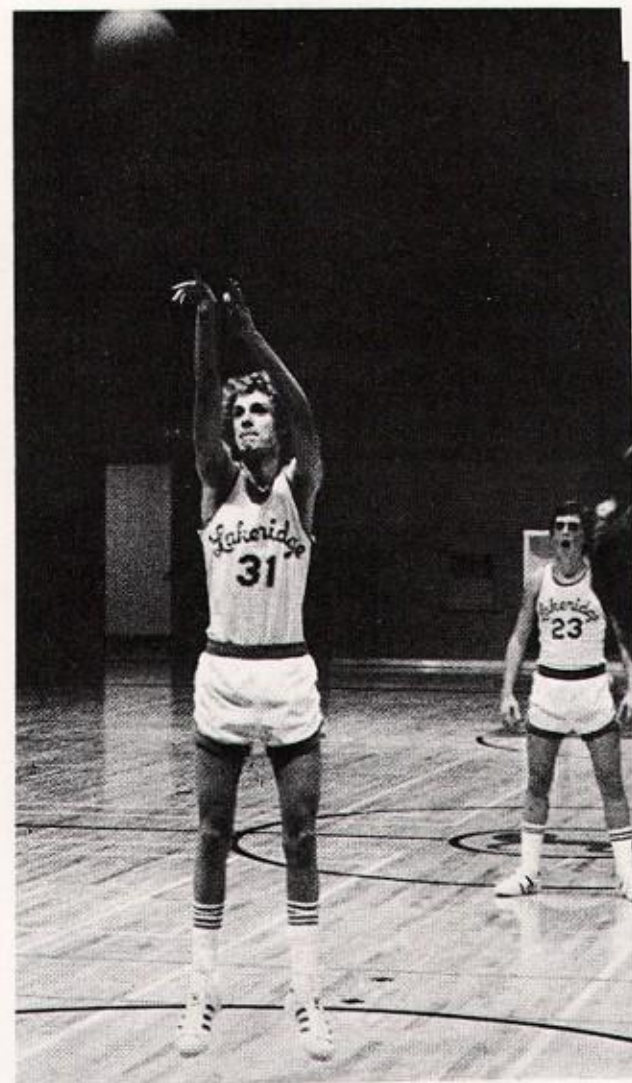

Playing with only four juniors on the squad this year, the Pacer JV team had to rely on a little patience and a lot of help from the varsity to come up with their seven wins. Lakeridge started slow, losing eight of their first nine, but when Steve Black and Doug Pugh were brought down from the parent club, the season mark was brought to seven wins against fifteen losses.

Coach Jim Sather picked his starting five throughout the season from among juniors Dave Gellos and Wayne Taylor, sophomores Kirk Becker, Kevin McMurray, Jim Beaudin, Rob Lee and freshman Ken Rolfe. When in trouble, Coach Sa-ther had an experienced bench waiting with Dave McKenzie, Kevin Richeson and Brad Castonguay seeing a great deal of action.

Most notable among the Pacer outings was a surprising halftime standoff of rival Lake Oswego, their initial win at North Salem, a near upset of West Linn, and a 65-35 rout of The Dalles.

Although the team could not match the won-loss records of previous years, Coach Sather claimed the effort did. "The team performed well as a whole, despite the circumstances," he said, referring again to a lack of experience and numerous injuries in personnel all season long.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

New coaches plus hustle and dedication = wins

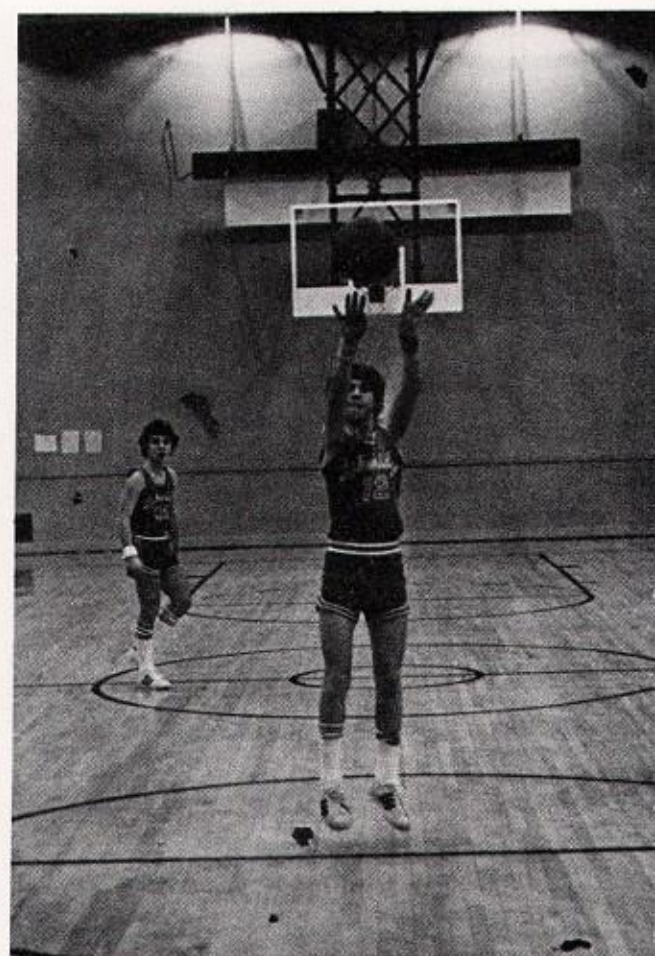

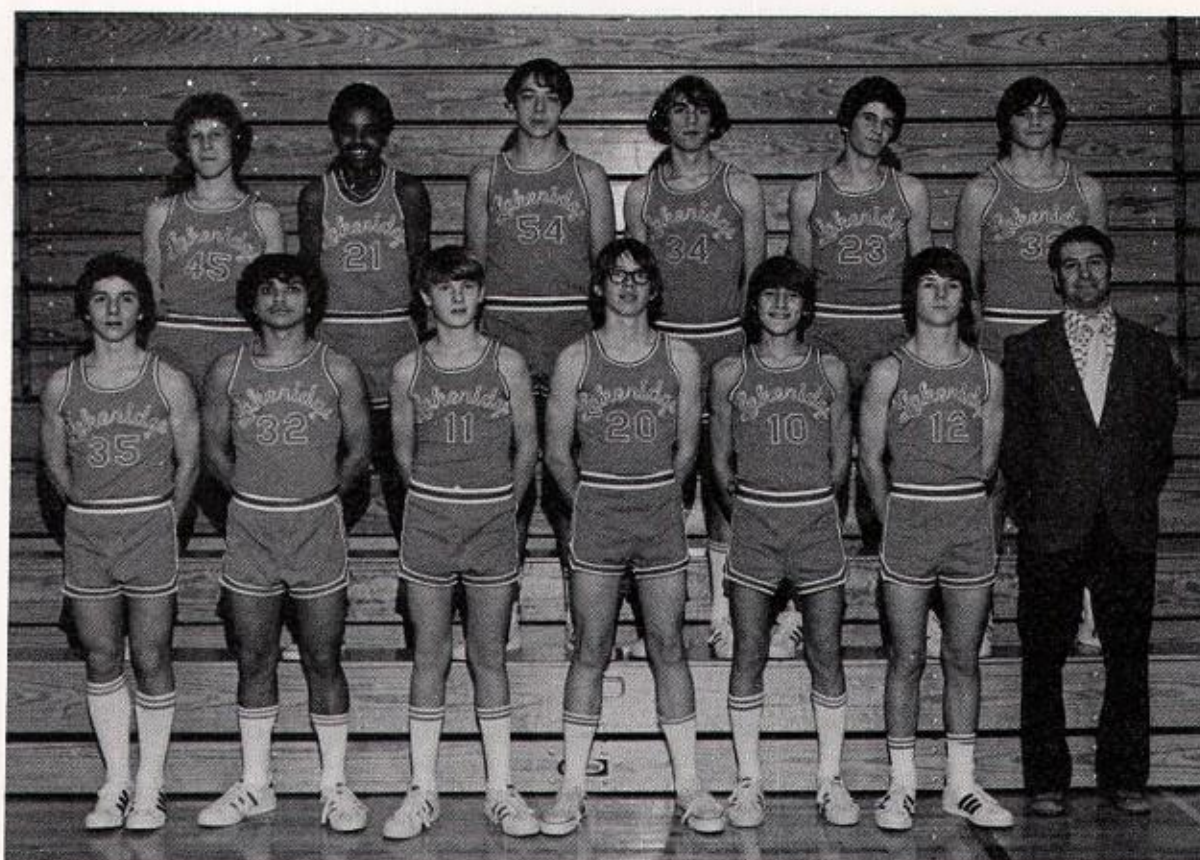

The freshman basketball program started this year with a clean slate, not only were there new players but also new coaches.

The White team's coach was Mr. Gordie James who headed the Career Center at Lakeridge. Mr. Lyn Howell, who was a P.E. teacher at Waluga Junior High, coached the Blue team. Both coaches based their philosophy on hustle and dedication. The players must have believed in their coaches' philosophy as they racked up a combined record of 25 wins and 11 losses. The White team recorded 10 wins and 8 losses, and the Blue team won 15 while only losing 3 times.

The White team was led by the playmaking of Denny Hynes, the hot shooting of Jeff Auxier, and the rebounding strength of Rocky Klever and Steve Meranda.

The Blue teams' playmaker was Jim "Pixie Boy" Dorsey, the hot shooting of John Falla, and the rebounding of John Ashton and Robert Louden.

WINTER RALLY

Follow their great basketball team to state

The 1973-74 Winter Rally Squad consisted of Helen Lapierre, Joanne Kent, Lisa McKinnon, Sue Reid, Andy Scott and Debbie Shappell. Throughout the season the six girls worked very hard to help promote spirit in the school.

Their dedication to their nearly state champion basketball team was very admirable. In early August the rally squad, along with the fall rally and advisor Miss Jan Bailey, spent three days at the Wilco League Rally Clinic at Marylhurst. Here they prepared their objectives for the upcoming year, which was to be a year of successes for them.

Every day one could see them painting signs in the Graphic Arts Center to place around the school and gym for home games. Besides this, they spent many hours each week decorating the players' lockers and selling spirit ribbons and buttons in order to help promote school spirit.

Meeting every day during seventh period, under the guidance of Jan Bailey, the girls practiced their yells and cheers as well as different routines. Planning of pep assemblies for the major basketball games was also done in this class. Finally the girls spent time preparing cupcakes, cookies and refreshments before the games, in order to serve their victorious team after their games.

According to student body members, rally was much appreciated.

BOYS SWIMMING

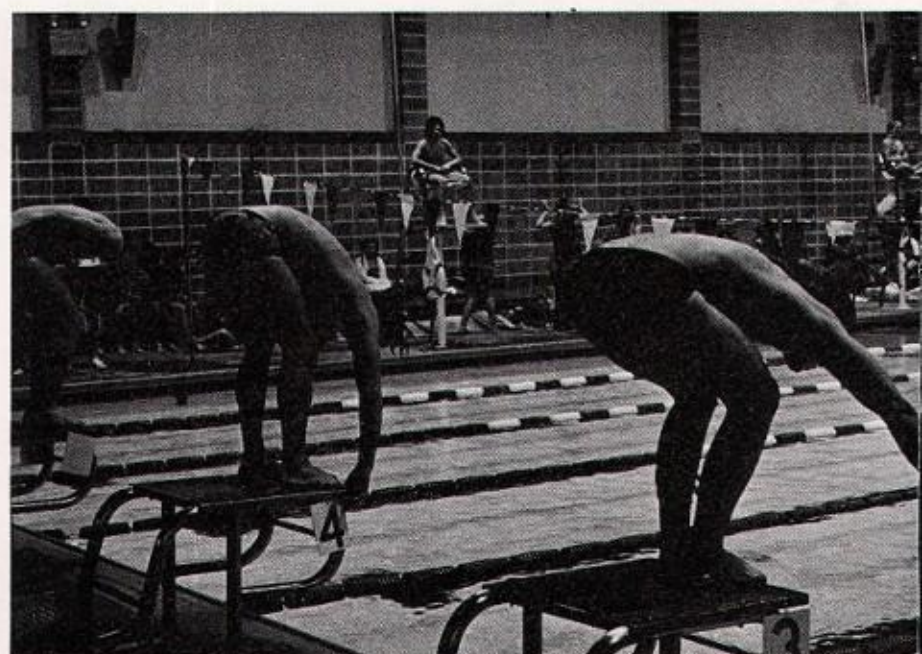

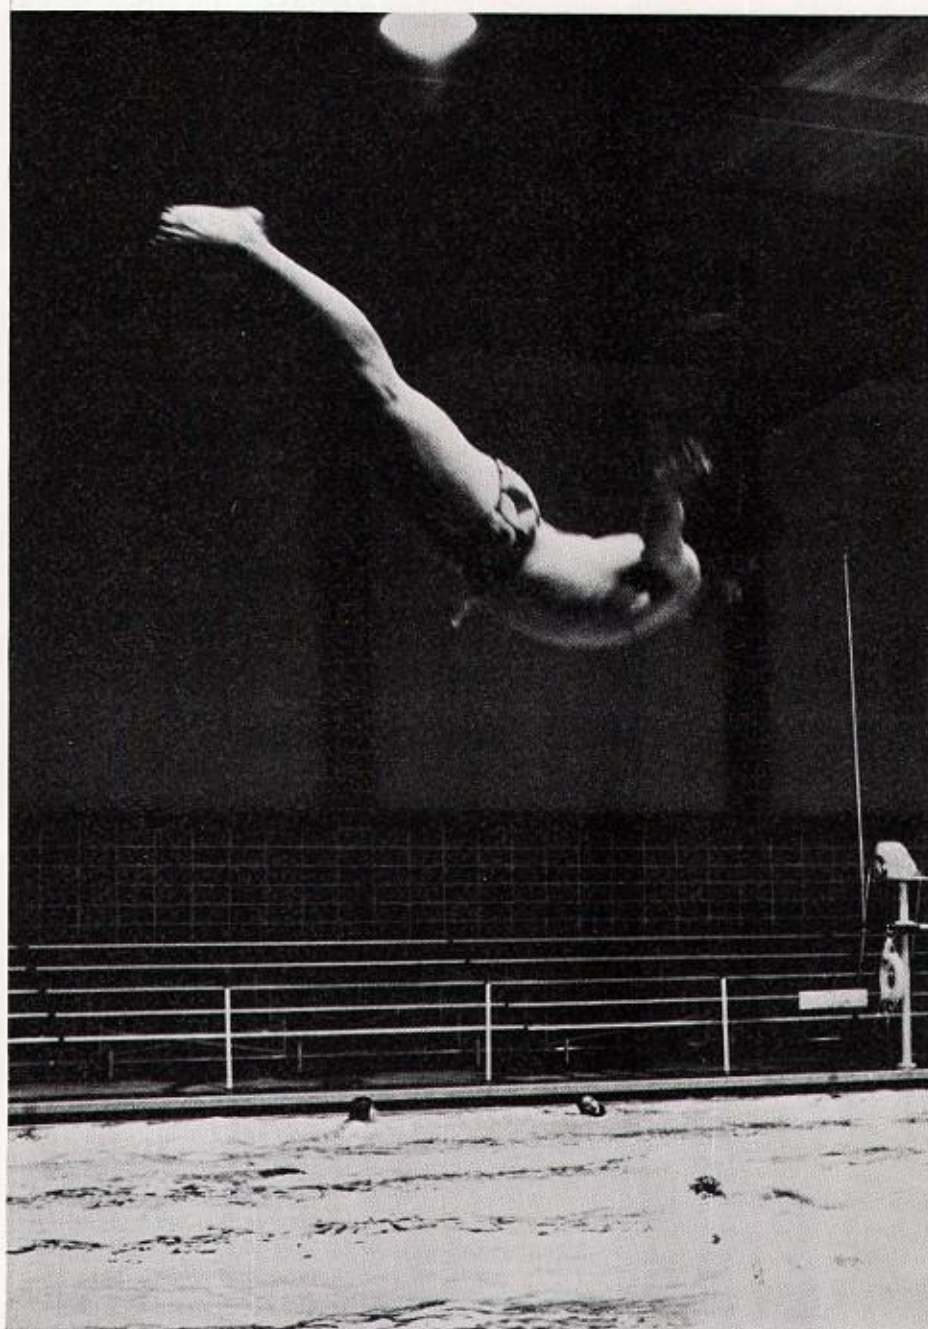

Season changes from fall to winter

Involving much time, practice, and devotion, the boys swim team proved to be a working team.

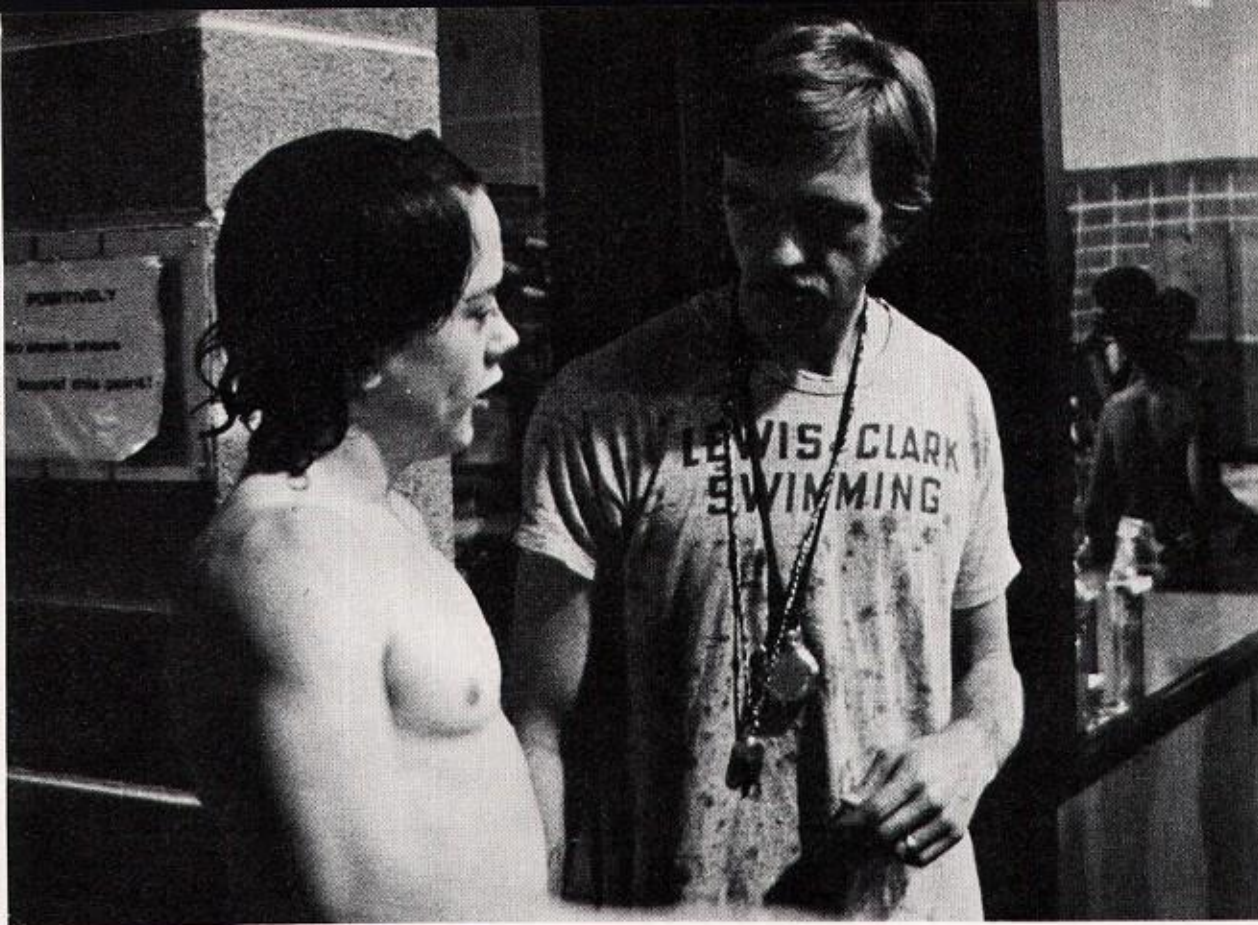

The season switch from fall to winter came as a welcome change allowing a longer time for preparation.

Many team members excelled throughout the season with proof showing in the District Swim Meet. Excelling at that meet were Lance and Jim Coffel, both earning a chance to represent Lakeridge at the State meet. The Pacer divers had a good season with Gary Levine placing first in State.

GIRLS SWIMMING

Practice averages 3000 yards of swimming a night

Swimming went well this season for the girls team. It didn't come easy, for much time was spent practicing. The team had workouts every evening after school and on Saturdays. Coaching the team was Mr. Jim Jamison, who taught at Lake Oswego Junior High School.

Practices were long and hard with each girl averaging 3,000 yards a night. Each team member was responsible for working on her specific stroke. All practices took place at the pool.

Excelling for the Pacers was team captain Jan Gleason. She took first in state in both the 100 yard butterfly and 100 yard backstroke. The Lakeridge 400 yard freestyle relay that placed 7th in state was made up of Jan Gleason, Lee Ann Reardon, Joileen Thomson and Edie Becraft. Freshman Edi Becraft excelled in the 100 yard freestyle, taking the state meet 5th place position.

At the close of the season, coach Jamison awarded Jan Gleason the most valuable player award. Ann Hanford received the most improved award, Lee Ann Reardon earned the most inspirational, and Linda DeHaas won the "Jan Gleason" award.

SKI TEAMS

Boys finish 4th in league, girls place high

The Pacer ski teams had a good season under the coaching of Mr. Jack Bramsman, the third coach for the teams in as many years.

The boys team finished fourth in the Wilco League, with high finishes by Randy Heiman and Bob Scott, both of whom had several firsts during the year. Also on the varsity team were junior Eric Lintner and freshmen Mitch Scrogin and Dave Marshall. For the girls, Dawn

Davis placed consistently high.

The teams started the season in November with dry land training, which included running and weightlifting. During the season, Wednesday night practices were held at Ski Bowl. The skiers would leave for the mountain directly after school, ride for two hours, ski for two and a half to three hours under the lights, then return home by about 10 o'clock.

WRESTLING

Four Pacers qualify for district tournament

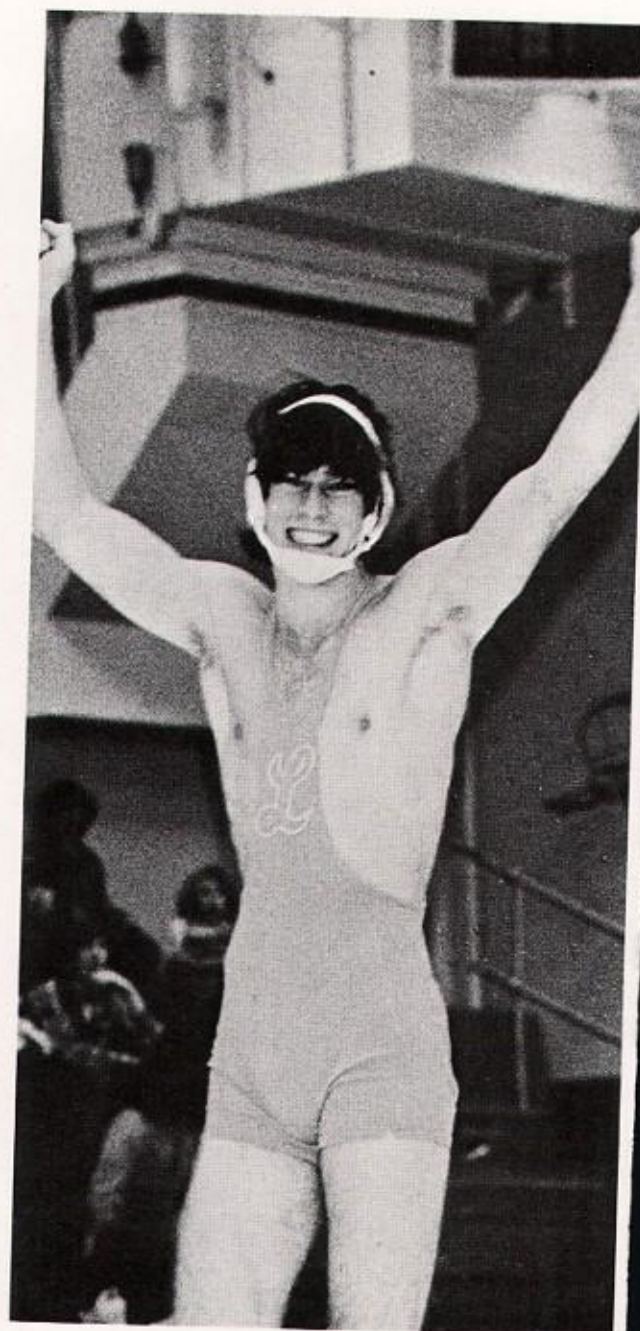

The Pacer grapplers, who were gradually obtaining the experience they needed to compete in the vicious Wilco League, set a few firsts for themselves this year. For the first time they won a dual meet in league competition against the Eagles of Hood River. Another first was the field of trophies. For the first time the varsity squad won two tournaments and were awarded with two first place trophies. This year the Pacers also qualified as many as four wrestlers for district. This was another first for the three year old team.

In district competition the Pacers edged out cross-town rival Lake Oswego and also left Hood River behind to pick up the mats.

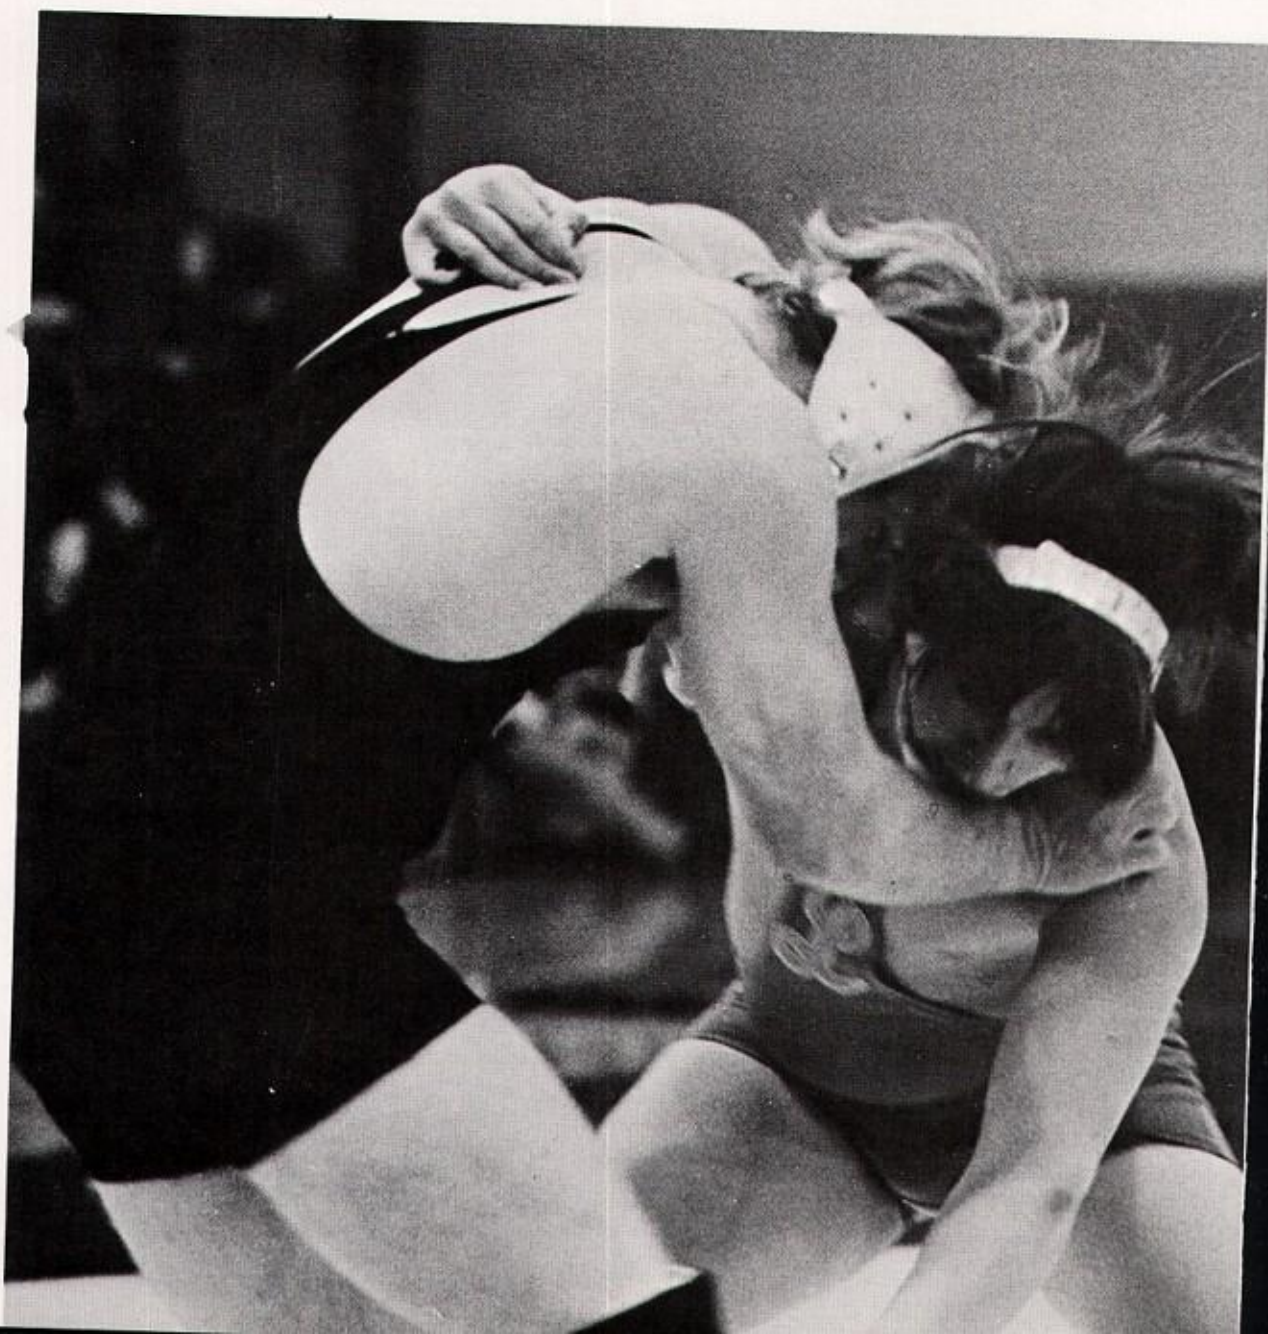

In qualifying for the Wilco Tourney, Mike Schoen and Ken Martin both placed fourth in their respective weight division. This qualified them for district but unfortunately injuries and illnesses forced them to give up the trip.

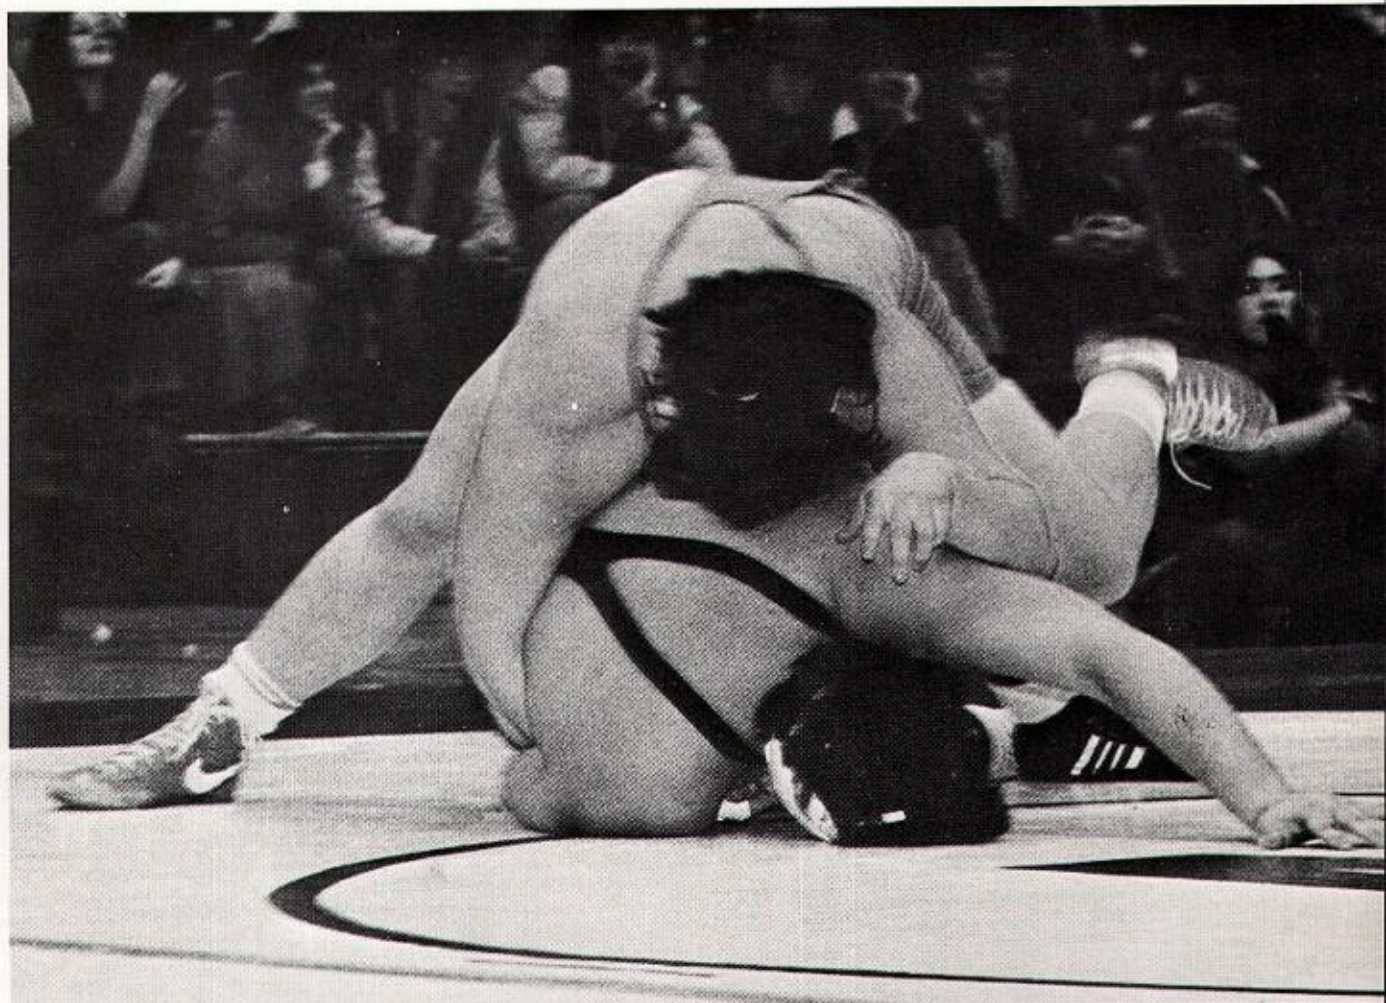

The two wrestlers who did qualify for district and were able to compete were Paul Schwehn at 115 lbs. and Todd Spencer in the heavy-weight division. Spencer placed 5th in district while Schwehn placed 3rd, which earned him a spot on the Wilco League 3rd All-Star Team.

With the Pacers ending at the .500 mark, you can be sure that the wrestlers have a very bright future.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Seventeen girls do well for first year

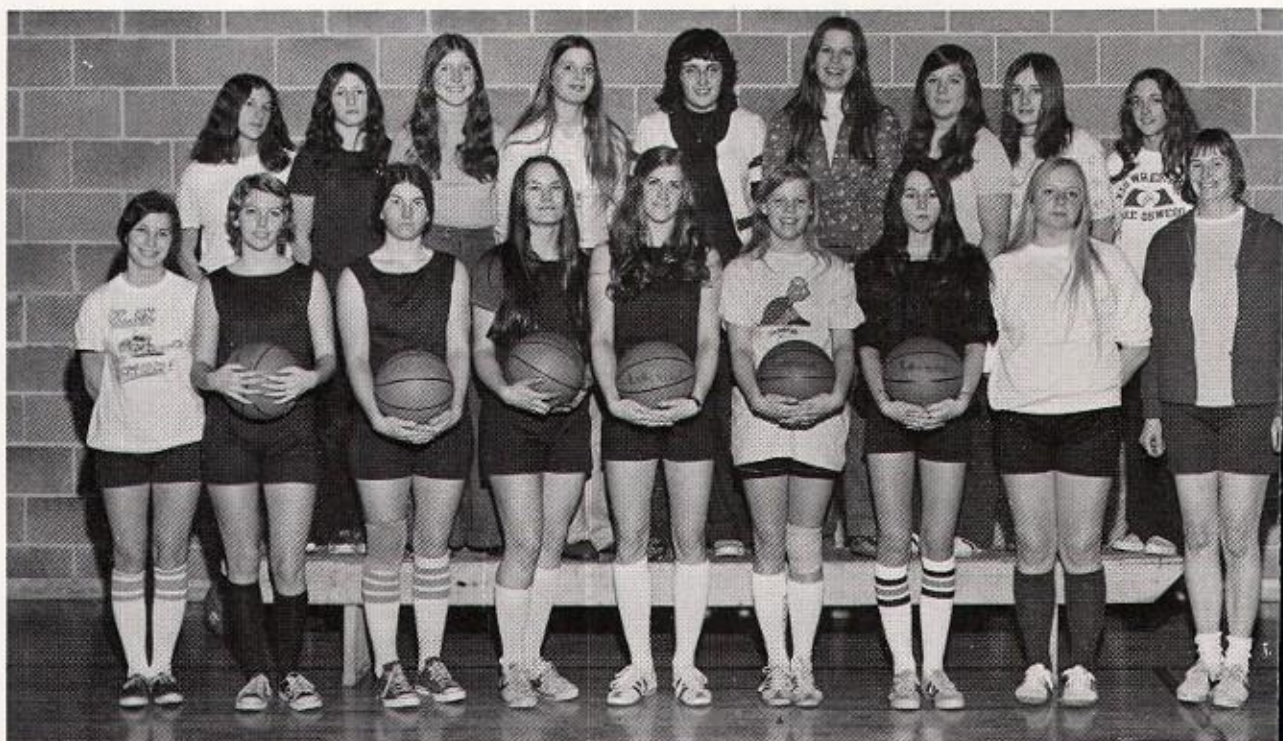

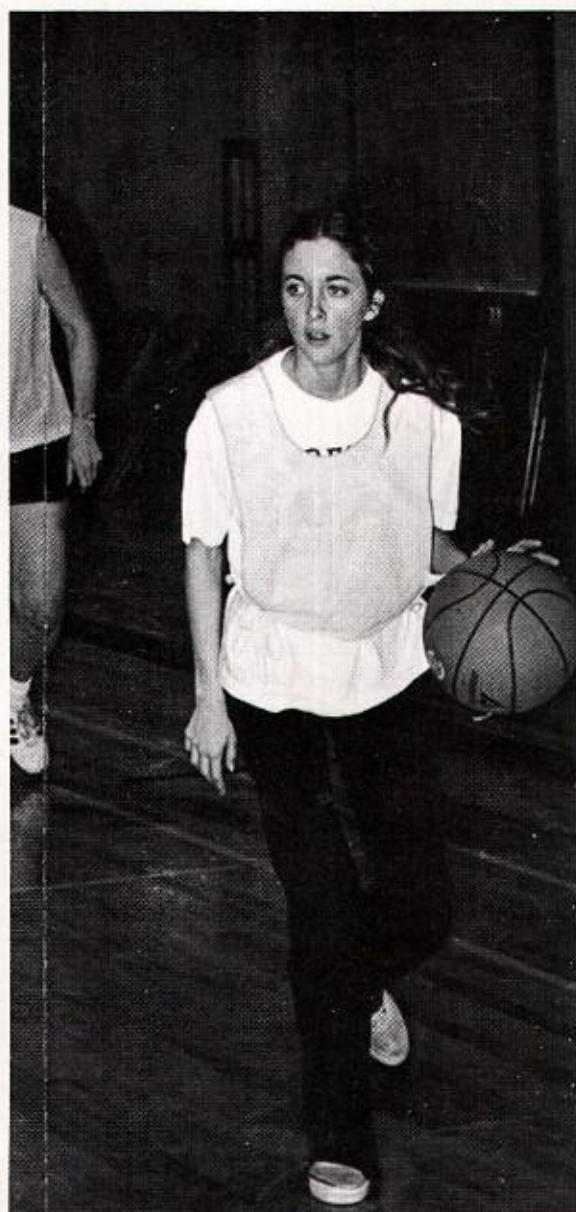

The first girls basketball team had a successful season. The turn-out for the team was very encouraging as about thirty girls played regularly.

Due to the gas shortage the team was only able to play two games, but hoped to expand next year. Lakeridge lost to Lake Oswego in their first game 16-17, but overcame them in their second game 21-19.

The consistent high scorer was Sally Boyer. Other key scorers were Jan Zender, Malia Folquet, Nancy Gellos and Carol Smith.

The creation of the girls basketball team is an indication of the increased interest in girls sports today.

MOUNTAINEERING CLUB

Visit to Silver Creek Falls on schedule

The Mountaineering Club of 1973-74 elected a new president, Jan Zender. Along with vice president Lynn Weisser, she headed the organization of the many hikes and bike hikes for the members.

At the beginning of the year each member paid a $2 membership fee. He also obtained a parent's permission slip which entitled the member to participate in the various activities throughout the year. This was an effective method and many students participated in the club.

Working under advisor Mr. Keith McGraw, the club organized hikes to Silver Creek Falls, Multnomah Falls and a bike hike to Champoege Park south of Newberg.

All in all the Hiking Club had a successful year with good participation from the student body.

CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES

Fun and yuletide spirit fill week

The week dedicated to celebrating Christmas was filled with a variety of activities. Aside from the main events of electing the court and the Christmas dance, there were activities throughout the week to keep the Christmas spirit at a high level.

Competition was raised during the week in a contest to decorate reg room doors. Imagination, humor and artistry were used to compete for the final judging. Each class was responsible for displaying a Christmas tree in the commons, including decorations. Students arrived one morning to find the senior tree stripped of its limbs by a few junior boys. Seniors in turn traded their tree trunk with the sophomores.

In English classes, Christmas cards were made by the students for people in convalescent homes in the area. Toys were also collected to add to the holidays of less fortunate children.

The week ended with the crowning of senior princess Lynn Kuse and a well-attended dance held Saturday evening.

CHRISTMAS COURT

Queen Lynn Kuse reigns over dance

The 1973 Christmas court followed a tradition begun only the previous year. This was the idea of selecting four girls to represent each class instead of two. The increased number provided a chance for more girls to participate.

The girls chosen for the court were: freshmen Heather Donnelly, Anne Gianotti, Tina Hansen and Robin Meredith; sophomores Ginny Dir, Jan Hoberg, Leslie Rislove and Sue Stark; juniors Gwen Gundersen, Shawn Pihas, Sharon Sather and Lynn Weisser; seniors Martha Inskeep, Lynn Kuse, Barb Pearson and Sue Reid. Chosen to reign as queen was senior Lynn Kuse. She was crowned by returning '72 Queen Julie Thompson.

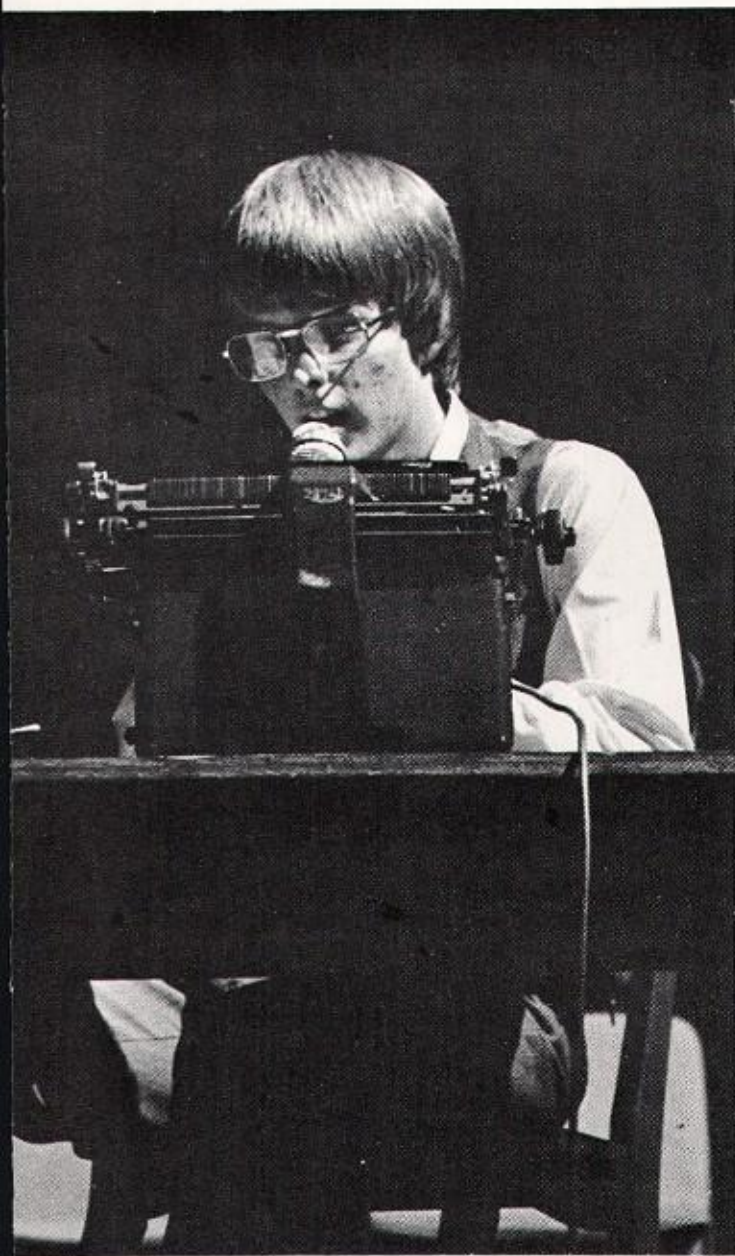

The girls were kept busy throughout the week. On Monday they visited Willamette Falls Hospital, Tuesday the Mountain Park Convalescent Home. Early Thursday morning was spent with Lake Oswego High School's court at Sambos for breakfast. That afternoon they traveled to the Lake Oswego Senior Citizens Home. Friday involved the final assembly with the announcement of the queen. The court then went to Lake Oswego's Christmas assembly to present a rose to their Queen Marge.

The week ended Saturday night with the Christmas dance, reigned over by Queen Lynn.

FIDDLER ON THE ROOF

Elaborate production pleases four-night audiences

Tradition was the theme of the winter musical, "Fiddler on the Roof." It was the largest and most expensive production ever presented in the Lakeridge auditorium. Mr. Ben Vose directed with help from Jan Rimmerman as assistant director. Mr. Merlin Gackle was the musical director while Mr. Dale Cleland headed the orchestra.

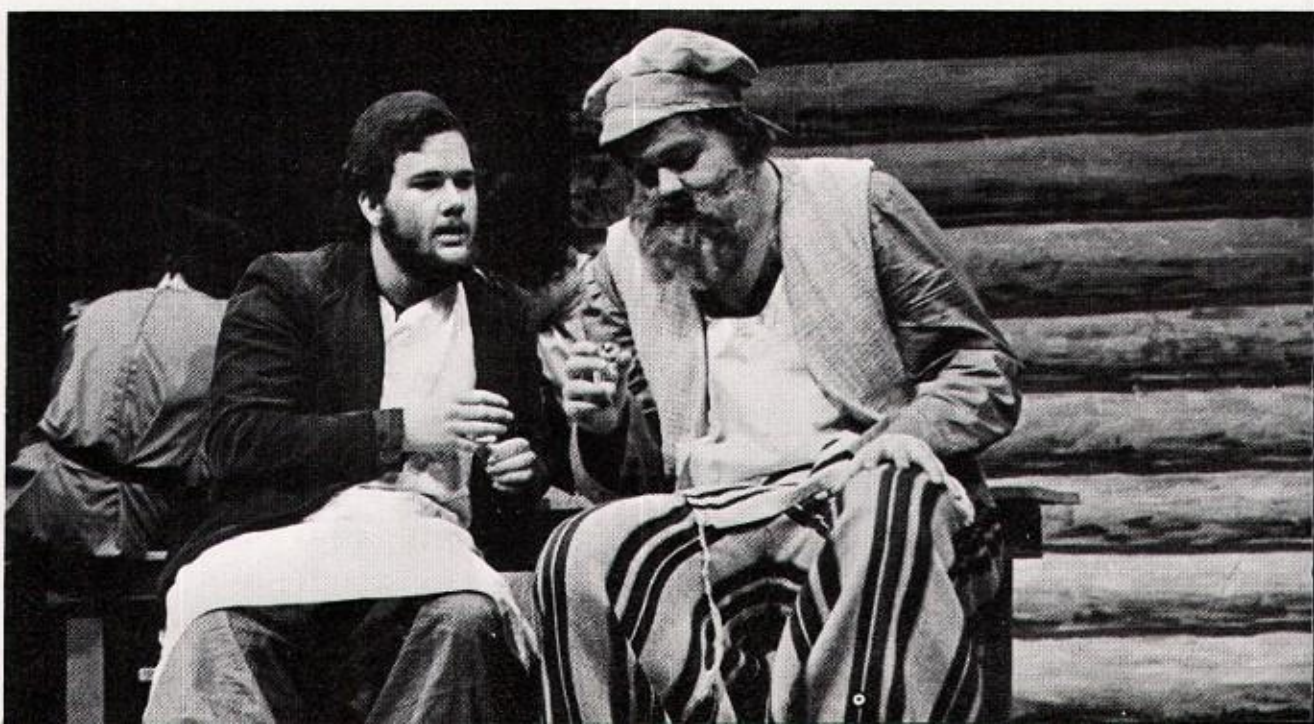

"Fiddler on the Roof" had one of the most difficult set changes ever attempted. A whole crew was designated specifically for moving props during the performances. Senior Bill McNeil was in charge of design and construction. The entire production was completed in two months and was performed February 28, March 2, 8, and 9.

Many people plus a lot of time and effort were involved in making "Fiddler on the Roof" a profitable production both as entertainment for the students and the public as well as financially.

Spring

Spring didn't appear weatherwise in Oregon this year. Despite this fact, the activities of spring came off anyway. May Week came with princesses, wheelbarrow races, a carnival and slave auction. Carrie Critchlow was crowned queen.

Pacer power again proved strong. The varsity baseball team finished top in the Wilco League and went on to take state. The trophy was presented to Lakeridge on May 29 at a morning assembly.

The track team had a good season sending four boys to the state meet and took second place in the Wilco League.

For seniors school ended on Friday, May 31. The closing day was spent discussing rehearsals, commencement and future plans. The commencement ceremony was held June 4, 1974 in the gymnasium at the high school.

For the underclassmen, school closed on June 6. Summer was welcomed by all.

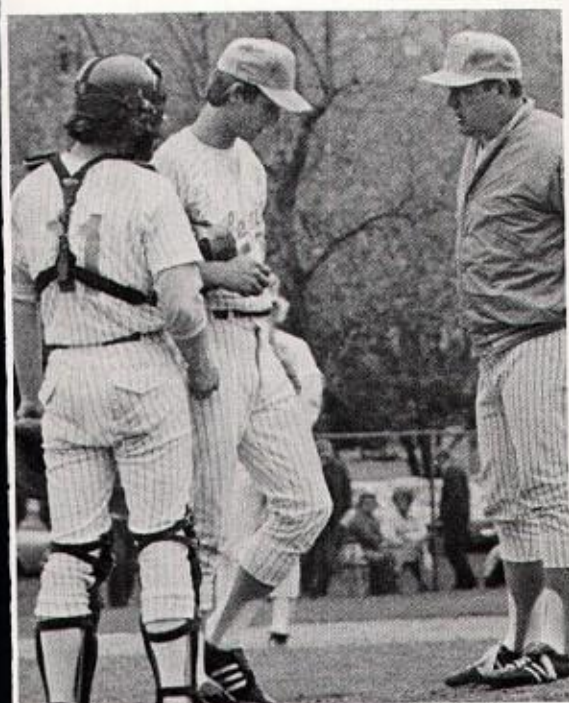

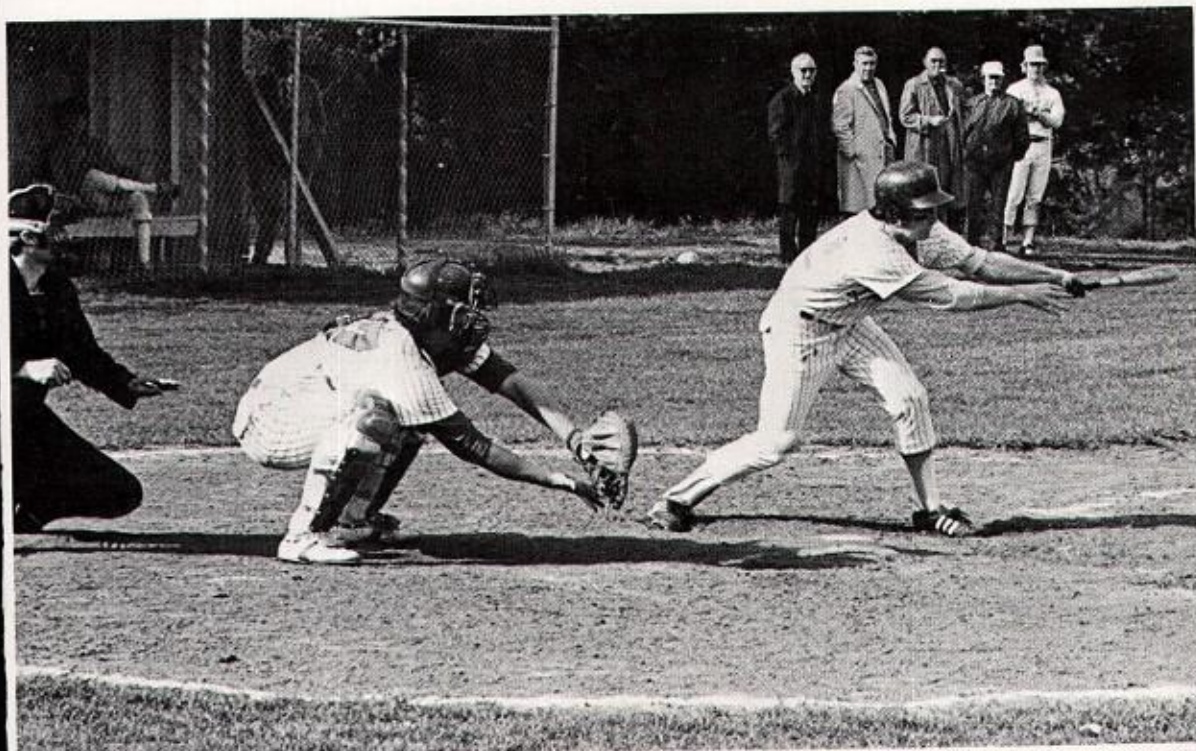

Pacer nine top Crater for first AAA title

The varsity baseball team culminated the school's most successful year of athletics to date by capturing the AAA State Championship trophy, the first ever won by any Lakeridge team. Sporting a line-up that included three all-state players, head coach Royce McDaniels led the team to a 17-5 record that was good enough to edge Tigard and West Linn for the Willamette Division title.

The Pacers then headed for a three game playoff against Columbia division winner Gresham. Following a split of the first two games, Lakeridge capitalized on errors to win the deciding contest and qualify for the state playoffs. It was here that pitcher Scott Anderson overwhelmed McMinnville first, then over Madison and went one more time at Civic Stadium for the 4-0 championship game over Crater.

Anderson, voted to the all-state first team, was joined there by John Pigott and Mike Gianotti, all seniors. It was the experience of the Pacers, with eight starting seniors, that allowed them to come back from a relatively slow start at the outset of the season.

JV BASEBALL

Mixture of youth and experience provides for the best season ever

The junior varsity baseball team posted its finest season ever in their three-year existence.

A transplant from Southern California, Mr. Gordon James, took over the reins as coach. James replaced Mr. Charlie Nipp, who was involved in changes for graduation requirements.

Lakeridge started out fast, winning twelve of its first thirteen games, and at one point streaked to ten victories in a row. The Pacers played .500 ball the rest of the way, and finished with an impressive 15-4 record.

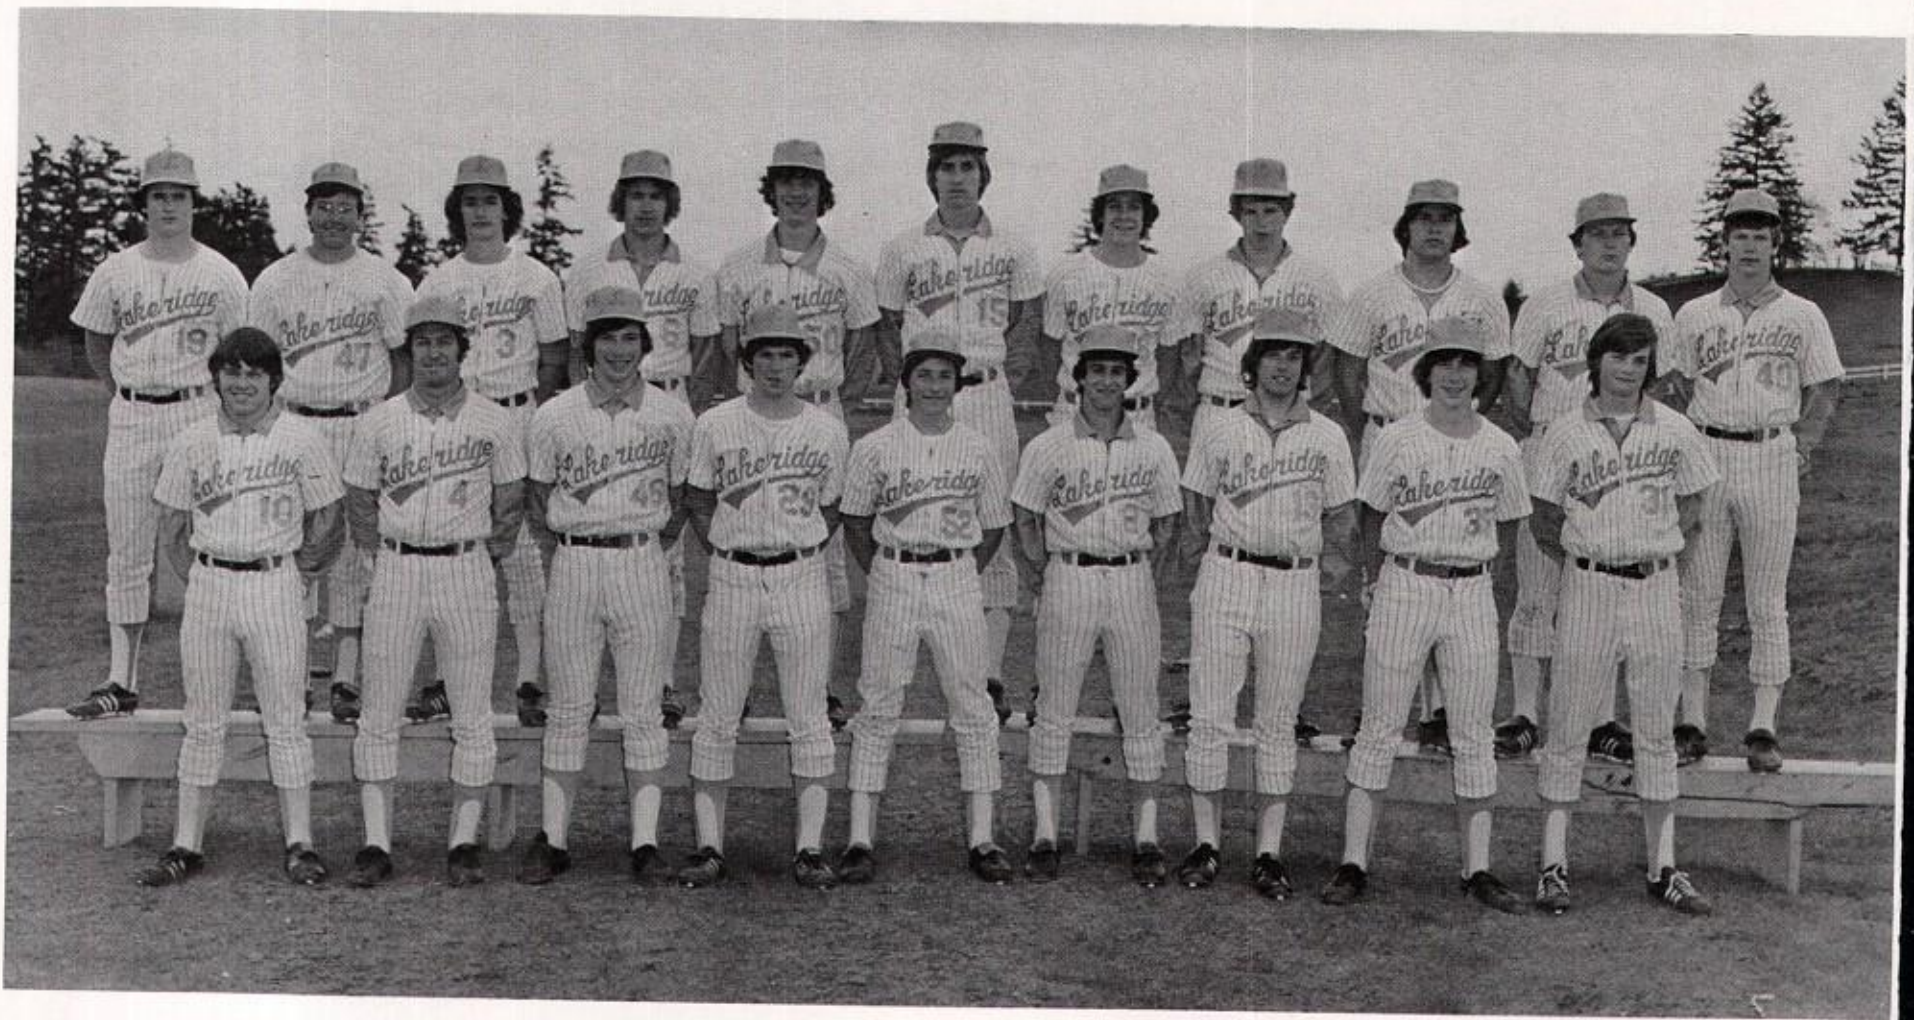

Sophomore Sy Woodbury was the leading batsman. He posted a .422 mark. Freshman Ken Rolfe led the team in hits with 24, and batted .342 for the year to finish second behind Woodbury for team high honors. Next in line was junior Chuck Sauvain with a .306 average. Sophomores Dwayne Kubusreiter and Rob Lee were in pursuit all year and ended up .302 and .288 respectively.

Lakeridge was strong up the middle defensively with Chuck Sauvain and sophomore Marc Caplan turning in stellar performances at shortstop and second base.

Outstanding pitching was turned in by junior Glen Jacobs and Ken Rolfe. They teamed up to give Lakeridge a tough duo of flame throwers

FROSH BASEBALL

Best freshman team yet from Lakeridge

Pleased with the large turnout this year, coach Rich Anderson led the freshman baseball team through another winning season. Coach Anderson was provided with the best freshman team in Lakeridge history.

The defense was unbelievable, headed by the team captain Jim Ashton at catcher. The infield was tough, hardly letting anything into the outfield. But when the ball got into the outfield, Gary Way, Mike Lockwood and Glenn Hoage had the ball.

The pitching was headed by Dave Coghill (4-1), who only lost to the soon-to-be champions Milwaukie Mustangs. Then Kimo Tuggle (3-1) also lost to Milwaukie. Gary Way (3-2) was the only one to lose two games but by only one run in each game.

The hitting was led by two .400 hitters. Mike Lockwood (.433) and Gary Way (.406) who led their team to most of their victories. Supplying the power was Rich Jackstadt who hit seven home runs.

Overall by far this has been the best freshman team to come out of Lakeridge.

BOYS TRACK

Coaches Hurdstrom, Howell, Smith guide team

Following the pattern of nearly all sports this year, the Lakeridge boys track team kept up their end of it with a 7-1 dual record for the season. This record also included a powerful win over Lake Oswego. This win once again proved the total dominance of the Pacers over the Lakers in the past three years.

The highlight meet of the year, aside from Lake Oswego, was the trip the varsity took down to the South Eugene Invationals. To many, including Tom Eilertson and Chuck Jensen, this invitational was the turning point in their season.

The Pacers proved strong in all events, which was evident since six school records were set this past year. This strength was found, aside from Eilertson and Jensen, in Gene Singer, Doug Klein, Marshall Cromer, Brian Charles and Ed Pothetes. In the endurance events, Tom Gleason, Ken Robinette, Mike McGriff and freshman Dave Steffens competed vigorously also.

During the district meet, injuries and various other reasons plagued the Pacers from repeating last years record setting performance. Coaches Keith Hurdstrom, Lynn Howell and Chuck Smith were very pleased with the ones who did come through at district, though.

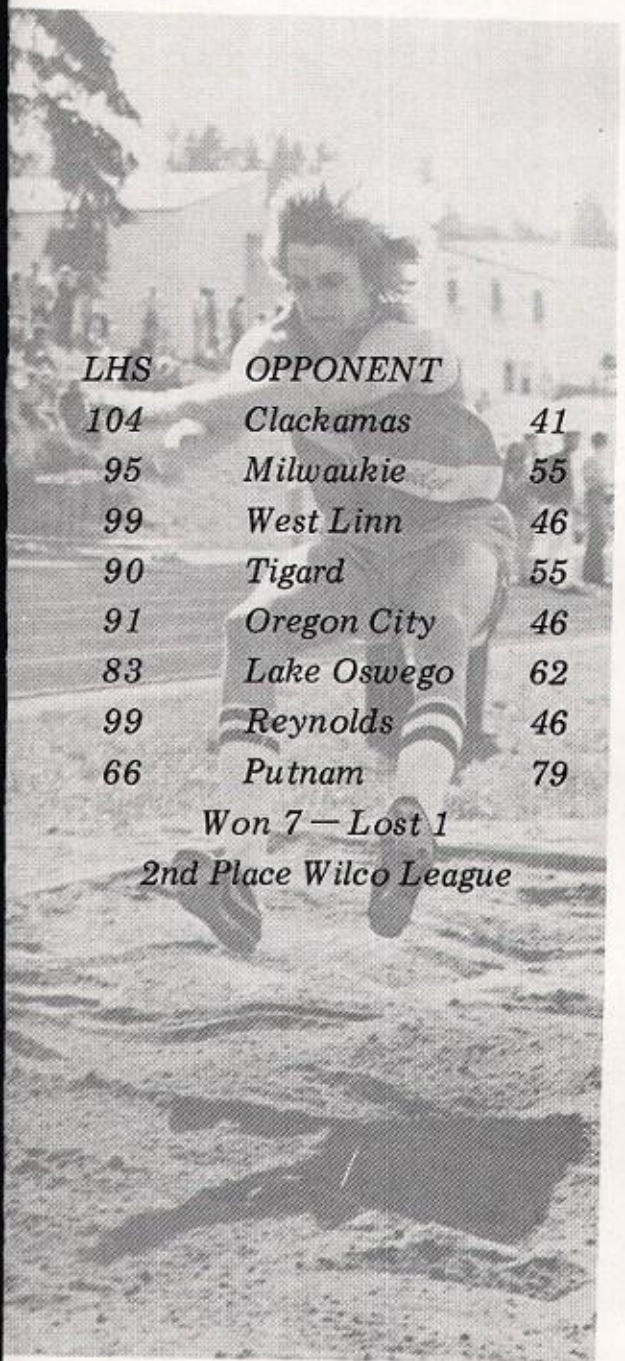

The Pacers qualified four cinder-men for the state meet. Those who qualified were Brian Charles in the 120 high hurdles and the 330 intermediate hurdles, Tom Gleason in the 880 run in which he placed second and Tom Eilertson participated in the shot put.

All in all, the Lakeridge track team, like all sports this year, set many records that will stay for a long time to come.

GIRLS TRACK

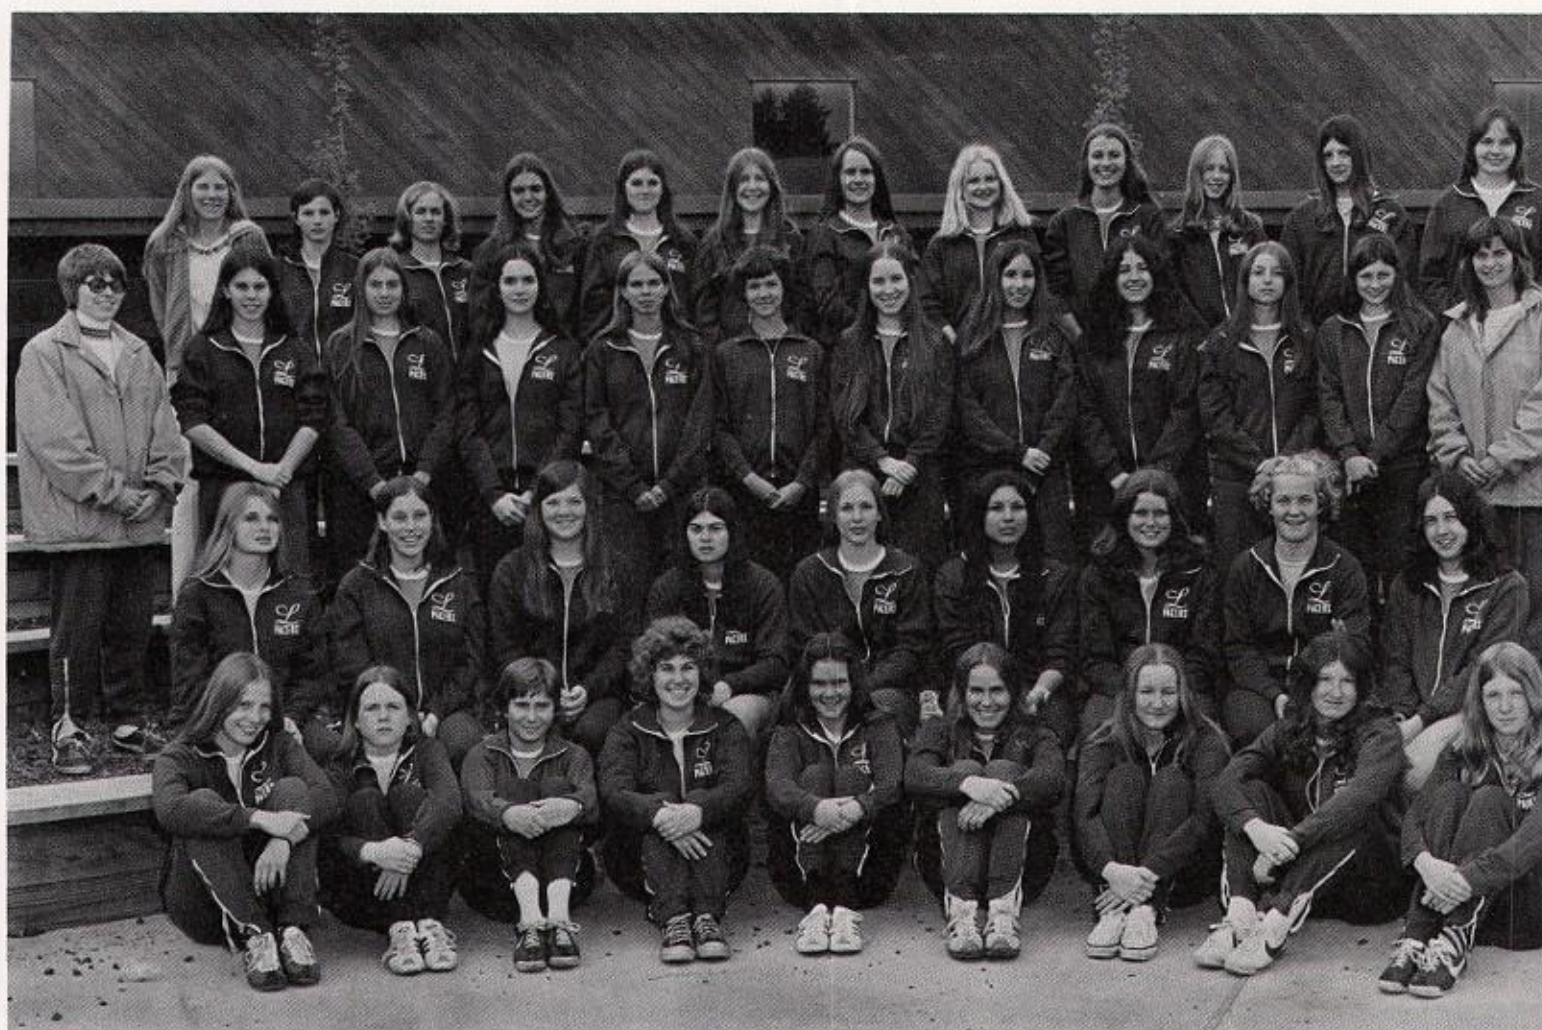

Largest turnout ever for girls thinclads

The girls track team had their finest season as they finished their eight meet schedule with only two losses. Coach Cathy Stiehl led her team to another Willamette Division championship and a fourth place trophy at district.

Highlights of the season were the Pacers win at the Centennial relays and the placing of two team members at state, Dee Dee Miller and Jan Zender. Assisting Mrs. Stiehl this year was newcomer Cheri Langdon.

GOLF

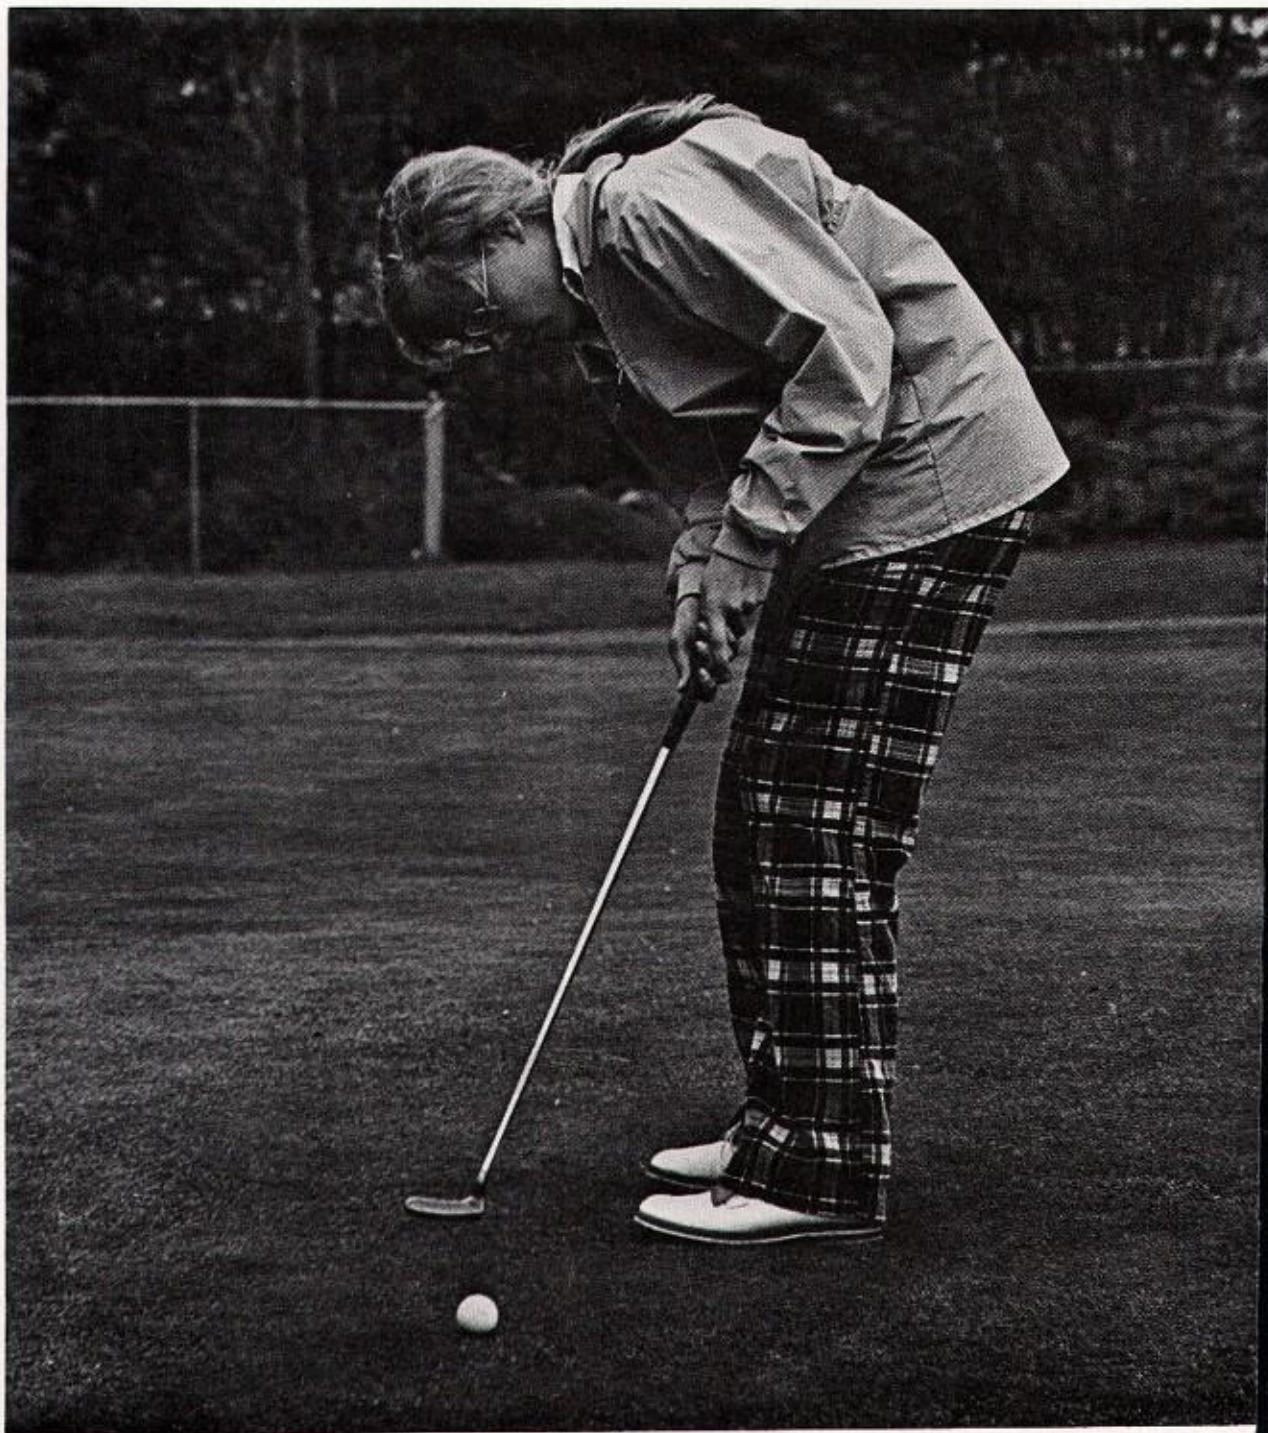

Girls Team

Under the coaching of Mr. James Ponti the girls golf team showed strength and determination by ending the season tied for 2nd place in district and 10th in the state.

Malia Folquet, completing her second year on the team, provided experience and aided the team greatly.

During practice the girls concentrated on chipping, putting and over-all form. All girls said it was an enjoyable and worthwhile experience.

Boys Team

The golf season jumped off to a good start with the team scoring very well in the Metropolitan Junior Tourney. The Pacers calimed 3rd place and Guy Mount, Doug Sanford and Brad Castonguay earned individual honors.

The entire season showed good team scores and outstanding individual effort. Guy Mount and Doug Sanford placed on the 1st team, Wilamette Division. Doug Sanford qualified for state with 2nd lowest score in the Wilco District Tourney.

Members of this year's varsity team were Guy Mount, Doug Sanford, Scott Pope, Kevin Pike, Brad Castonguay, David Coombs, Jim Warner, and Mike Warner.

GIRLS TENNIS

Girls team takes 4th in District

The girls tennis team took 4th in district with an impressive 8-3 win-loss record for the season. This year's team was under the coaching helm of Pete McHugh.

The Pacers tennis team was very strong in singles with Sally Boyer, Jean Dreyer and Martha Inskeep winning a majority of their matches. In doubles the team was dependable with Vanessa Purdy and Nancy Rivenburgh playing first doubles and Mary Lou Yokum and Mary Pat Gianotti playing second doubles. There were five excellent JV members, consisting of Sue Stark, Merilee Bales, Janet Poort, Sue Wellons and Patty Holden.

This year's tennis team, coached by Jim Cooke, was bolstered by three strong seniors. The weak spot for the Pacers was clearly in the doubles teams. The Pacers had all freshman doubles teams. This lack of experience was the main factor in this year's season. John Cleary led the team, as he lost only twice during the season. Mark Wolfe and Craig Moodhe also had impressive seasons, while playing number 2 and number 3 singles.

The doubles teams were changed around during the season. Bill Bonnington, Gregg Vermillion, David Cleary, and Jeff Auxier saw most of the doubles action this year. Seniors, Bob Murdoch and Duane Malone also played some varsity matches.

Rounding out the tennis team were freshmen Chris Marshall, Don Searles, and John Slagill.

EXCHANGE STUDENTS

A learning and growing experience

During the 1973-74 school year Lakeridge High School was host to many exchange students. Among these were Juana Concha — Chili; Lino Guarienti — Brazil; Patti Holden — Billings, Montana; Mike Minoque — Australia; Klaus Radenbach — Germany; and Brigitte Stirnemann — Switzerland. The exchange program this year took many forms such as AFS, Rotary, and private.

The program provided a learning and growing experience for the exchange students and their host families.

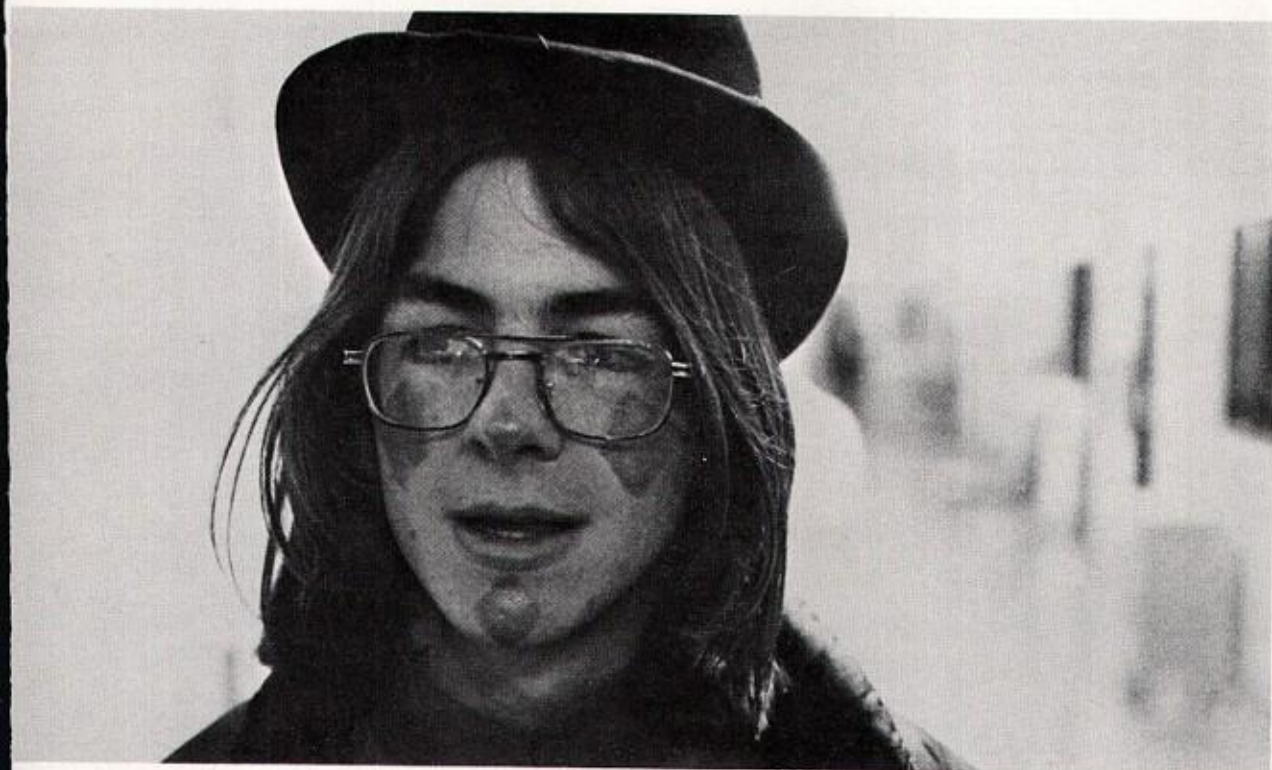

A meaningful relationship with someone from another land; an understanding of one's self and one's family; and a new and different outlook on life; these all come from foreign exchange experiences.

Along with living the American way of life for the past year, was the sharing of ideas and ways of life with host families by the exchange students. One may broaden his understanding and reach out into the world around him with new insight.

THESPIANS

Members play important parts

The 1973-74 Thespian Club members played an important part in the events of Lakeridge last year.

Christmas time was their busiest season. Besides presenting plays and skits of Lakeridge, the Thespians traveled to the elementary schools in the area. Early in the year club members started taking orders for fruitcakes to be made and delivered in time for Christmas vacation.

Finishing off the year was the production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" played in the amphitheatre.

AWARDS DINNER

Banquet honors all varsity lettermen

The first annual Lakeridge Banquet of Champions was held this year in the cafeteria. It was a separate engagement from the traditional awards assembly, which was again held this year to honor all students who participated in sports. The Banquet of Champions honored only varsity lettermen.

Portland area weatherman Jim Bosley acted as Master of Ceremonies at the function. In addition all of the coaches at Lakeridge gave a brief synopsis of their respective teams and cited outstanding individual performances. Each captain was given a special award.

Mr. Al McGriff, representing the parents of Lakeridge athletes, elaborated on the joys and satisfaction experienced by them as parents and their sons.

Present at the banquet were teachers, parents, students and community members. An estimated 460 people were in attendance. All received a magnificent meal. Admission was a mere $1.50 for the parents, while lettermen were the guests of honor.

MAY WEEK

Theme is "This Comical World"

"This Comical World" was the theme of May Week 1974. Many activities were planned to help students celebrate the coming of spring.

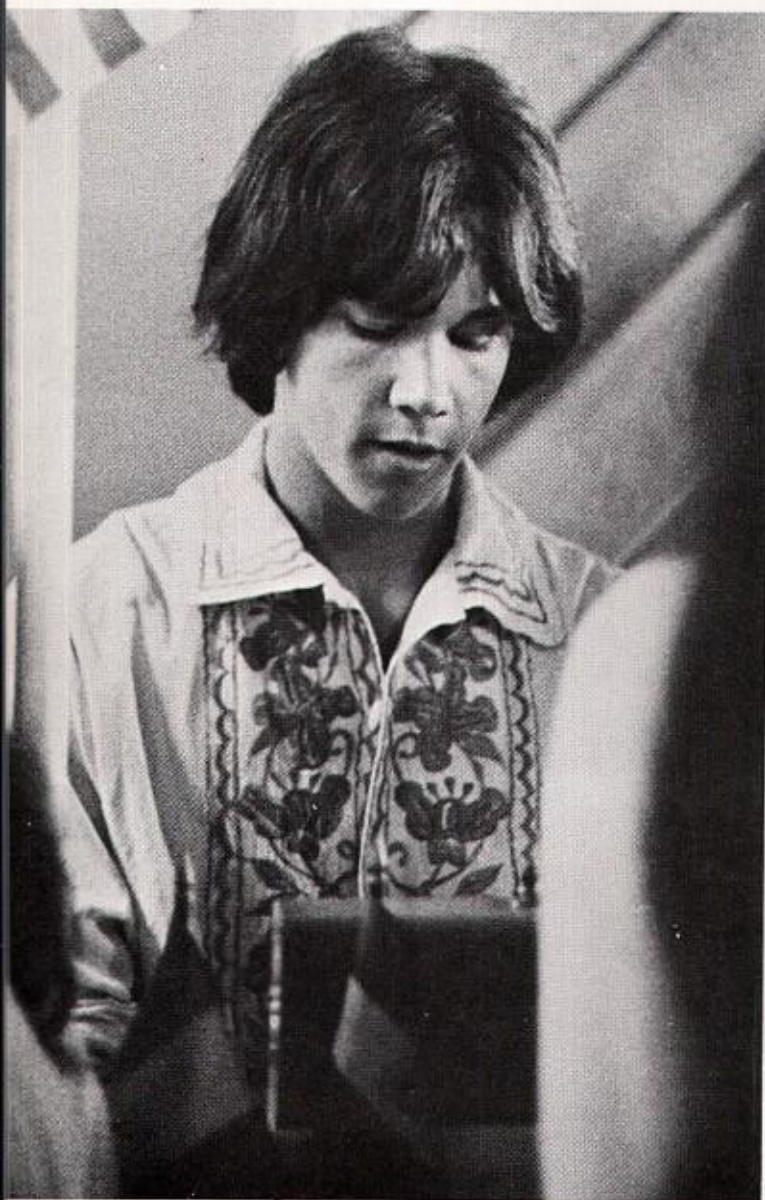

Emcees for May Week were seniors Rick Herren, Marshall Cromer, and Charlie Clever. At an assembly Monday morning, eight senior princesses were chosen to reign over the week's activities.

Tuesday was Faculty Day when wheelbarrow races were run around the commons at break with both students and teachers participating.

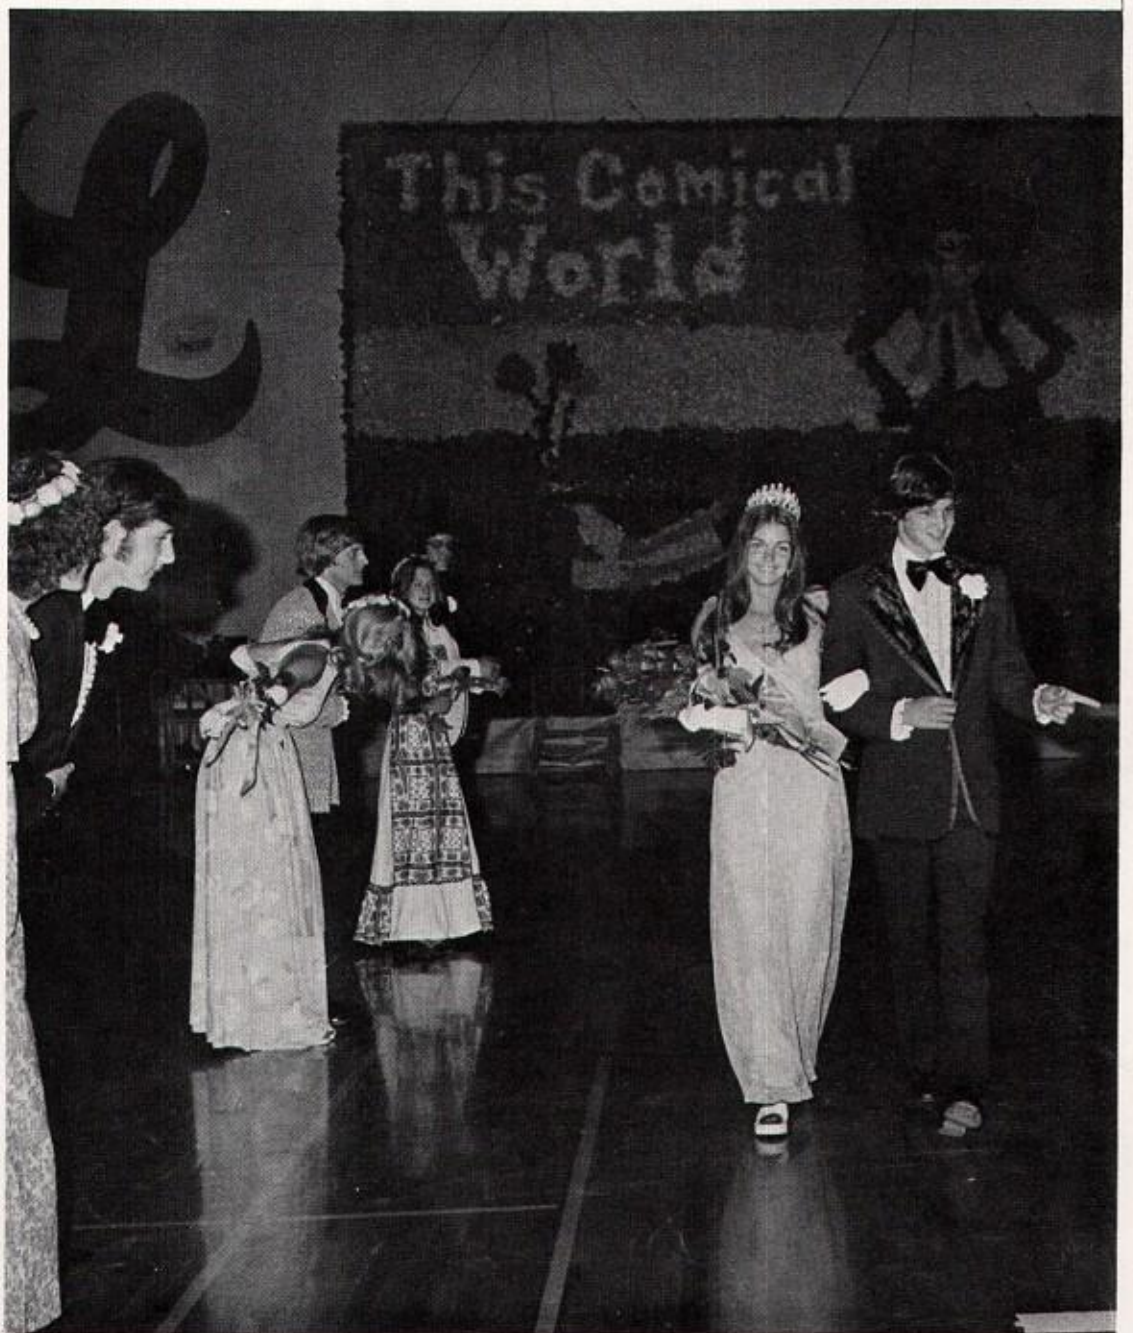

Wednesday was Community Day. A carnival was held in the afternoon. The annual Generation Gap dinner and dance was held that evening.

Sophomore-Junior Day was Thursday. A slave sale was held at Break with Mr. Dave McCormick auctioneering. Jeff Cooney emceed the talent show that afternoon.

Friday was Freshman-Senior Day. Carrie Critchow was crowned 1974 May Week Queen at a morning assembly. At an afternoon picnic, students enjoyed refreshments and listened to the group "Crust."

MAY COURT

Eight senior girls grace May Week

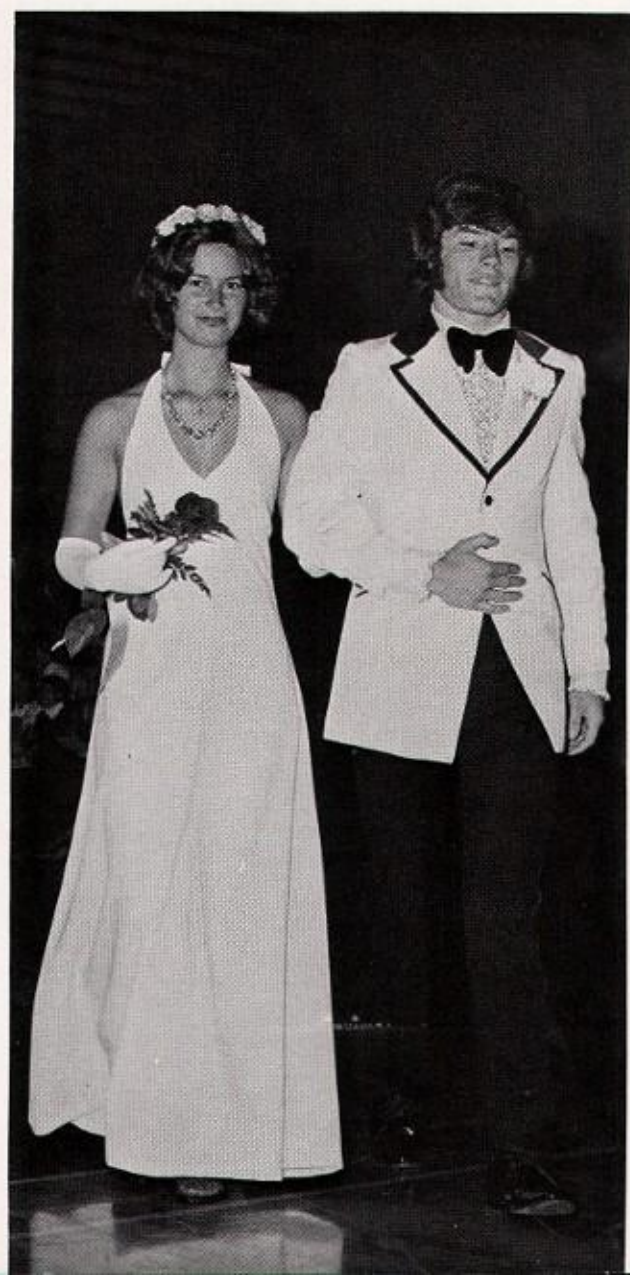

On an extended reg schedule Monday, May 6, the eight senior princesses were announced for the May Court in front of the anxious student body. Announced by masters of ceremonies Rick Herren, Marshall Cromer and Charlie Klever, the eight princesses were led to the stage area in front of the back drop entitled "This Comical World," designed by Cindy Scott.

The eight lovely girls chosen were Anne Buley, Bobbye Caplan, Laura Girod, Sandy Hagen, Claudia McWilliams, Mary Lou Yoakum, Jan Rimmerman and Carrie Critchlow. Assisting the MC's were Raggedy Ann (Vanessa Purdy) and Raggedy

Andy (Jay Knab). Excitement built up throughout the week and on Friday, May 11, the queen was announced.

Finally the exciting moment came and after the letter containing the queen's name had fallen from the top of the gym in the form of a parachute, Carrie Critchow was announced May Week Queen for 1974.

GRADUATION

Two hundred and sixty graduate June 4

The class of 1974 became the first graduating class from Lakeridge not to have attended any other high school. Commencement exercises, June 4, were attended by 260 seniors. Plans were made for graduation at Washington Park but due to weather it took place in the gym.

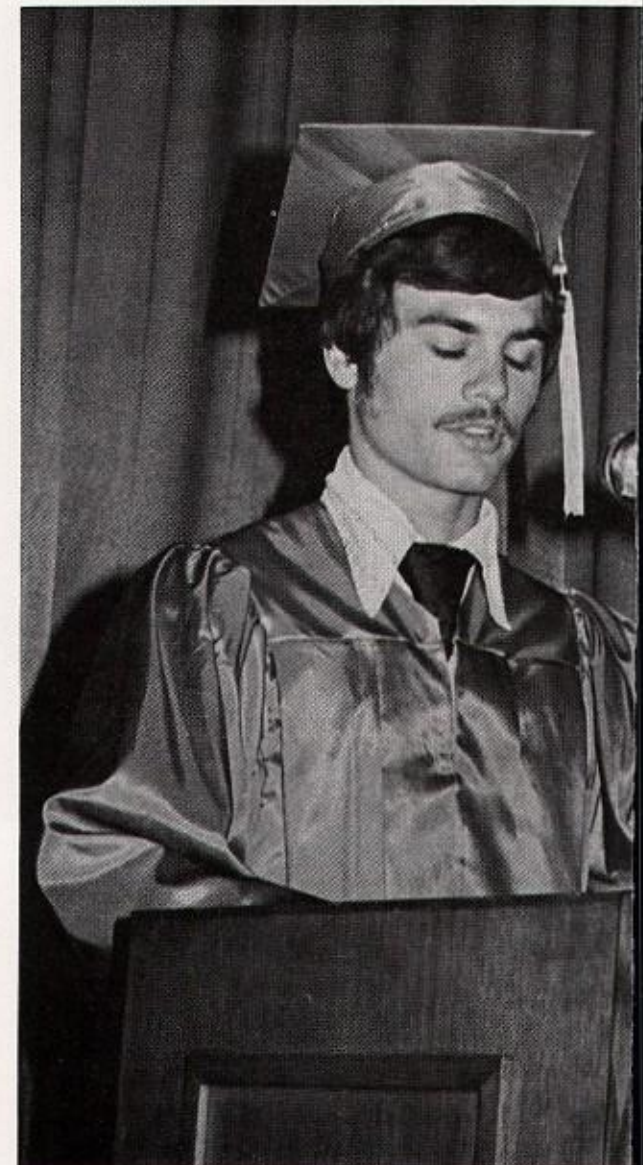

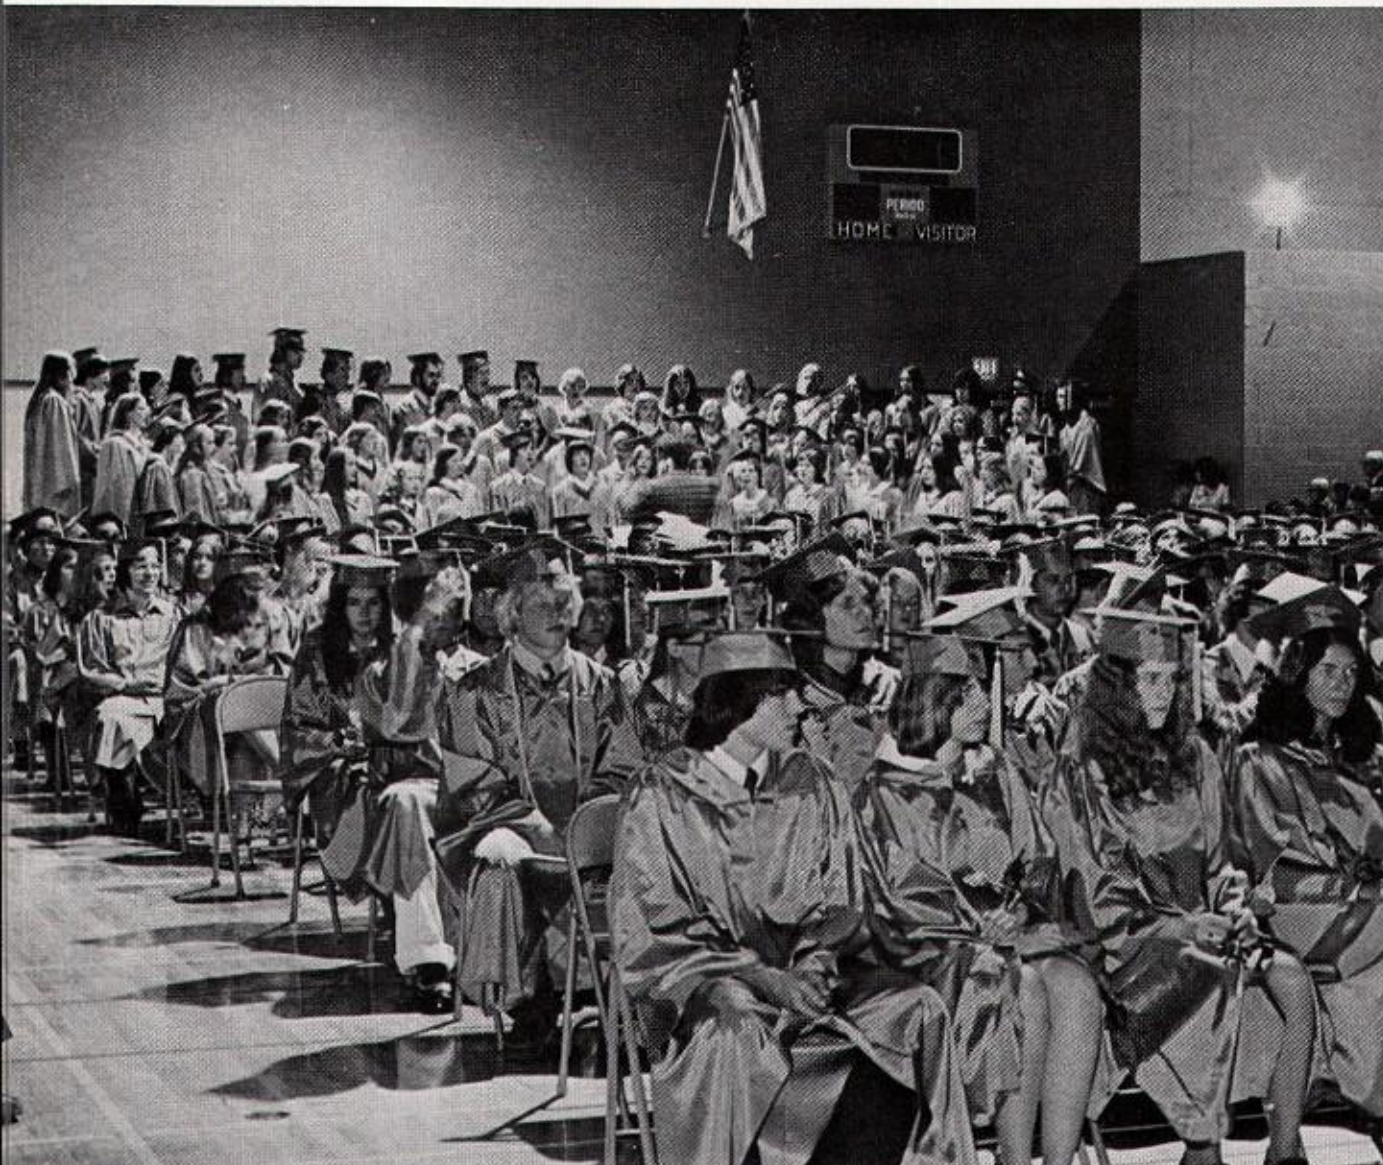

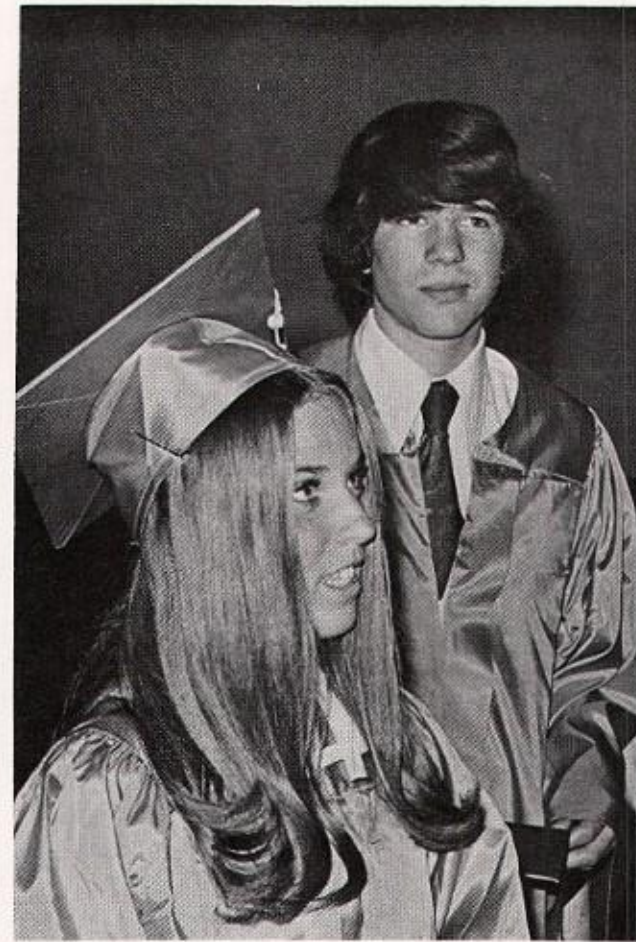

The theme for graduation this year was "The Long and Winding Road." Invocation was given by Chuck Huntting and Nancy Minthorne. The four senior speakers were Barbra Basom, Claire Fronville, Sue Wellons, and Craig Petrie.

Leo Marty, trainer for the Portland Trailblazers, was the guest speaker. Diplomas were then presented by Jim Schell, Lee Knight, Gay Schroeder and Mr. Sam Melrose.

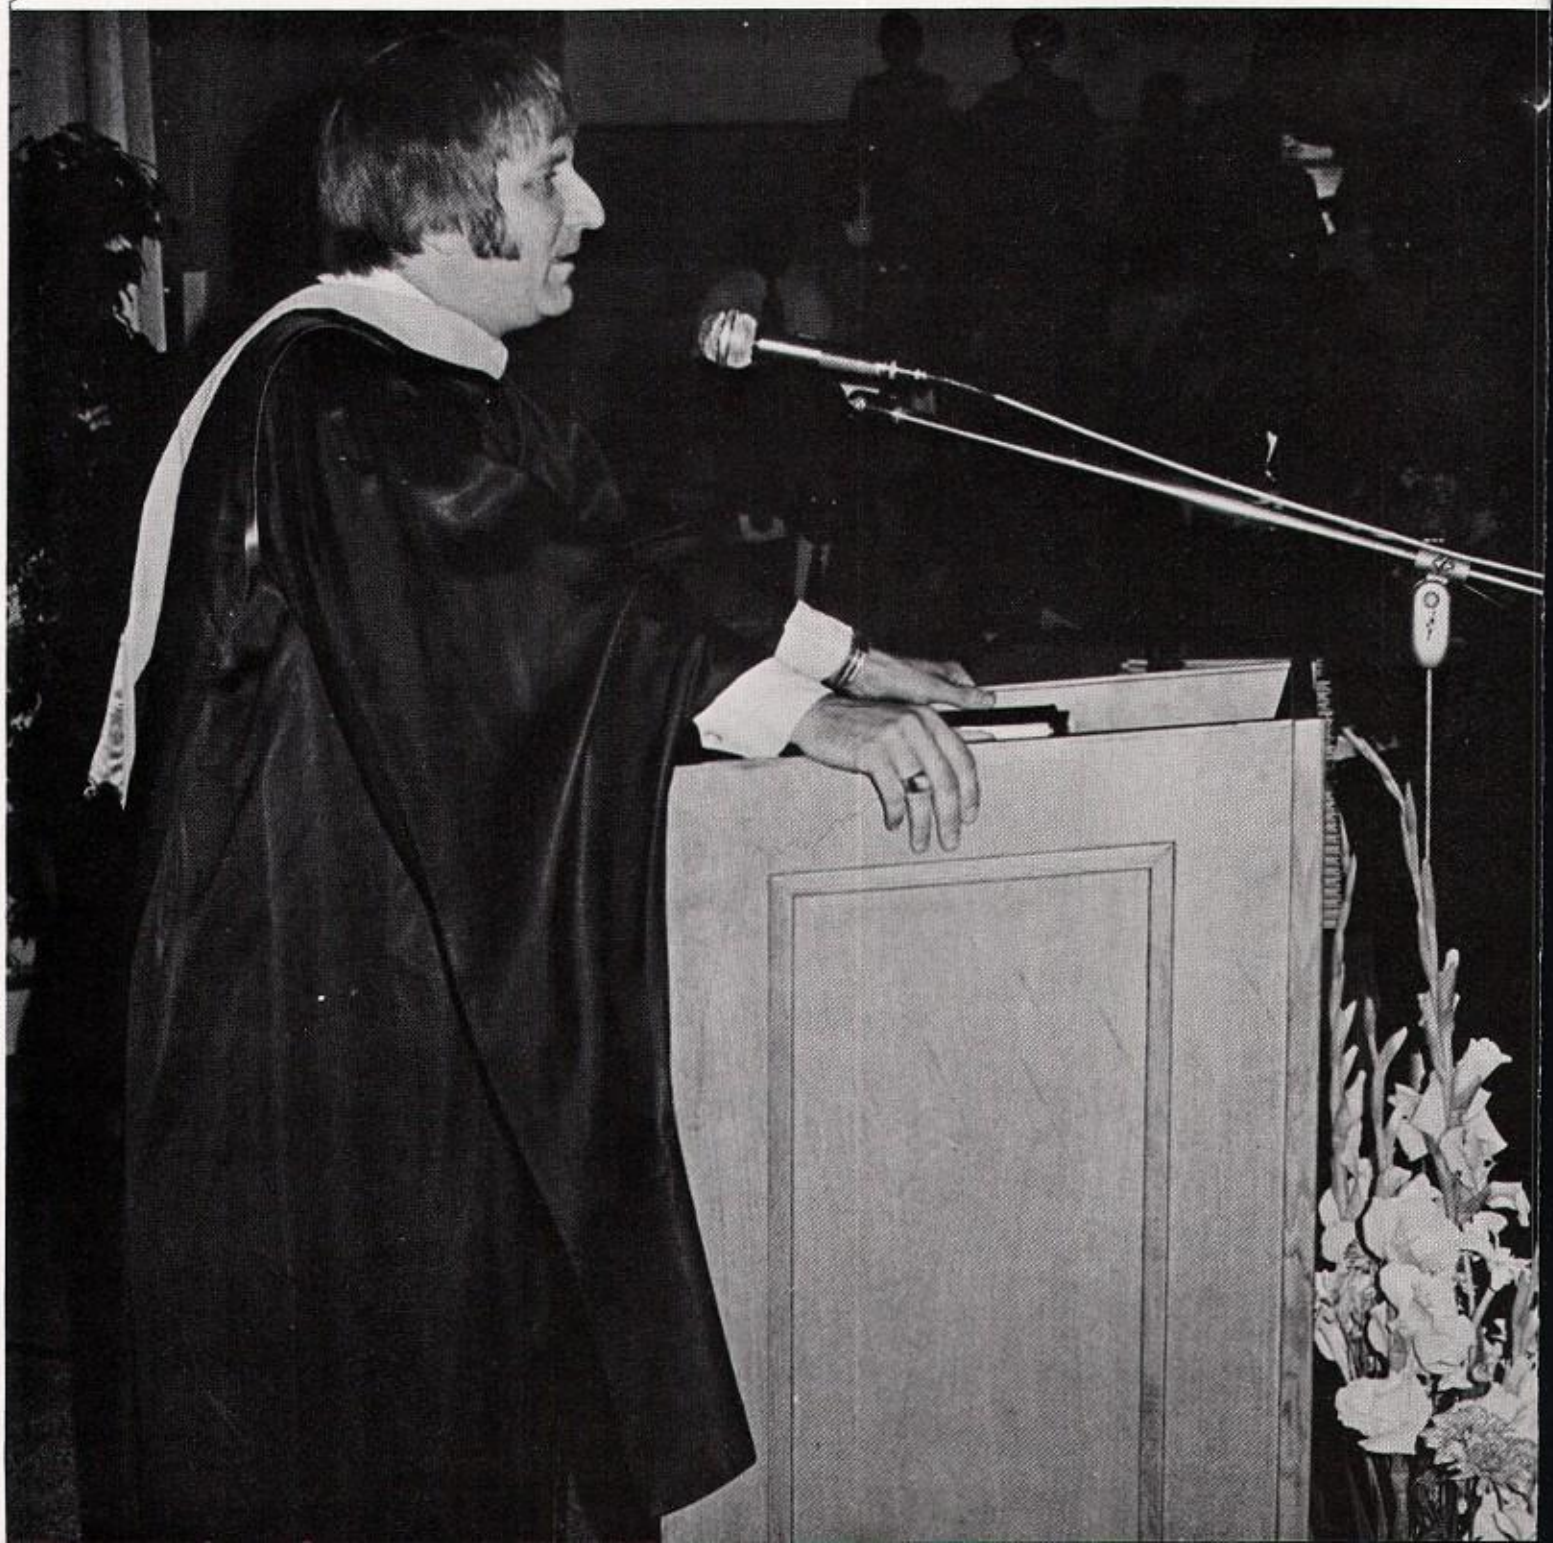

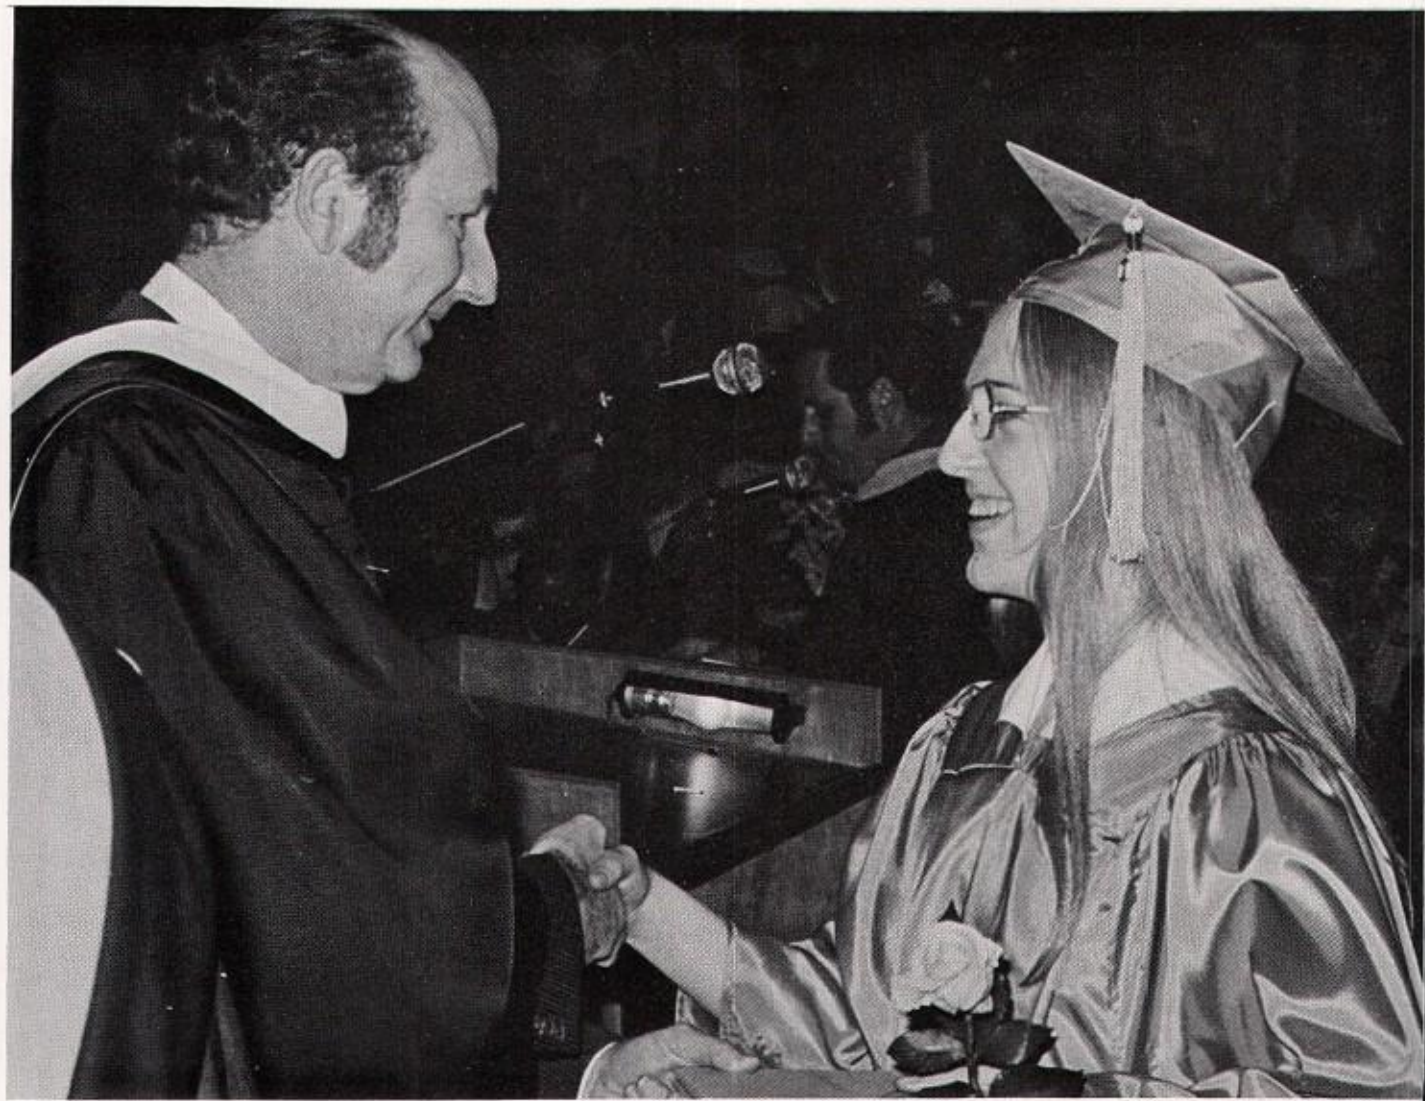

The ceremony ended with Nancy Berentson giving the benediction, and the class of '74 became Lakeridge graduates.

SENIOR PARTY

All night affair for over 200 graduates

Graduation ended at 10 p.m. but for over 200 seniors the evening had just begun. After changing from their caps and gowns the emotional seniors boarded busses for an unknown destination.

The destination was the Canby Grange Hall and here the new graduates danced and ate until the early morning hours. The group Law and Order played for listening as well as dancing pleasure.

After the dance the still emotional graduates went off to the Canby Pool for an early morning dip. Here they swam, had chicken fights, and threw a few unwilling swimmers into the pool.

The time now was about 3:30 a.m. and both the graduates and the chaperones were exhausted but the evening was still not over. Breakfast was served at homes in the area and finally the seniors boarded the busses for Lakeridge and home.

PACER CLUB

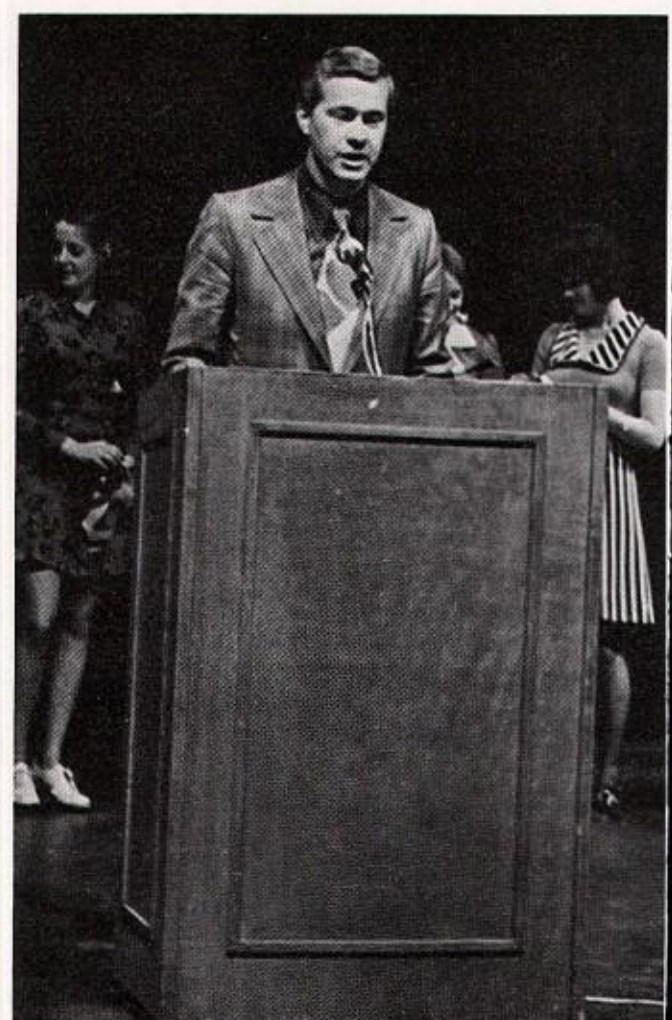

Parents work for benefit of the school

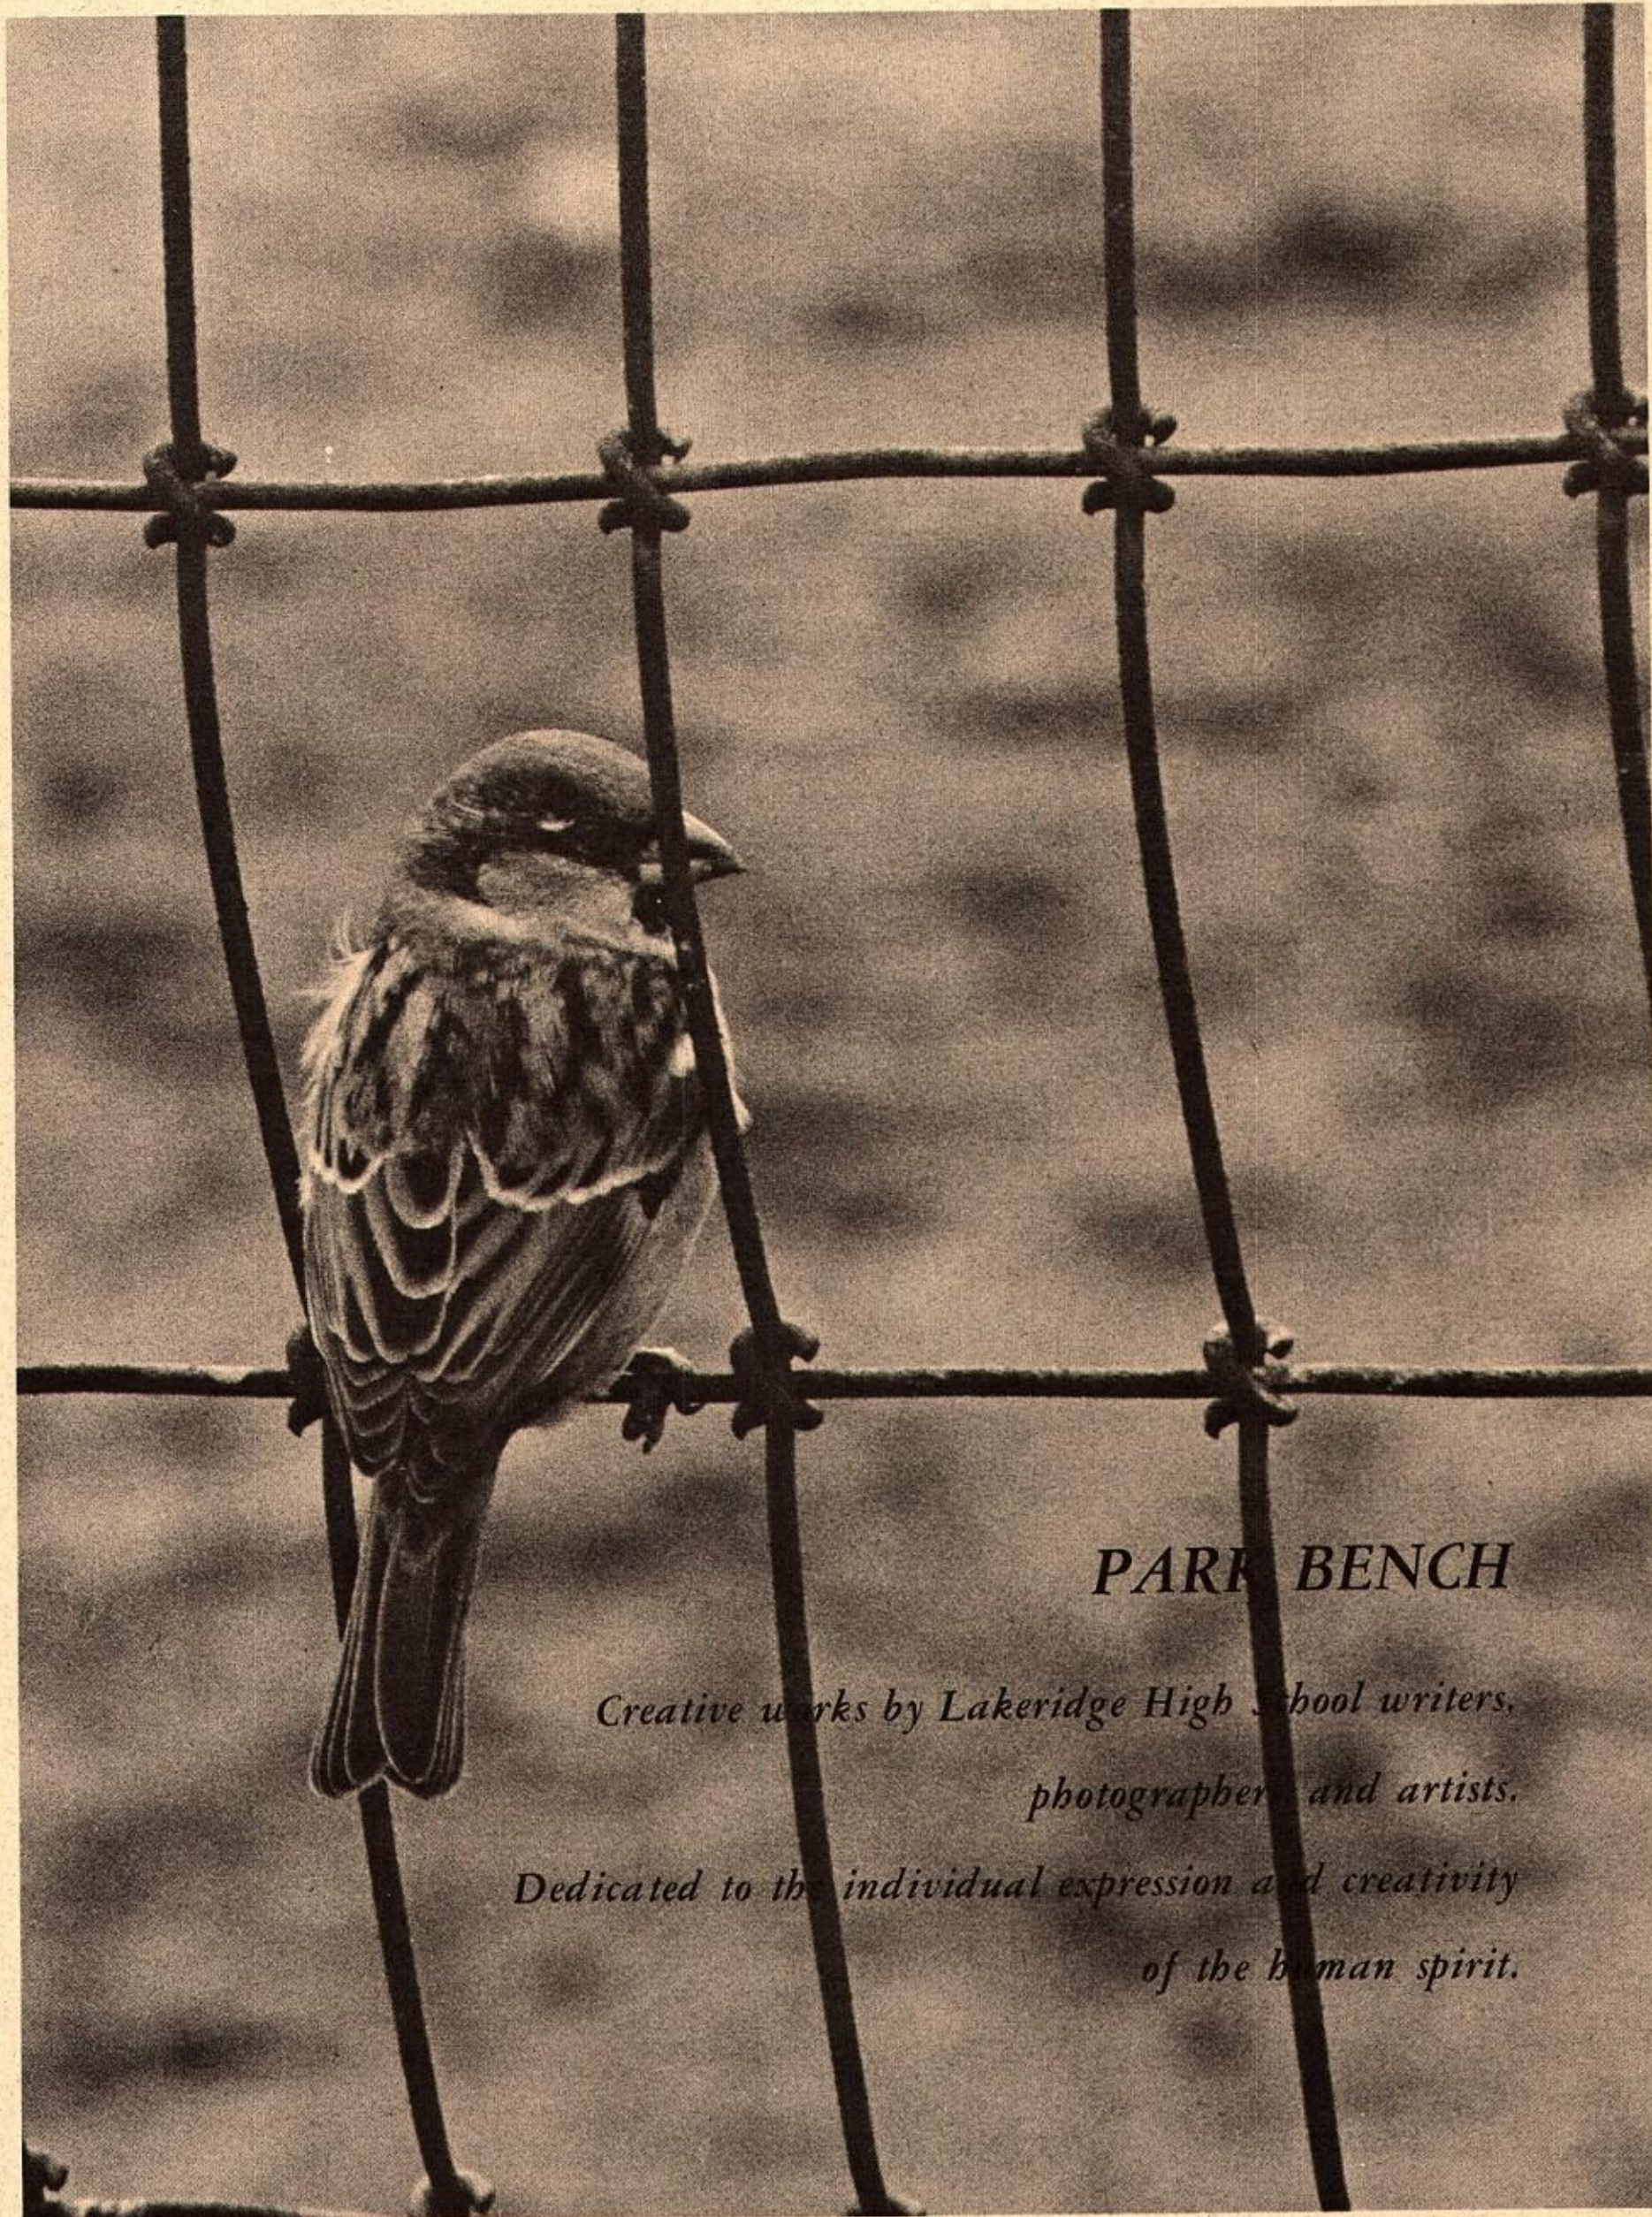

The Pacer Club, a group of dedicated parents, served Lakeridge in many valuable ways. Both fathers and mothers of students became involved in school activities throughout the year.

During sports seasons, many fathers donated time to helping control crowds at evening games and sell food at the concession stands. Several of the ladies assisted the school by helping with office and secretarial work. A few parents were members of the Lakeridge Assembly as representatives of the community.

Many others were involved in helping develop the curriculum, serving as advisors.

From one season to the next, parents aided in the support and presentation of awards and scholarships, both athletically and academically. When spring arrived, many parents were involved in the planning of May Week and worked especially hard for Community Day. At the closing of the year, parents were solely responsible for organizing and chaperoning the Senior Party.

THE THERAPY FOR SPRING
(April 8, 1968)

Martin Luther King is Dead!
And if this be a tragedy,
What, then are these
Feeble lamentations?
If, in some poor, sad way
They're gestures of a subtle
Self-congratulation —
Gestures to assuage the Sense of Guilt, the Sin of Non-involvement —
What then?

The Bullet was shaped by Complacency.
The Trigger was squeezed
Three-hundred Years ago!
And is it altogether false to Say that a Nation's Character
Is its Fate?
And is it necessary to mention that
Blood has just One color?
And if anyone must be reminded,
Inspect your hands . . .
But not too
Carefully.

David McCormick

help me to understand the intangible barrier
you have constructed to keep me out
small talk and etiquette
sharply cutting knives to pierce my hesitant hand
as it nears the border that is the outskirts of your soul

and so i back away
perplexed
to try once again and yet again until i discover what lies beyond
why are you afraid
i approach unarmed

We watched the waters come —
 Spilling over parched stones
 And licking pieces of dust
 Slowly at first —
 As though drowning our knees.
 Our bodies felt warm
 Within us a new circulation —
 Breathing and not breathing
 Seeming to falter
 Suddenly
 and then gradually
 Relieving the aged skin
 And letting it die
 letting it die
 it die
 die

Our new bodies emerging touching everything from within everything from without Shattering!
 Our stone castles fell in ruins
 about our feet
 We stepped out
 our arms raised.

If I Care

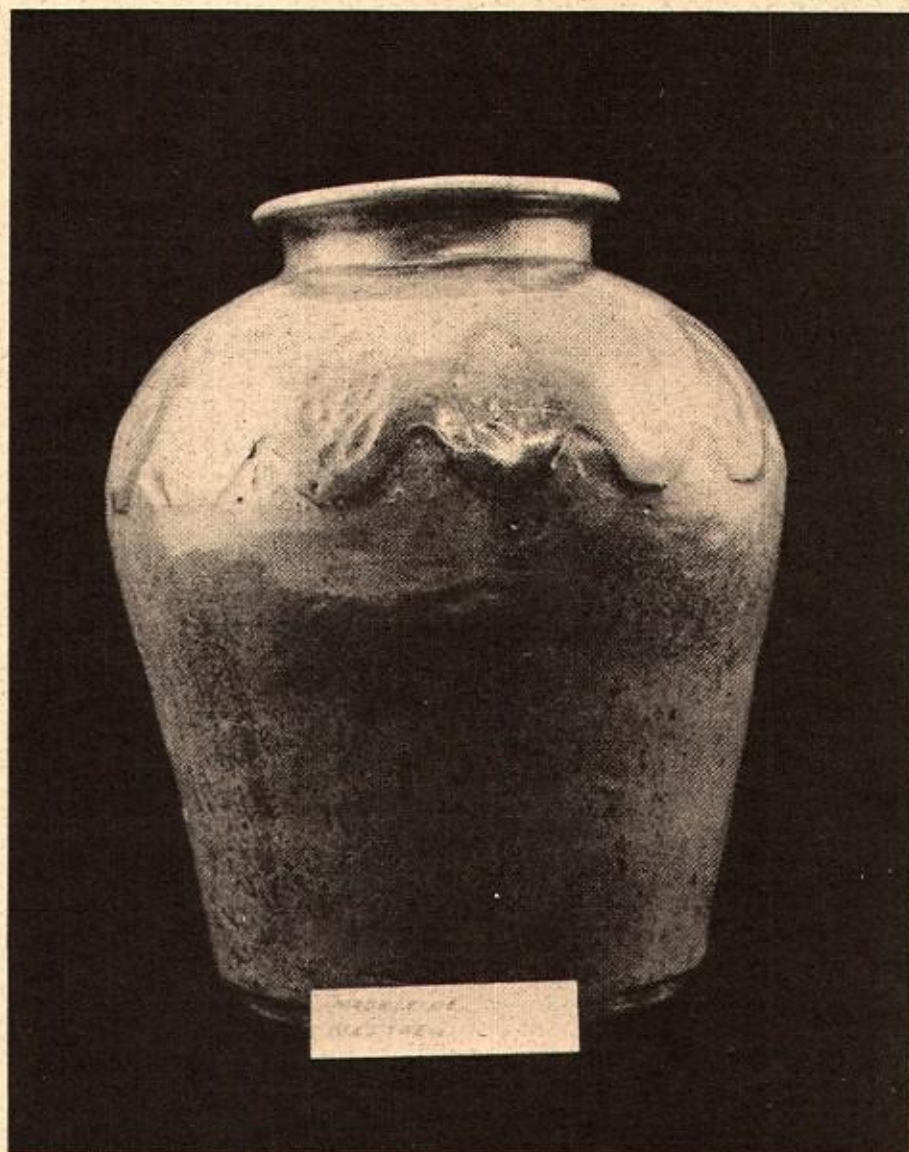

*Walking along
Dreaming of what is to be,
Or what may come to pass,
If I care to make it happen.*

*Gazing at the stars
So alone, so deep in thought,
Pondering all of the wonders around me,
If I care to open my eyes.*

*Racing through the crowd
Looking at people that aren't really there,
Wondering how they exist as they do,
If I care to help them become.*

*Grasping for the truth
Thinking of hate, of fear and injustice,
Grimacing as I view this sorry world,
If I care to open my mind.*

INSANITY

Some may say I'm crazy
And I usually agree
But insanity is so much fun
Why not join up with me?

And when I count to 26
We'll all scream and shout
Fingers will point and eyes will stare, but
We know what life's about.

We know because we fool them
Every day we'll say
Did you know that life's tomorrow is Yesterday's today?

I THINK I SEE THE LIGHT

There was an old man (bearded, etc.)
standing in the snow
on the uppermost peak of the highest mountain
He held in his hand a lantern that was the only illumination to be seen.
However, there was a small disc in the sky just above the man.
He set down his lantern carefully among the rocks
so it would not tumble down
the mountainside.
His arms extended with his whole body reaching he grasped the disc firmly with his fingers on each side.
He pulled. CRACK

A yolk and white,
slithering poured over the man and down the mountain into each crevice, every corner and on throughout the land.
Silvery, shining emptied into the night.
The old man called it Moonlight.

A FREE MAN

I was alone, there was no one else but me
And I stood in the valley of the solitary tree
And I knew that soon a change would come over me
I would leave and I, very different, would be.

So I waited for hours and I waited for days
And I saw the horizon was a purplish haze
I had come over mountains and across the sea
"Be alone, and let no one come with you," said he.

Chorus: When a man stands naked, then a man stands free
Don't know 'bout other people, I am only me
Try to understand, perhaps someday you will see
When a man stands naked, then a man stands free.

He had summoned me through time, I don't know how or why
He had answers to questions asking live and die.
But he wasn't there at all and I began to cry
And I screamed for an answer and I searched the sky.

I began to have a vision, all the clouds came down
And I knew that someday I would wear that crown
There were voices, someone whispered something in my ear
Was it wind . . . I heard words but I pretended not to hear.

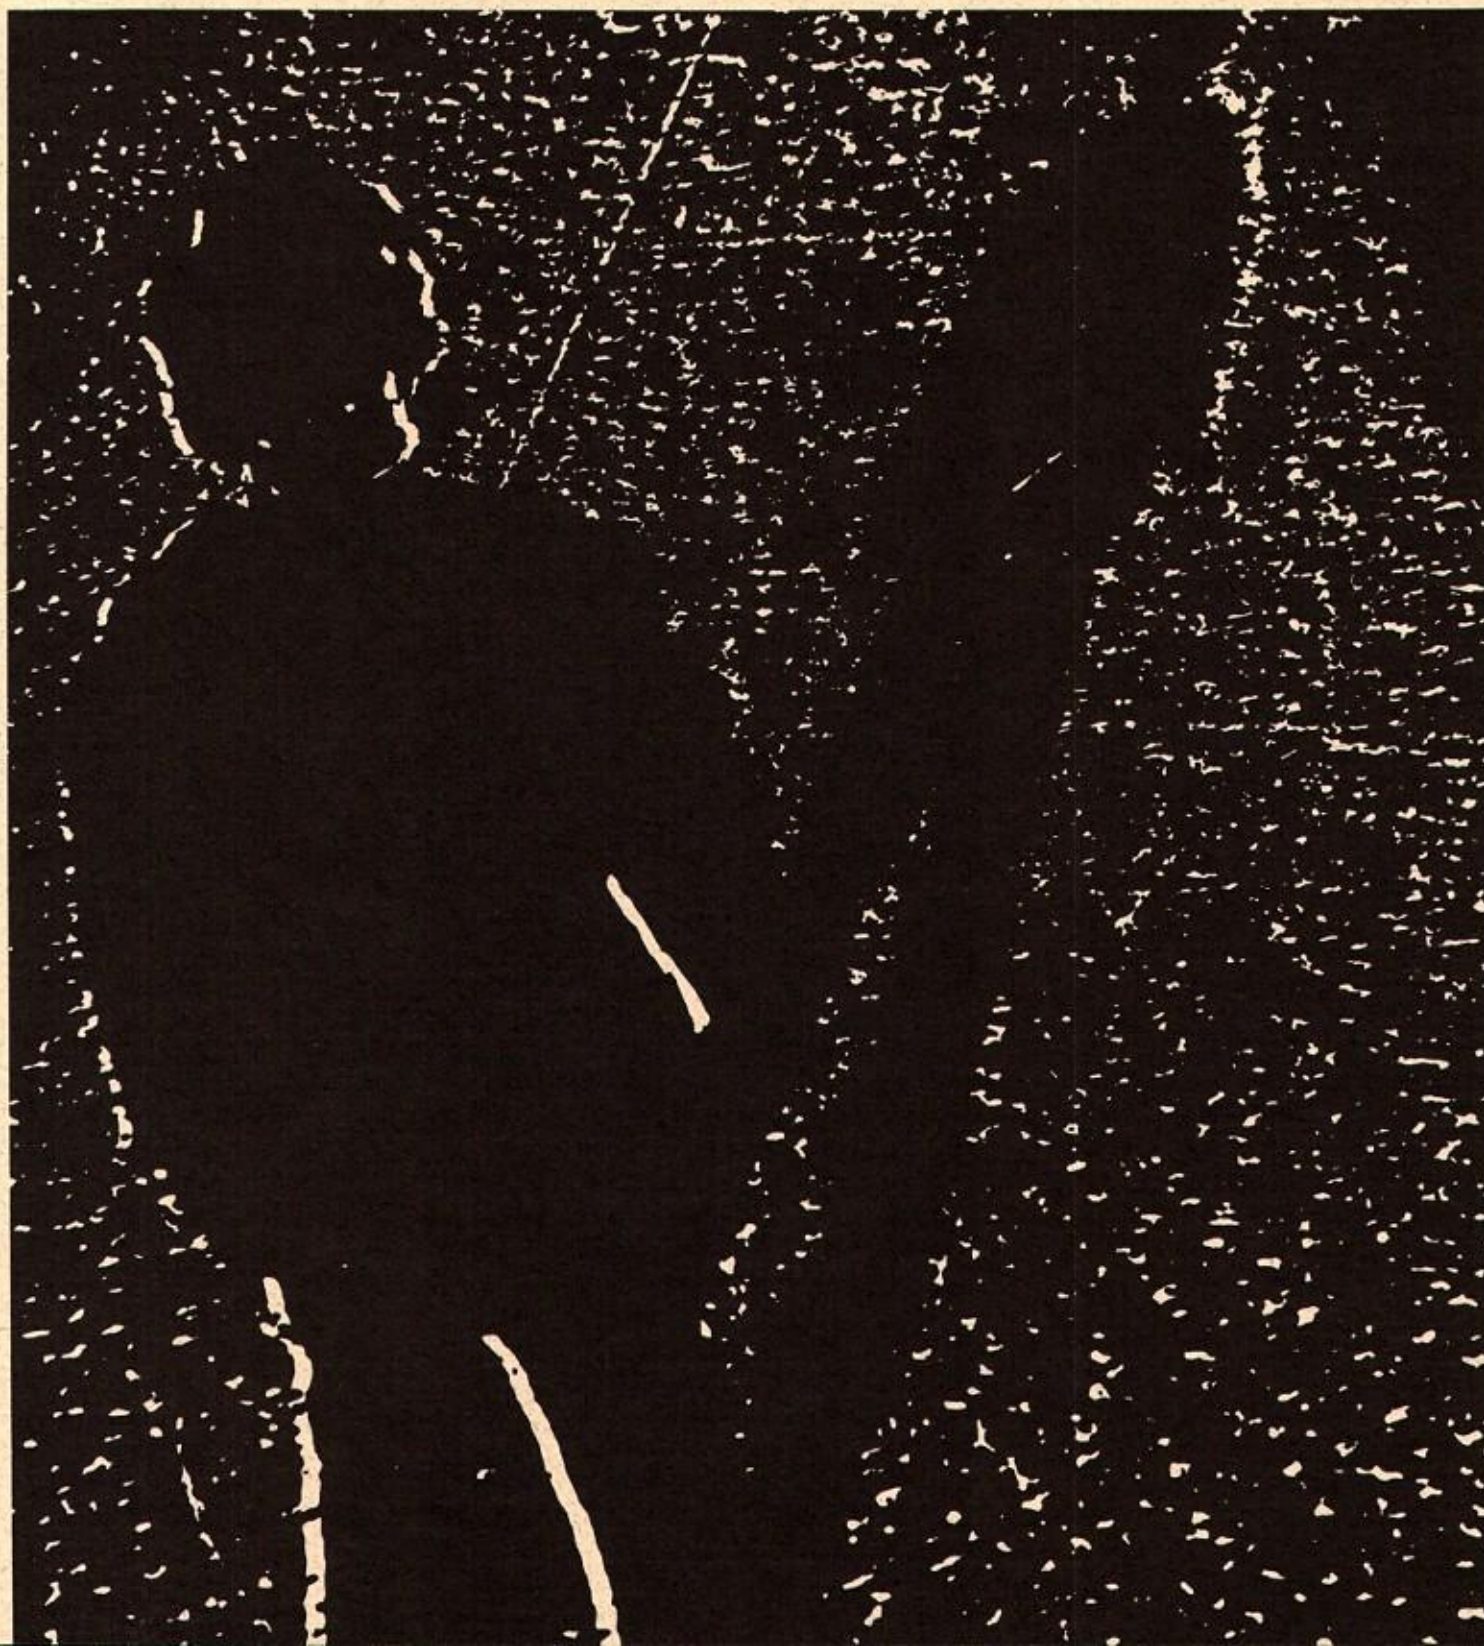

Chorus: When a man stands naked, then a man stands free
Don't know 'bout other people, I am only me
Try to understand, perhaps someday you will see
When a man stands naked, then a man stands free.

Now I live with other people, but I realize
That if someday I vanished, no one would be surprised
People know there's something different in the way I am
Something beautifully simple in the freest man.

Chorus: On one bright new morning, everyone will see Chains fall off, burdens lifted and the nations agree
It's a new revelation there for all to see,
When a man stands naked, then a man stands free.

A SONG

Sunshine showed its warmth in nineteen 54
Just when I thought I was on the wrong side of the door
Stranger in the closet tryin' to find the sun
Looking for some answers, learning how to run

Then the days grew shorter as the warmth grew in
I smiled for awhile and remembered way back when
My head was in the rain and my thoughts were insane
To be thinking of bringing a new way to live

Some nights it was my pillow resting underneath the stars
Trying to find a way to find out who you are Somedays she was a maverick and somedays she was a saint
I just think that radio will play our song someday

Crawlin' in from out the closet
Lord, she finally showed her soul
Could it be that she was actually that sunny glow
I just don't think I'll ever know and I don't think I'll try

ENGLISH

Largest department has winning year

The Lakeridge English team continued to do its best to keep education progressing. Being the only class required for four years in the Oswego district, the English department is Lakeridge High School's largest. Heading the team was Mr. Mike Wendt.

Classes and curriculum remained the same for freshmen, sophomores, and juniors while again seniors were given options on their second semester courses.

Again emphasis was placed on greater utilization of the resource center. Mrs. Millie Bernard was the English department aide in managing books, typing, and other tasks that were required.

Guests to the English department were student teachers Mr. Phil Weeks and Miss Chris Swanson, who were both attending Lewis and Clark College.

FRONT ROW: Mr. Bob Hamm, Mr. Phil Weeks, Mr. Mike Goertz, Mr. Dave McCormick, Mr. Mike Wendt, Mr. Ben Vose.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Department members change mid-year

The history department started off the year with change and the rest of the year followed suit. Mr. Maurice Reece was named department head replacing Mr. Don Robertson. The most notable change was the operation of the resource center. It was run by a full-time aide, Mrs. Chris Owings. A new procedure was set up for checking out books. Contrary to preceding years and other resource centers, students were not allowed inside the boundary of the shelves. Students received books over the counter, signing the "checkout" card with their name and library number.

Shortly before the end of the first semester, Mr. Don Robertson vacated his position as senior history teacher, joining the Oregon Education Association. Mrs. Pam Pries took the place of Mr. Elwood Ostram, who moved to the position vacated by Robertson.

In January, the freshmen saw the movie, "Nicholas and Alexandra," which supplemented their unit on Russia and its history.

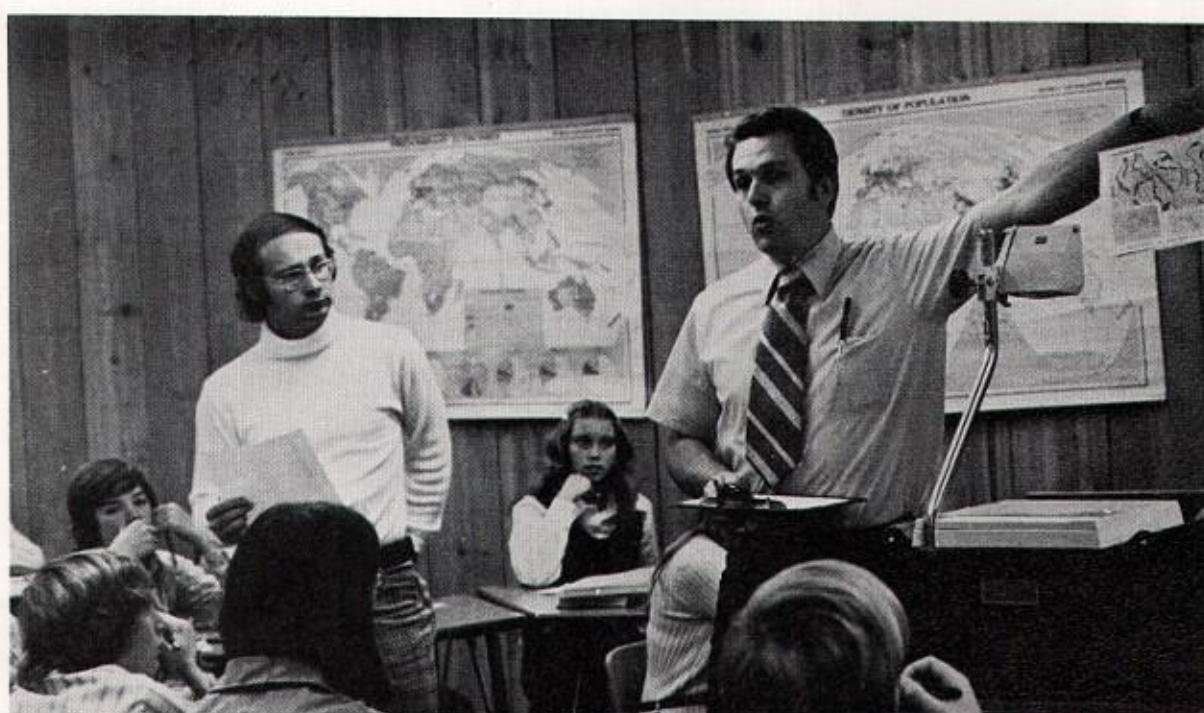

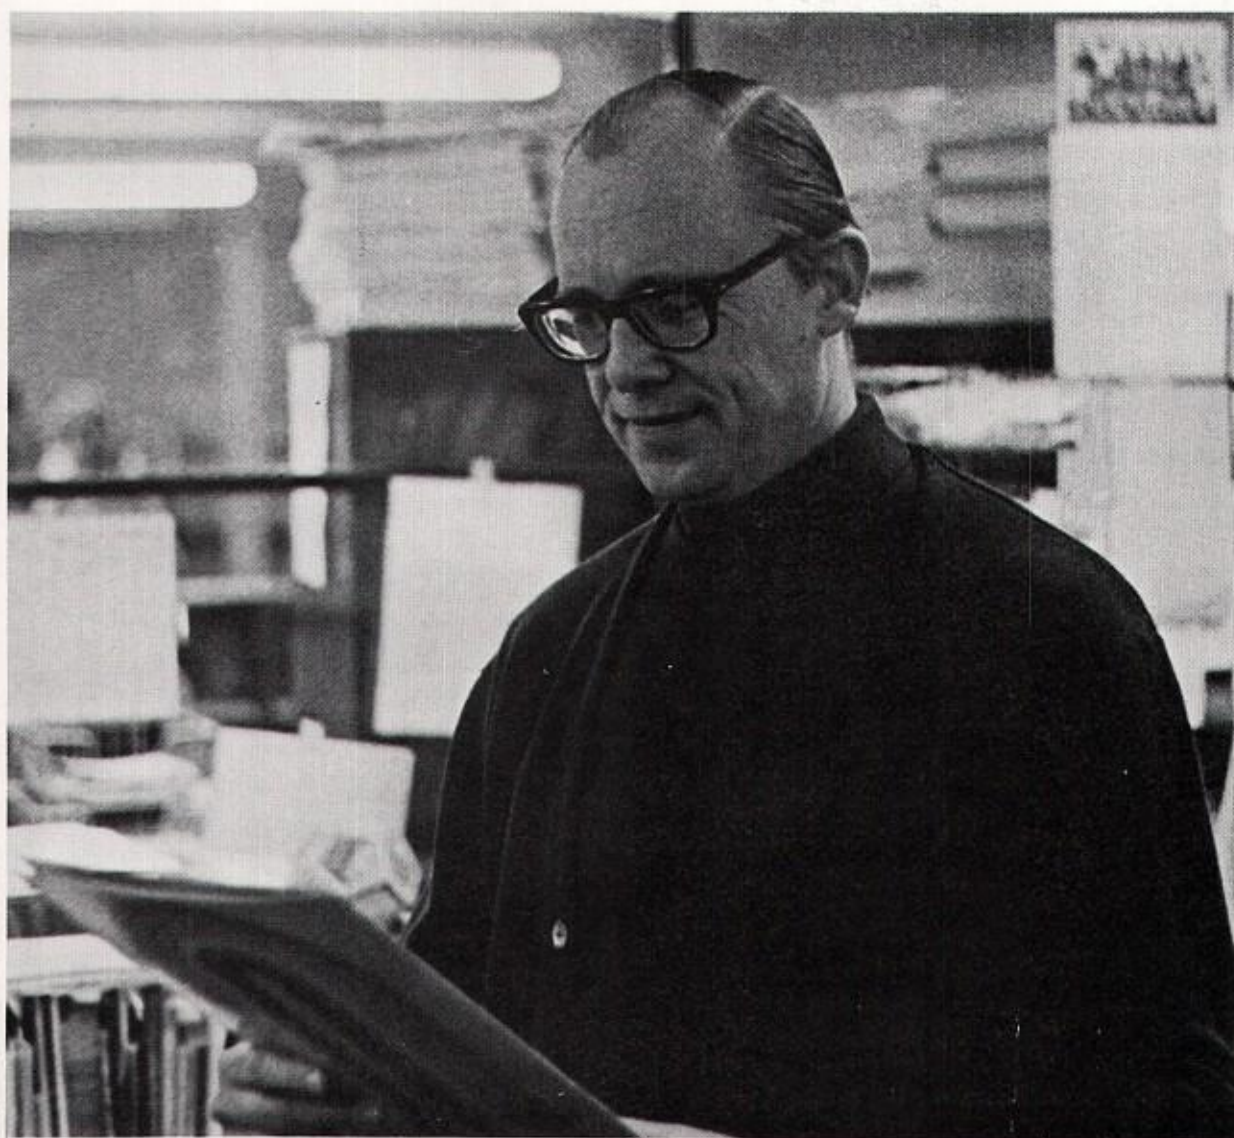

The Youth Legislature was again held in Salem, with a group of interested students from Lakeridge attending. The group was aided and headed by Mr. John Turchi.

Community Service was a new class offered for juniors and seniors. Students were assigned to a business or service in Lake Oswego or Portland area, where they put in many hours of valuable work and time.

Miss Bev Kelsven coordinated efforts for a major portion of the junior history classes to attend the Multnomah County Courthouse and observe courtroom procedures. In addition, guest lawyers came and spoke to the junior classes. All of this was in preparation for a mock trial. The mock trial was an unconventional learning tool that achieved the two-fold process of combining learning and student enjoyment.

MATH

Teachers interact with over 900 students

Everything from basic mathematics to calculus was offered in the math department. Mr. Charles Geldaker led the department in the objective of forming an exciting program to involve every math student.

The math-science resource center played a major part in the curriculum. It was managed by Mrs. Louise Christianson. She was kept busy with textbooks and various other duties. The department also offered a variety of extra studies to be done during Independent Study Periods.

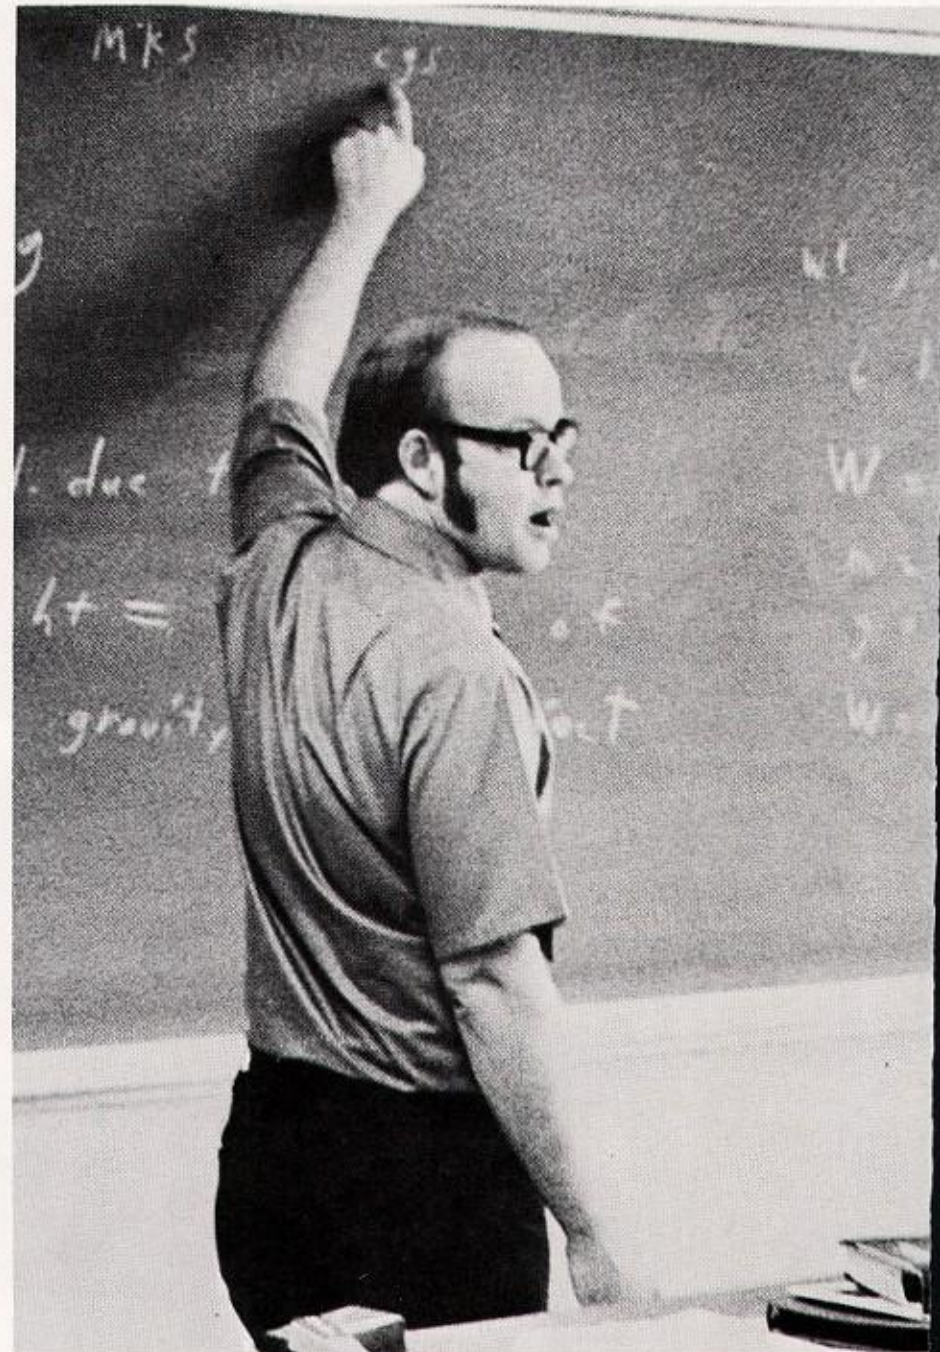

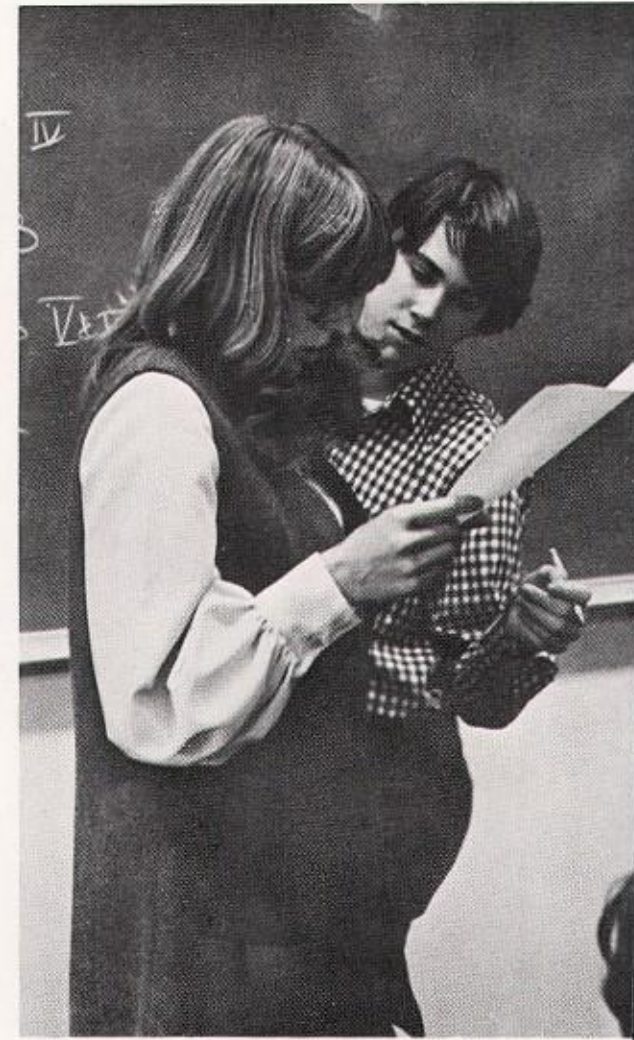

The computers and small calculators were a great help in working out long and difficult problems quickly. Students taking computer science under Mr. Geldaker learned the capabilities of the computer and how to operate other small calculators.

The math department hosted a student teacher from Oregon State University, Mr. Mike Ringo. He taught two classes and also helped to coach the wrestling team.

The math department continued to expand to meet the growing needs of the student body.

SCIENCE

Mentors play roles in extra-curriculars

The science department had another outstanding year, with more classes offered in different fields. A new chemistry class was set up, along with more quarter classes available to juniors and seniors.

All of the science teachers played dual roles this year at Lakeridge. In addition to their teaching positions, the science mentors played important parts in extra-curricular activities.

Mr. John Fossatti, Mr. John Sanders, and Mr. Jim Sather were all involved in sports.

Mr. Fossatti was a head coach for golf, was involved in the football program, and handled official scorekeeping at Pacer basketball games. He taught biology and environmental quality, too.

Mr. Sanders served as wrestling coach and JV football coach. In addition he was a biology and photography instructor.

Mr. Sather was JV basketball coach and helped out in the football press box. He also monitored the chemistry room.

Mr. Robert Raes and Mr. Ed Markusen combined their efforts for the bike-a-thon for Lakeridge scholarships. Mr. Raes is also a biology and health teacher while Mr. Markusen is the senior biology teacher on the staff.

Mr. Keith McGraw was this year's department head. Mr. McGraw also participated in many skits at school assemblies and taught Earth-Space science.

BUSINESS

Experienced staff uses modern teaching methods

A new class was offered by the business department this year. Investment and Money Management, along with the other fine business classes taught by Mr. Charles Nipp were a big reason why the enrollment is one of the biggest in the school.

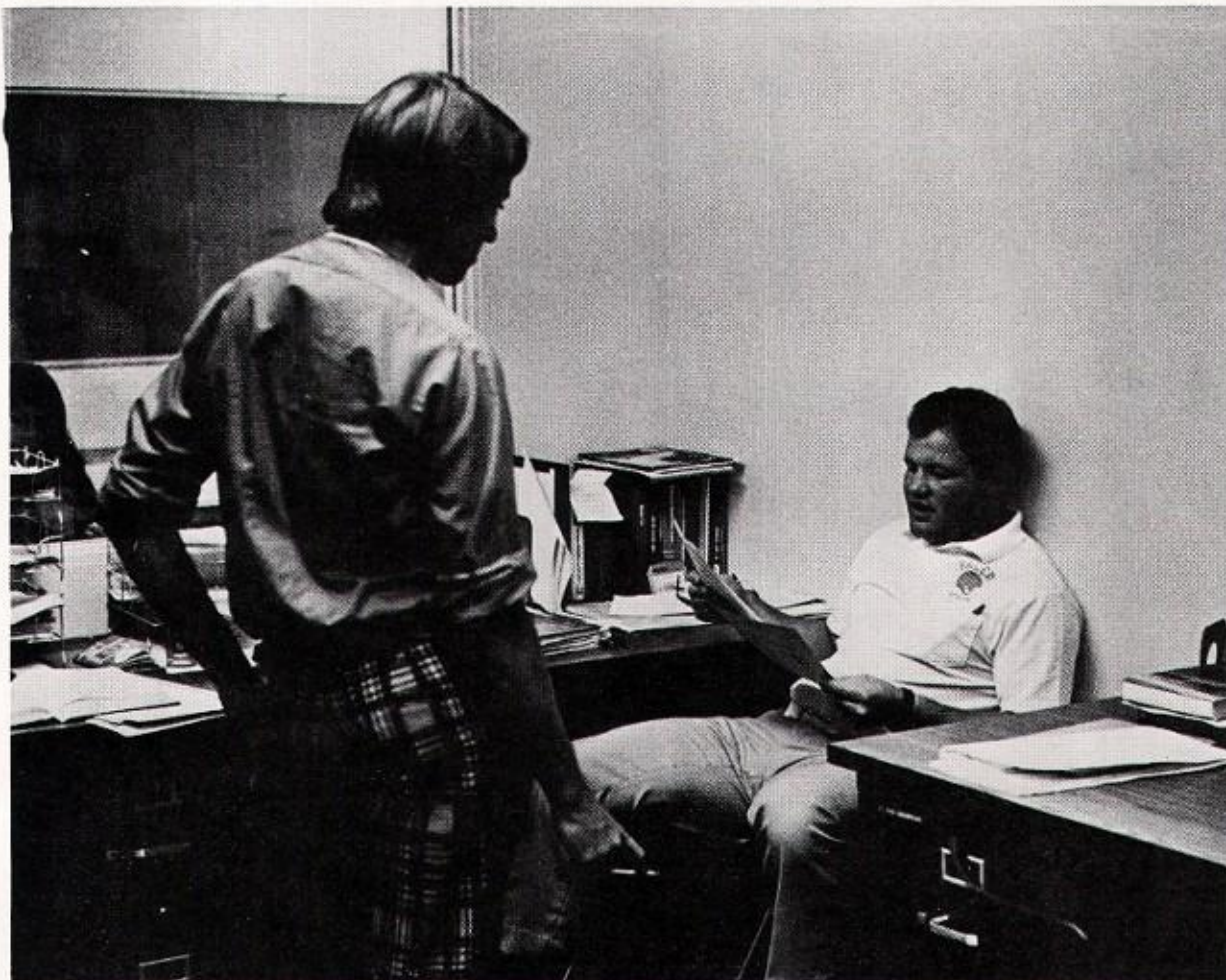

Other curriculum offered was Business Law, taught by Mr. Jerry Grossen, Typing, Model Office, and Shorthand were taught by Mrs. Evelyn Matthews.

These skills were taught to prepare students for a business career or their personal use. It also gave them a chance to develop skills in areas that they are particularly interested in.

A new requirement for graduation was also added this year. All incoming freshmen are now required to take a business course during their four years of high school. This new requirement was needed to prepare students for possible occupations in the business world.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

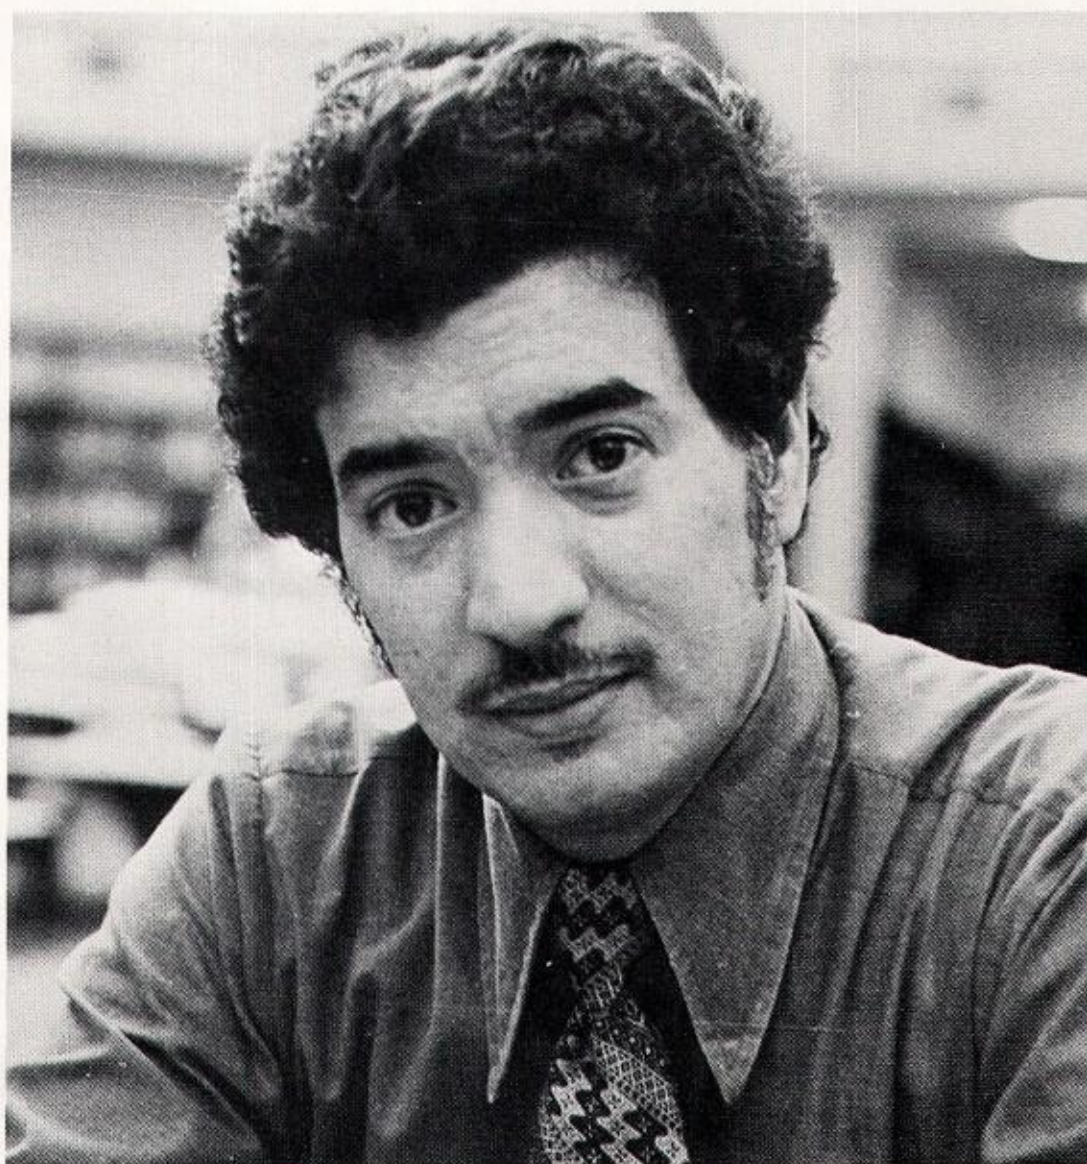

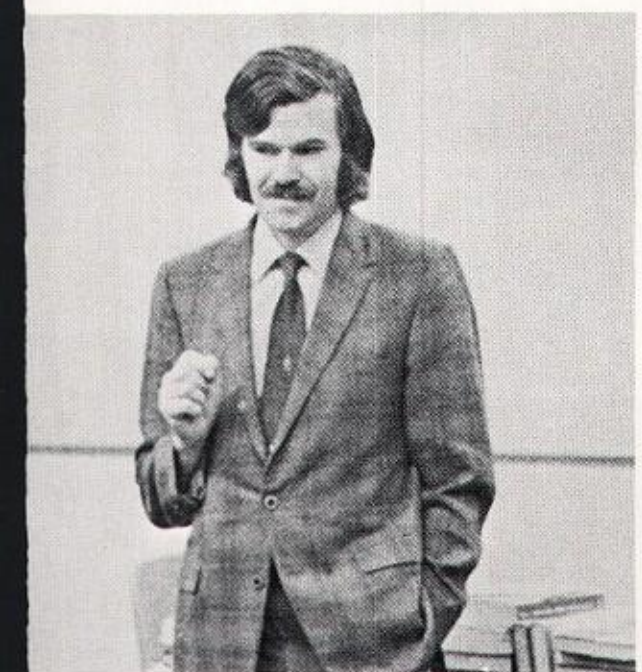

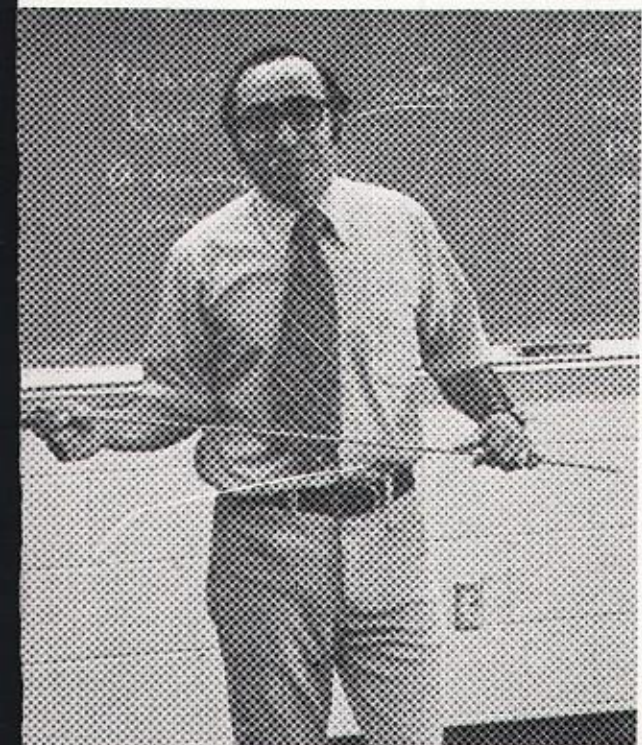

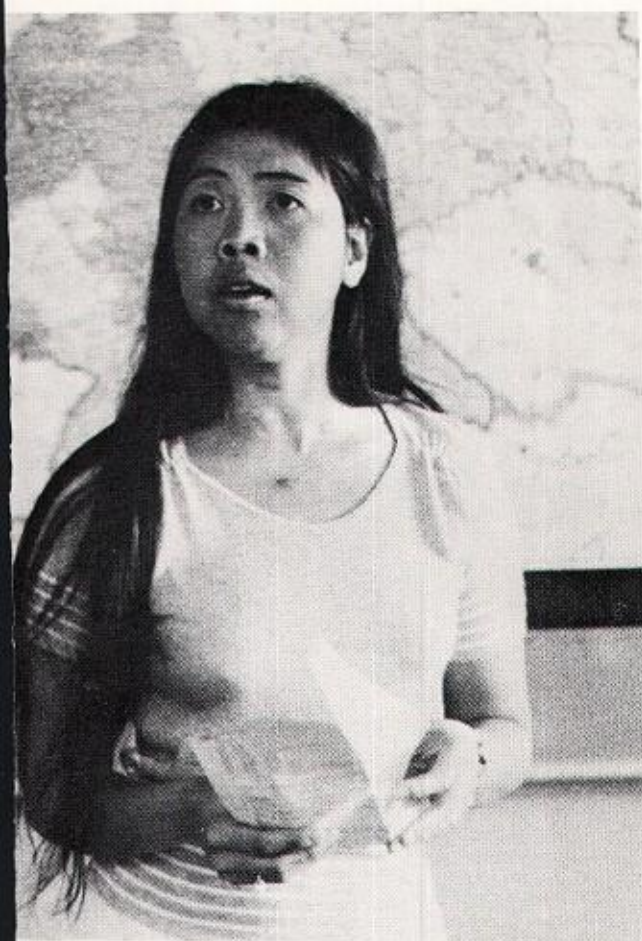

Graduation requirements demand new classes

The foreign language department attracted many students this year by offering a fine curriculum taught by superb teachers. Mr. George Sonera and Mr. Larry Rodriguez taught Spanish, Mr. Ray Post taught French, and German was taught by Mrs. Mila Loupal. Those students wishing to take Latin must travel to Lake Oswego High School.

The most modern teaching techniques were offered to students to help improve their listening and speaking ability. Students were able to use tapes, tape recorders, and records. One challenging aspect for more advanced students was that little or no English was used in class.

Student teachers proved to be a big asset to the foreign language staff this year, especially the Spanish department. Assisting Mr. Sonera and Mr. Rodriguez was Mrs. Norma Matias. Many students are finding that knowing another language comes in handy for future years.

HOME ECONOMICS

Boys enroll in cooking classes

This year's home economics courses were taught by Miss Patti Hammond, Mrs. Suzanne Hayes, and Mrs. Joanne Healea.

The students acquired basic skills through courses in cooking, sewing, and child development.

Classes in marriage were also offered as part of the health requirement.

The cooking courses covered the areas of meats, desserts, breads, fruits and soups. The students ate what they prepared and sometimes shared some of the food with members of the faculty.

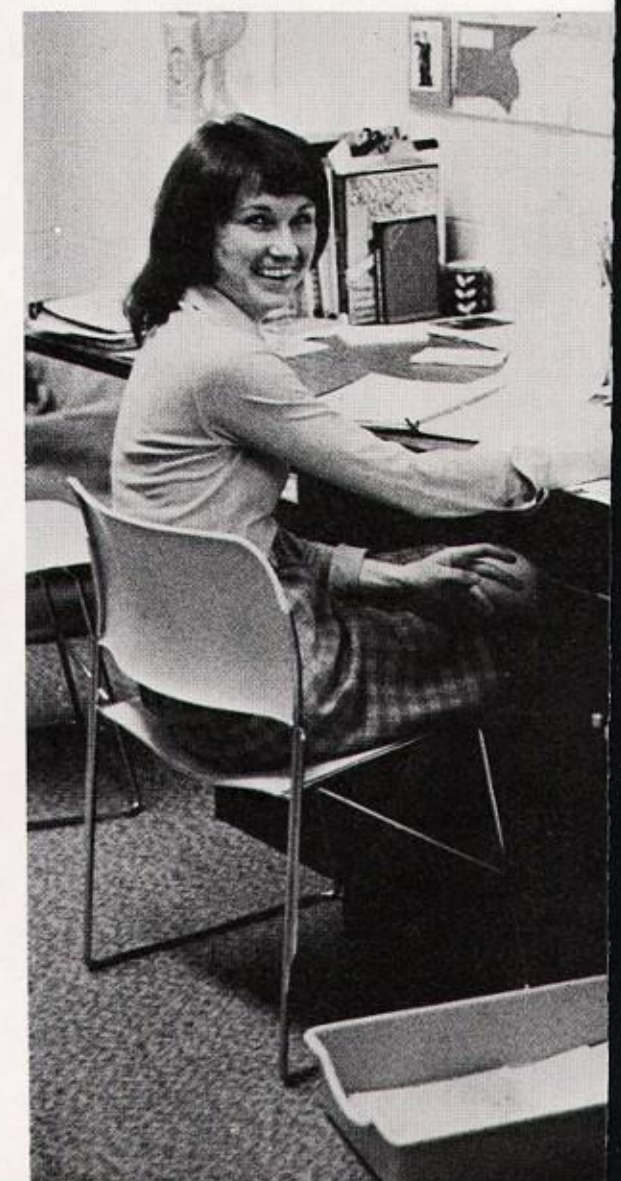

Aside from the basic courses, some electives offered were boys cooking, creative cooking, hand-crafts, home furnishings, and an advanced cooking and clothing workshop.

This year's enrollment in the home economics department was 235 students.

Boys furthering their domestic talents made up a large percentage of the students.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Students make plans to build new house

The industrial arts curriculum this year helped students in developing their own individual interests in areas such as building trades, electronics, automotive, drafting, metals, and wood crafts.

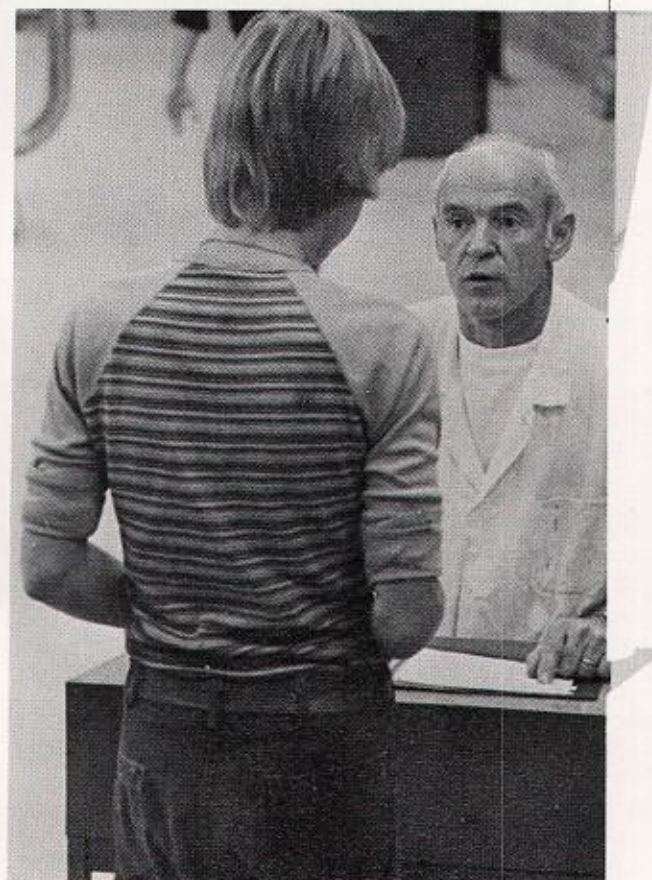

Many of the courses were designed to give the students first hand experience in learning new skills and techniques. Courses such as Vocational Automotive 1 and 2, and Building Trades 1 and 2 helped the student for a job entry.

In building trades the students made ticket booths, concession stands and something new this year, the students and Mr. Lou Grant bought a lot so they can build a new house in 1974.

The teachers were Mr. Lou Grant, Mr. Robert Zimmerman, and Mr. Chuck Smith.

P.E. - HEALTH

Few changes made in department

Few changes were made in the physical education department, as a very workable routine has been in use for two years. Still a required class for two and a half years of high school, PE enabled students to get some exercise and enjoy themselves while fulfilling a requirement.

Activities included "American ball" (a variation of football), dodgeball, volleyball, weight training, basketball, track, and two-pitch softball. One quarter of health was again required for the freshmen, and for three weeks the sophomores participated in square dancing.

Elective PE, a course designed for juniors and seniors who have completed the required physical education classes, allowed interested students to develop their skills in individual sports that they are more likely to play throughout their lives than team sports. They took part in units of golf and bowling, among others.

Health classes were taught by Mr. Royce McDaniel and Mr. Robert Raes, as well as by student teacher Mr. Larry Soto. The health curriculum remained pretty much the same as last year.

THEATRE ARTS

Many students show talent in school

The theatre arts class met eighth and ninth periods in either the choir room, the amphitheatre, or a room in the English wing, depending on where the instructor, Mr. Ben Vose, needed to be at the time. The class provided instruction in lighting and other technical aspects of production as well as giving on stage experience to student-actors. Theatre games that cultivated acting talent, poise, and speaking ability were a large part of the program.

Several plays and productions were prepared for and presented to the elementary schools in Lake Oswego. They included "Doctor in Spite of Himself" and a "Punch and Judy" show.

History of the theatre was another large part of the course, with an entire quarter devoted to this subject.

For those involved, the theatre arts class was an enjoyable and worthwhile learning experience.

FORENSICS

Team grows in size and strength

This year the Lakeridge Forensics team grew in size and strength over the past two years. Many underclassmen joined the squad, while returning upperclassmen continued to bring home over 30 awards and honors for the year.

The many hours of experience at various college campuses took the group to tournaments across the state. The end of the season led some members to the district tournament and on to the state contest.

Participants in the state affair were Doug Banasky, Kevin Swan, Paul Johnson, Audrey Ellenberg, Richard Snowden, Mark Viteznik.

This year the team became recognized as a charter member of the National Forensics League, a nationwide debate and speech honor club. This enrollment made Lakeridge eligible for the NFL contest, a well-earned honor for coach Mike Goertz and students.

The group experienced the teaching talents of student instructor Mr. Phil Weeks, from Lewis and Clark College, during the fall quarter.

Everything considered, this was truly the most gratifying year from the standpoint of everyone involved in speech. Lakeridge turned the corner and established itself as a state Forensics power, gaining much recognition from other schools and becoming one of the most respected high schools in the state.

JOURNALISM

Largest staff ever turns out biweekly newspaper

Working under advisor Dave McCormick, the journalism department turned out 14 papers. The project of the students in the journalism class this year was to turn out the bi-weekly student school newspaper.

The largest staff ever was assembled. This enabled more students to specialize in different fields with the end product showing this diversity.

Spending many extra hours after school, the editors along with the staff worked to write copy, take pictures, type, and paste up the newspaper. The staff was assigned a story every fortnight and it was their responsibility to turn that story in to the editor by a specific date. The story would then be corrected for mistakes and handed back to the writer to correct and re-type. This would be handed to the editor, and paste-up would follow that day.

The responsibility was then left in the hands of either the advisor or the editors to deliver the unprinted copy to the Lake Grove Printers, and then to pick up all the copies of the newspaper when ready.

Deadlines difficult to meet

Producing the yearbook was not an easy job. A lot of time and work went into each page of the most expensive single item connected with Lakeridge High School. Each page involved the design for the layout and transferring the layout to the paste-up boards. Then copy had to be written and pictures printed that were taken at the time an event occurred.

The 1973-74 Symposium staff was a hard working group of people. Many hours were spent on weekends and after school to complete the book. Mr. Maurice Reece was the yearbook adviser. The whole staff would like to express their thanks to him.

The Symposium staff included Bill Connington, Cindy Boyer, Becky Brabham, Guy Cameron, Pat Crowell, Tom Eilertson, Judy Falla, Ken Gates, Richard Guard, Christi Jaspers, Jeff Jensen, John Lefferts, Mike Lynch, Nancy Markee, Jole McMurdie, Carolyn Meece, Leslie Meredith, Mike Minoque, Barb Pearson, Nick Pothetes, Peter Scrogin, John Smets, Vickie Street, Wayne Taylor, Craig Wagner, and Paul Wolfe.

PHOTOGRAPHY

Many students choose popular elective

The photography department has proven itself to be one of the more popular areas of study this year. Headed by Mr. John Sanders, these elective courses have attracted many students.

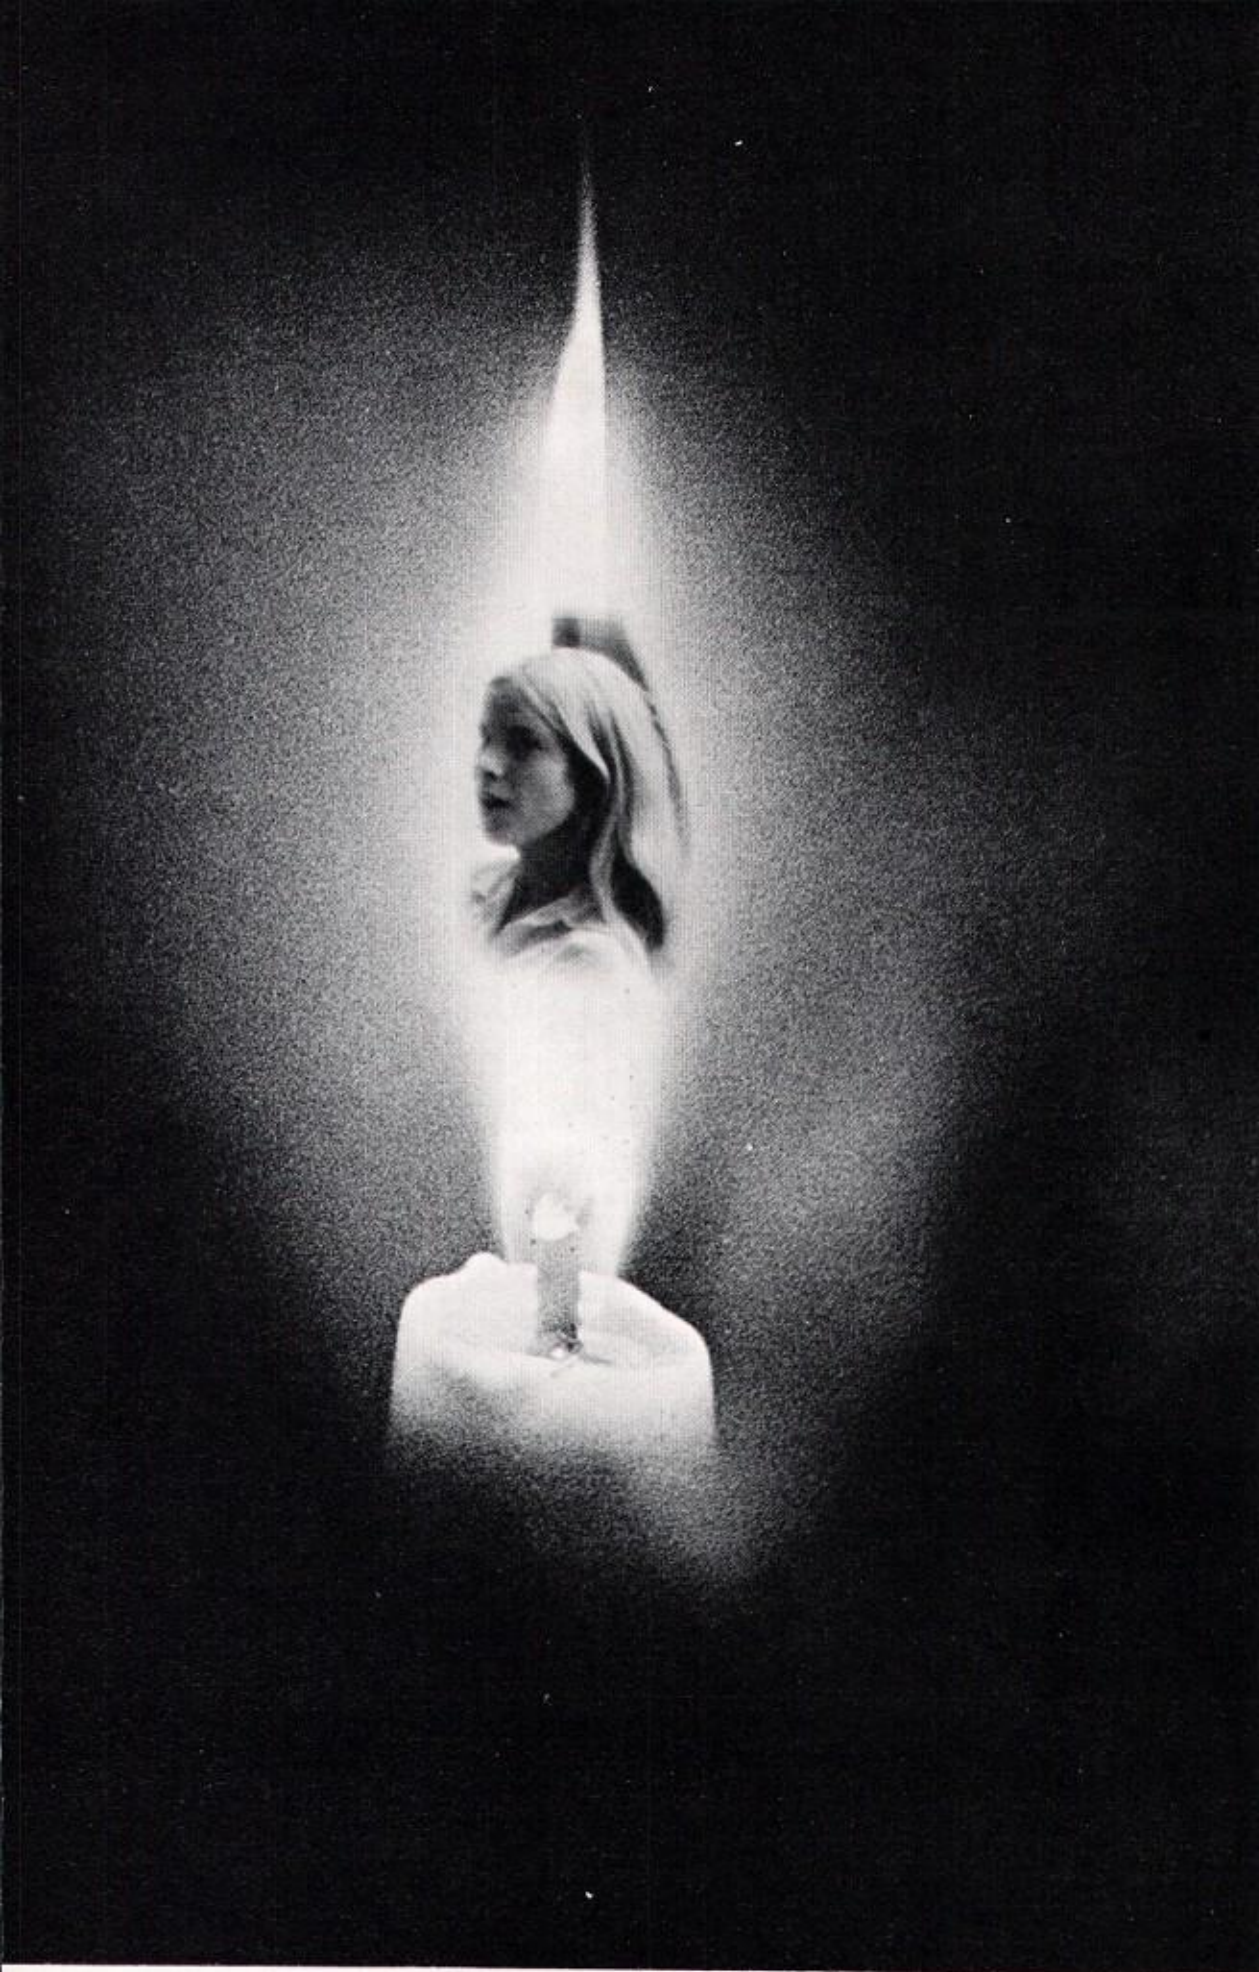

Photography I taught students the fundamentals of photography. It covered the use of the camera and the technique of taking pictures, developing and printing, and mounting the finished photograph. Several pictures were required of the students throughout the course, including portraits and a three picture essay, often exhibited.

Special effects was the main topic for Photography II students to deal with. They also learned the process of working with color slides. Many of the students' finished products were entered in the Lakeridge and Suburban Photo contests.

TV/GRAPHICS AREA

Variety seen in use of area

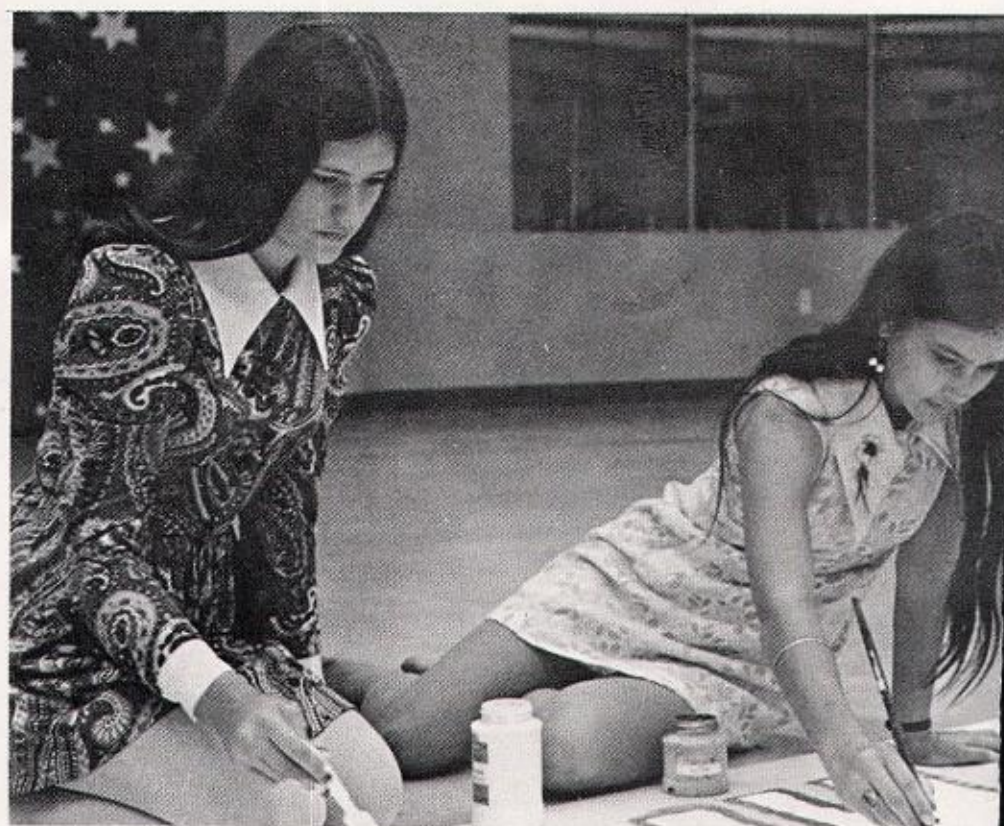

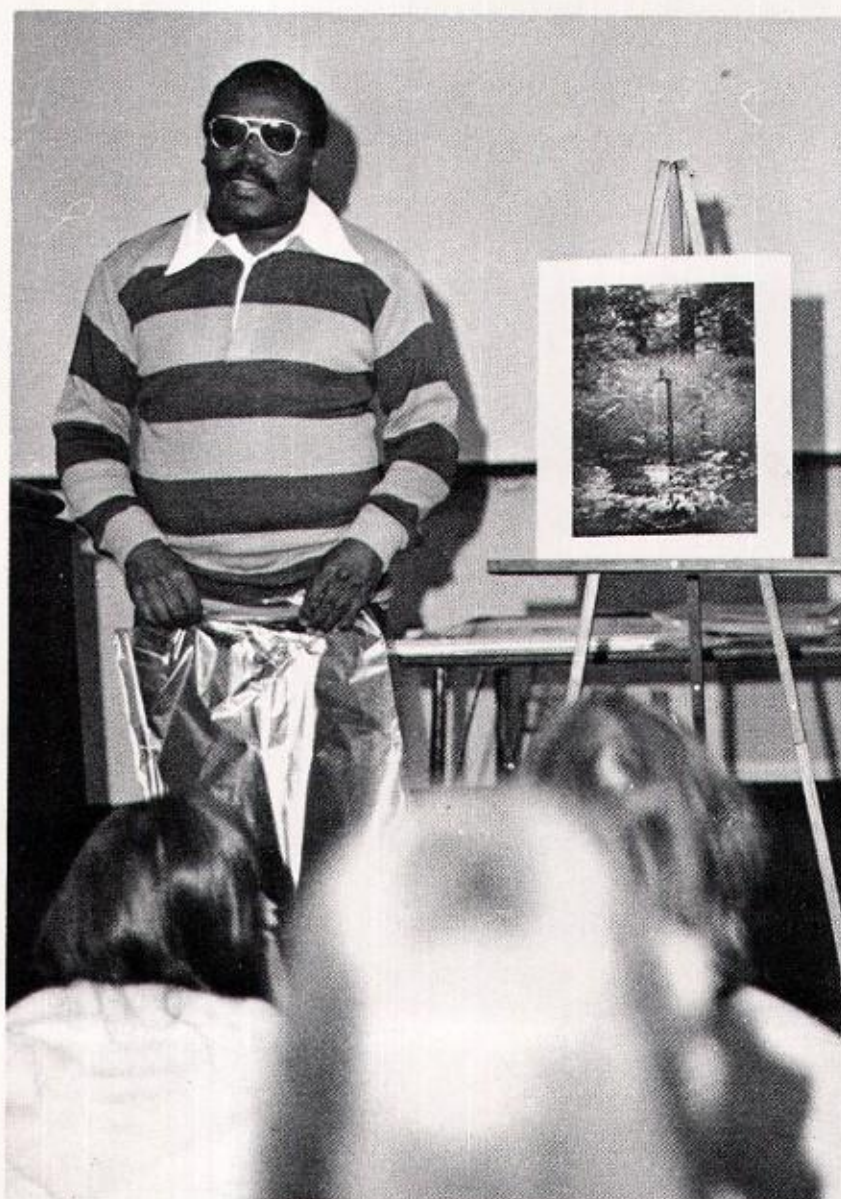

The TV/graphics arts area was used extensively this year. Besides the large number of photography students seen working down there, Mr. Chad Williams, of Mr. Pix Photography shop in Oregon City, showed photography students a few of his many photographs and described his methods.

A first this year was the Red Cross Blood Drive. Many students and teachers took part in the drive and the Red Cross left with gallons of donated blood.

As usual this year, Mr. Jim Cooke was head of the area. But a new face was seen, Mrs. Lois Morse, who was in charge of books.

Once again the rally members diligently worked in the area making many signs.

LIBRARY

Serves many functions for students

Keeping books on the shelves in the library was one of the most difficult tasks for the librarians and aides this year. Because of students taking books and not returning them, plans are being made to install an electronic device so no one can leave the library with a book that hasn't been checked out.

Miss Kelly Graham, head librarian, and Mrs. Margery Hurst spent most of their time in the library filing and ordering books. Over 20 students, who received credits for their work, organized the card catalog, shelved and checked out books.

CONCERT BAND

Instrumentalists active in every season

The Lakeridge instrumental music department worked to complete a successful year. During the fall the schedule kept the members of the band and stageband very busy. The band performed and marched at all home football games and pep assemblies.

The winter months seemed to keep the pace moving as the band performed in the Christmas Concert and the brass sextet played carols around the school. The band toured the elementary schools and played a very successful concert in February.

The winter season was busy for members of the pep band as they kept the enthusiasm high at all home basketball games and pep assemblies. This year the pep band also traveled to the district playoffs and the state tournament. As the basketball season was drawing to a close, the instrumentalists were hard at work preparing for the musical. In early March the instrumentalists combined efforts with the vocalists and the drama department to present several performances of "Fiddler on the Roof."

The coming of spring did not see a letup in the instrumental music activities. The concert band played in the Wilco League Band Festival, performed at the annual Lakeridge Spring Concert, entertained the Wailuga student body and finished the year by playing at the commencement exercises.

The brass sextet was an active group during the spring as they won the top award in the District III Ensemble Contest, performed for the Spring Concert, played for banquets, and performed at Clackamas Community College during a brass seminar.

Final performance receives standing ovation

The Lakeridge "Company" of 1973-74 took on the task of accommodating different styles of singing from the Madrigals of the 16th Century to the Modern Day Contemporary swing charts.

The Company was a well balanced group comprised of 13 seniors, eight juniors; ten men, ten girls, and one accompanist.

The Company performed at various organization and luncheon dates totaling in the neighborhood of 10 to 12 performances.

The highlight of the year for the group was their trip to Expo '74 in Spokane where they participated in the Swing Choir Festival. The Company received an excellent rating at this particular festival.

The final performance of the Company was on May 21 where the group was featured and received a standing ovation.

STAGE BAND

Musicians play at schools, coliseum, concerts

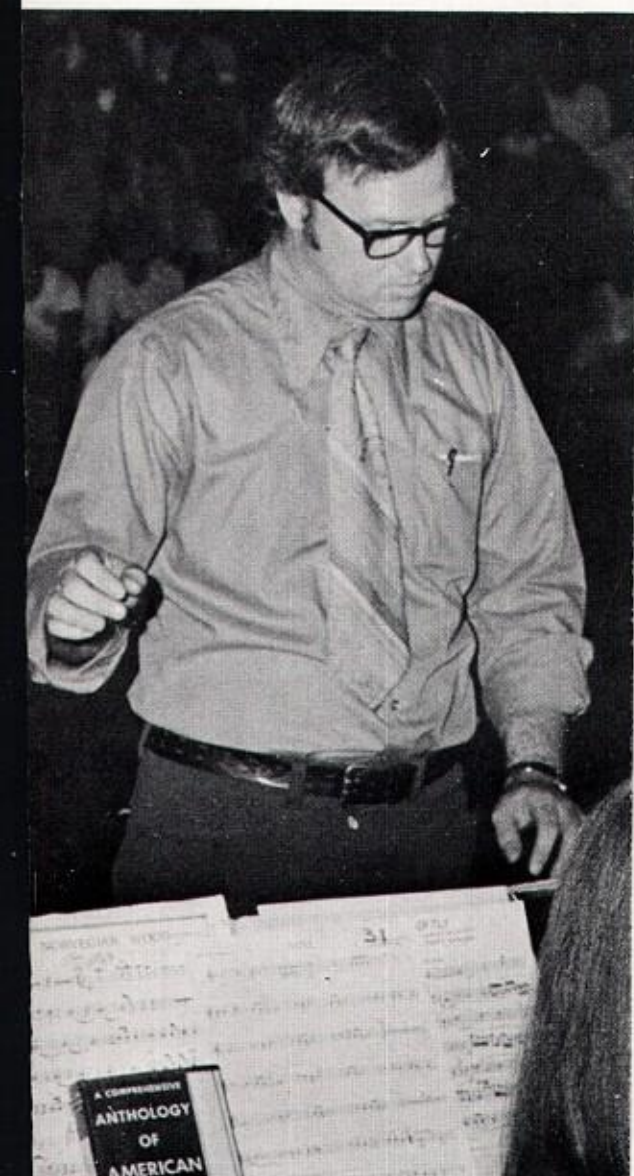

This year's Stage Band had an extremely successful season. They toured the elementary schools, played in the fall concert, played in the Wilco League Stage Band Festival and performed for the National Convention of School Boards at the Hilton Hotel.

During the winter season, the Stage Band was the featured entertainment at the Los Angeles Lakers-Portland Trailblazers game at Memorial Coliseum.

The band also played a concert for the Lake Oswego school board, entertained during May Week, played at Waluga and ended a very successful year by playing at the Banquet of Champions here at Lake-ridge.

CONCERT CHOIR

Meaningful year for all who participated

There were 83 students involved in Concert Choir this year. The choir was partially selected according to ability and limited to juniors and seniors.

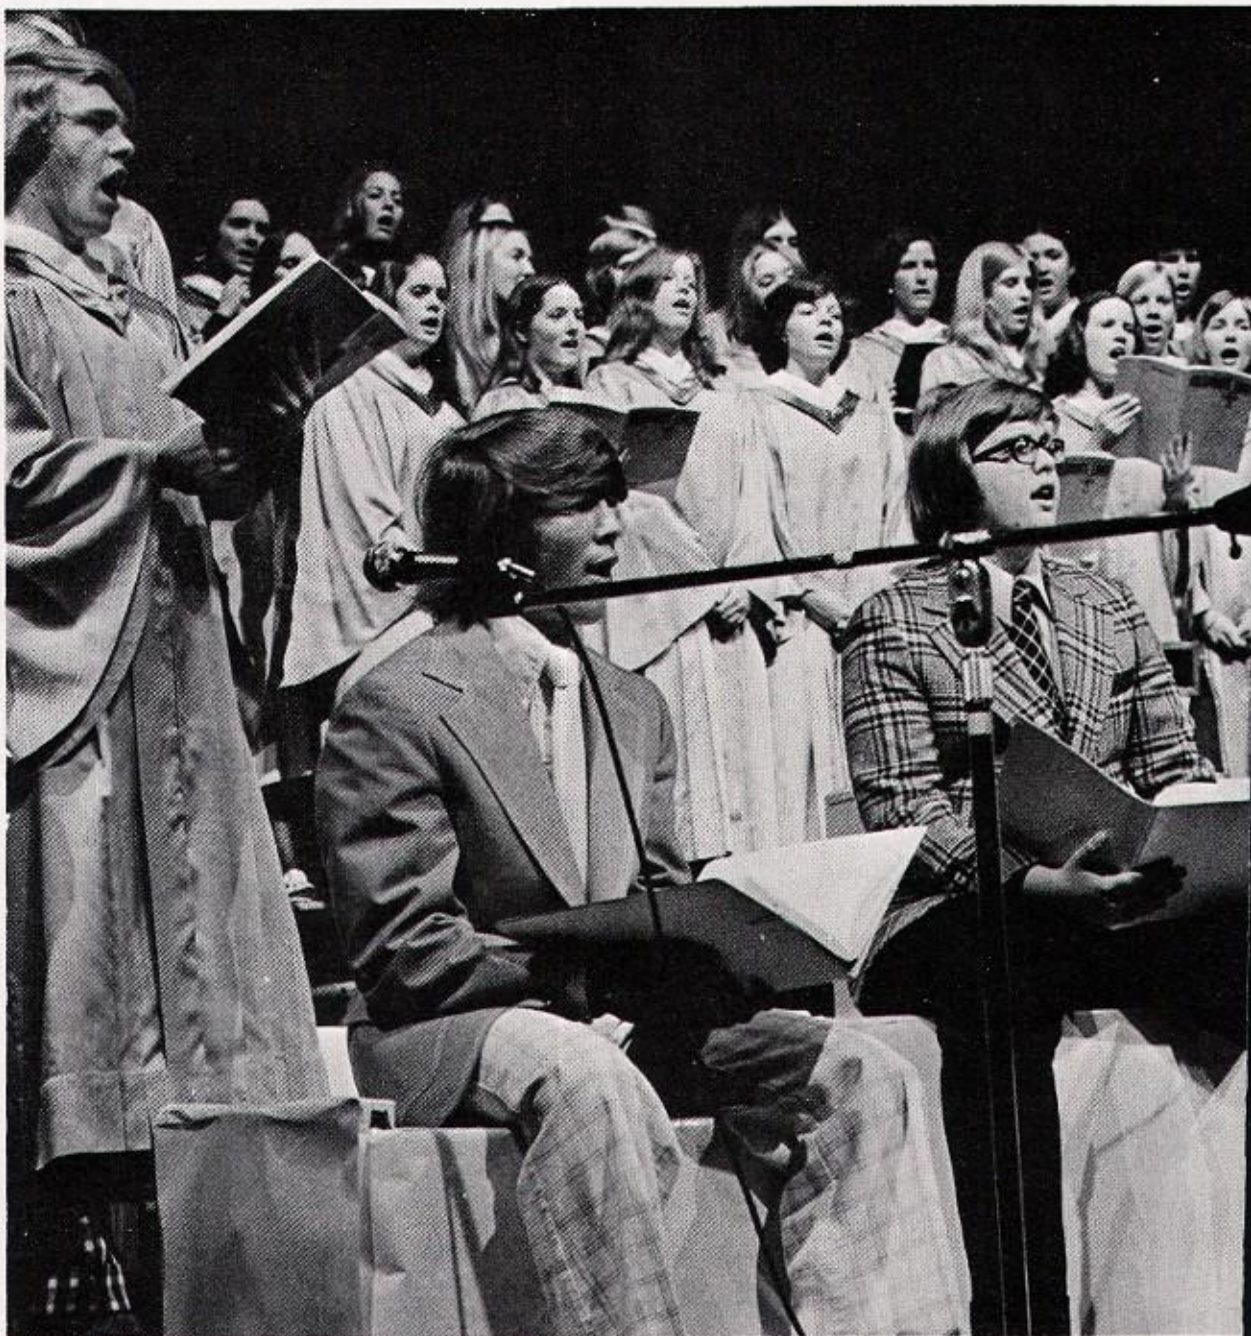

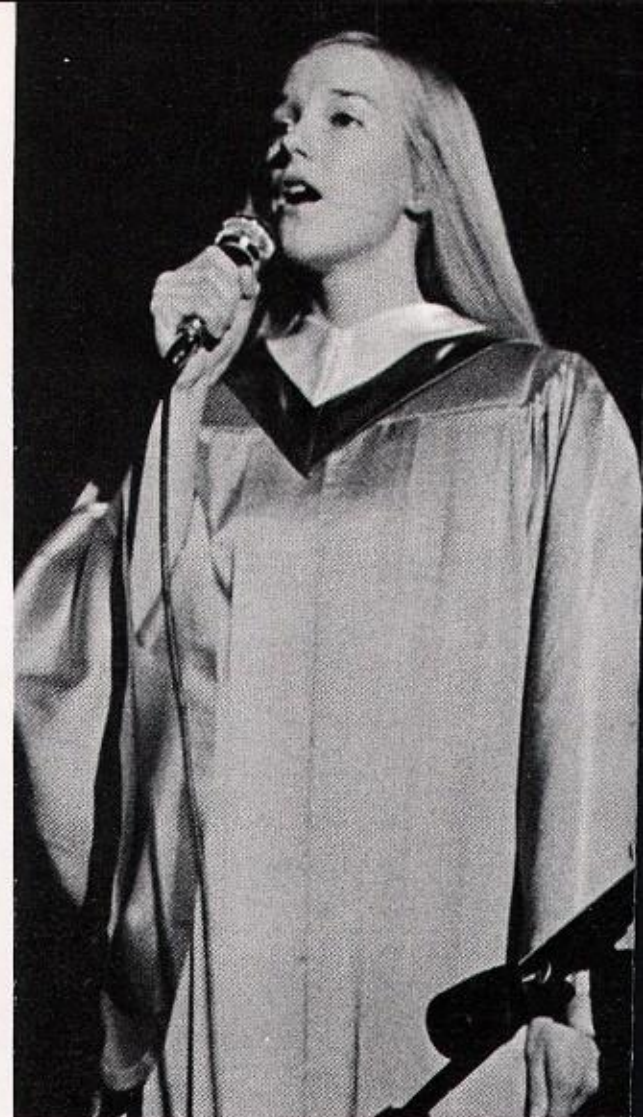

The year began with the introduction of the goal for the year which was "Strive for Superiority." The first concert of the year was very heavy in the sense of performing difficult music. Two numbers in particular come to mind: "Alleluia" by Randall Thompson and the rock cantata "Look to This Day" by Bobrowitz and Porter.

The Christmas Concert was enlightened by using an antiphonal setting and various thematic songs were sung. A three part speech choir was introduced this year in "Have You Heard."

The Concert Choir also presented "Celebrate Life," a musical drama concerning the life of Christ from birth to crucifixion and resurrection. This was presented during Holy Week and was superlatively performed by every member in the choir.

Looking back over the year and the experiences, one cannot help but think of all the hours spent by many who tried and were successful in making this year a meaningful one for all who participated.

ART DEPARTMENT

Students display talent during May Week

This year the art department had a new addition to the staff, Mr. Terry Hutchinson. Mr. Hutchinson taught mainly in the ceramics area.

The two other teachers in the department were Mr. Jim Ponti and Miss Chris Bruno. Mr. Ponti taught advanced art classes and Miss Bruno the introductory classes.

The art department was made up of many different areas such as advanced art, jewelry, calligraphy, oil painting and others. Student projects in the many areas of art education were displayed in the library during May Week.

ADMINISTRATION

Interaction grows between "big four" and students

It was a year for changes and decisions on the part of the administration.

Mr. James Schell, principal, expressed his feelings about his second year as Lakeridge principal — "I am most pleased about the overall program at Lakeridge this year. The library and resource areas were used more profitably and students showed greater effort in use of time. There was continued growth and improvement in the academic program. In addition we were all proud of notable accomplishments in the performing arts and by our athletic teams. It was a notable year."

Mr. Schell was primarily responsible for the overall building program. He planned and coordinated with parents, parent groups, teachers and students.

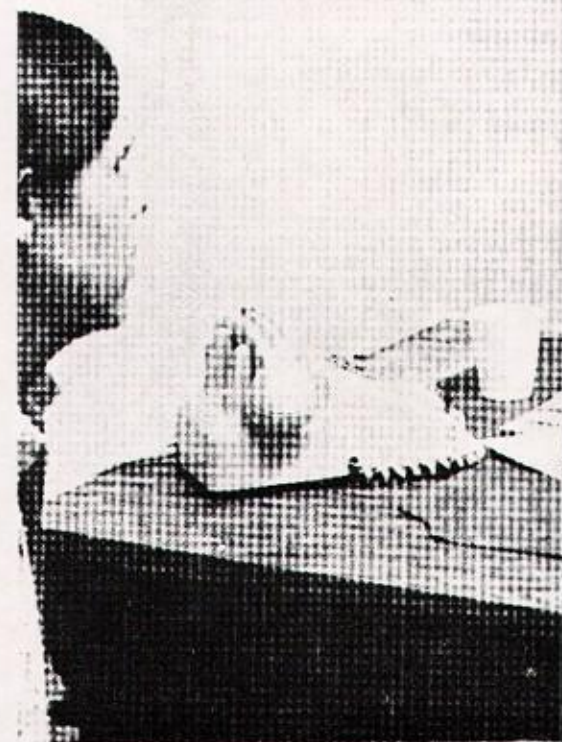

The vice principal, Mr. Galen Spillum, was administrative department chairman. He was required to help plan the curriculum for the year and maintain programs, including attendance.

Mrs. Gay Schroeder completed her third year at Lakeridge as dean of students. Functions of the counseling department, building usage, evaluation of teachers, and AFS Club were her main responsibilities.

New to Lakeridge this year was Lee Knight, dean and activity director. As activity director he was responsible for all student finance, student government, and social events. May Week, Christmas, and Homecoming were produced by the work of Mr. Knight and students. He also helped plan the school calendar and evaluated teachers.

OFFICE STAFF

Secretaries keep school running smoothly

The office staff was a big help to everyone at Lakeridge. They were needed by every department in the building. Each member of the staff did her share to make the school run smoothly.

The head secretary was Mrs. Bev Imper, her job was handling Mr. Jim Schell's appointments and being in charge of all the other secretaries. At the receptionists desk was Mrs. Adele Gray. Working there she handled the intercom, all incoming phone calls, and appointments with the deans. Mrs. Pat McKenzie worked at the attendance desk, keeping track of students by compiling reg lists, and checking early dismissals for enrollment records. First semester, Mrs. Judy Lowell worked as the school's bookkeeper; second semester Mrs. Karleen Anderson replaced her. Their jobs were keeping track of all finances and records concerning student fees. Handling IBM records and scheduling were Mrs. Lorna Jackstadt. She made sure grades and transcripts were given to the counselors.

This year, as in previous years, students helped the secretaries with their work. Many assisted Mrs. McKenzie at the attendance desk, while others put their free time to use by helping at the receptionist's desk.

COUNSELORS

Department handles variety of duties

This year there were two new counselors at Lakeridge. They were Mr. Jack Bramsman and Miss Bev Swink. Mrs. Mary Murphy filled in as counseling secretary. Mr. Dave Pappin and Mrs. Doris Ramey returned from last year.

The counselor's duties involved helping students with their personal problems, scheduling classes and planning for college.

Mr. Pappin originated a new counseling technique called process, in which the athletic teams split into groups and talked about problems. Mr. Bramsman also coached the baseball and ski teams.

Mrs. Ramey was the college coordinator, assisting the students in receiving financial aid.

Miss Swink was involved this year with outdoor school and testing.

DISTRICT 7

Smoking area, graduation requirements added

The 1973-74 Lake Oswego School Board members included Terry Baker, Sam Melrose, Gary Bullard, James Putnam, and Chairman Ed Allen. One of the school board's activities concerns major policy changes in the schools.

Probably the most important and certainly the most controversial decisions were made concerning the smoking area. For the first time ever there was an area outside the school where smokers could be free to smoke without fear of suspension or expulsion. One of the main reasons for starting the smoking area was to get the smokers out of the restrooms.

Another major change was giving the superintendent of schools the power of expulsion. The superintendent no longer has to have the school board's approval to expell a student.

As usual there were other changes throughout the year concerning curriculum and other important school activities and policies. New curriculum requirements for incoming freshmen concerned two areas, citizenship and career education. Also being decided upon is whether to increase the amount of credits needed to graduate.

SERVICE DEPARTMENT

Cooks serve 1,100 lunches each day

Among those who worked very hard at Lakeridge this year were the people in the service department: cooks, custodians and bus drivers. The nine cooks prepared lunch each day for about 1,100 students and teachers. The cooks also helped with conventions and school dinners.

Here to keep Lakeridge clean and the commons open are the custodians. They had two shifts of eight hours each. One in the morning and one in the afternoon. The head maintenance engineer was Mr. Duane Youngbar. Something new at Lakeridge: students who had an interest in custodial work got a chance to explore the field by working at Lakeridge and were paid for it.

The bus drivers not only drove the students to school but also to games and field trips. Without the service dept. the school could not operate as a smooth running unit.

CADET TEACHING

Students teaching students

Greatly improved this year was the Cadet Teaching area. Mrs. Lorene Reirson was in charge of the program. Her students worked all different hours during the school day at Bryant, Lakewood, Palisades, and Rivergrove Elementary schools, and Waluga Jr. High. Over 30 students were involved in this year's program.

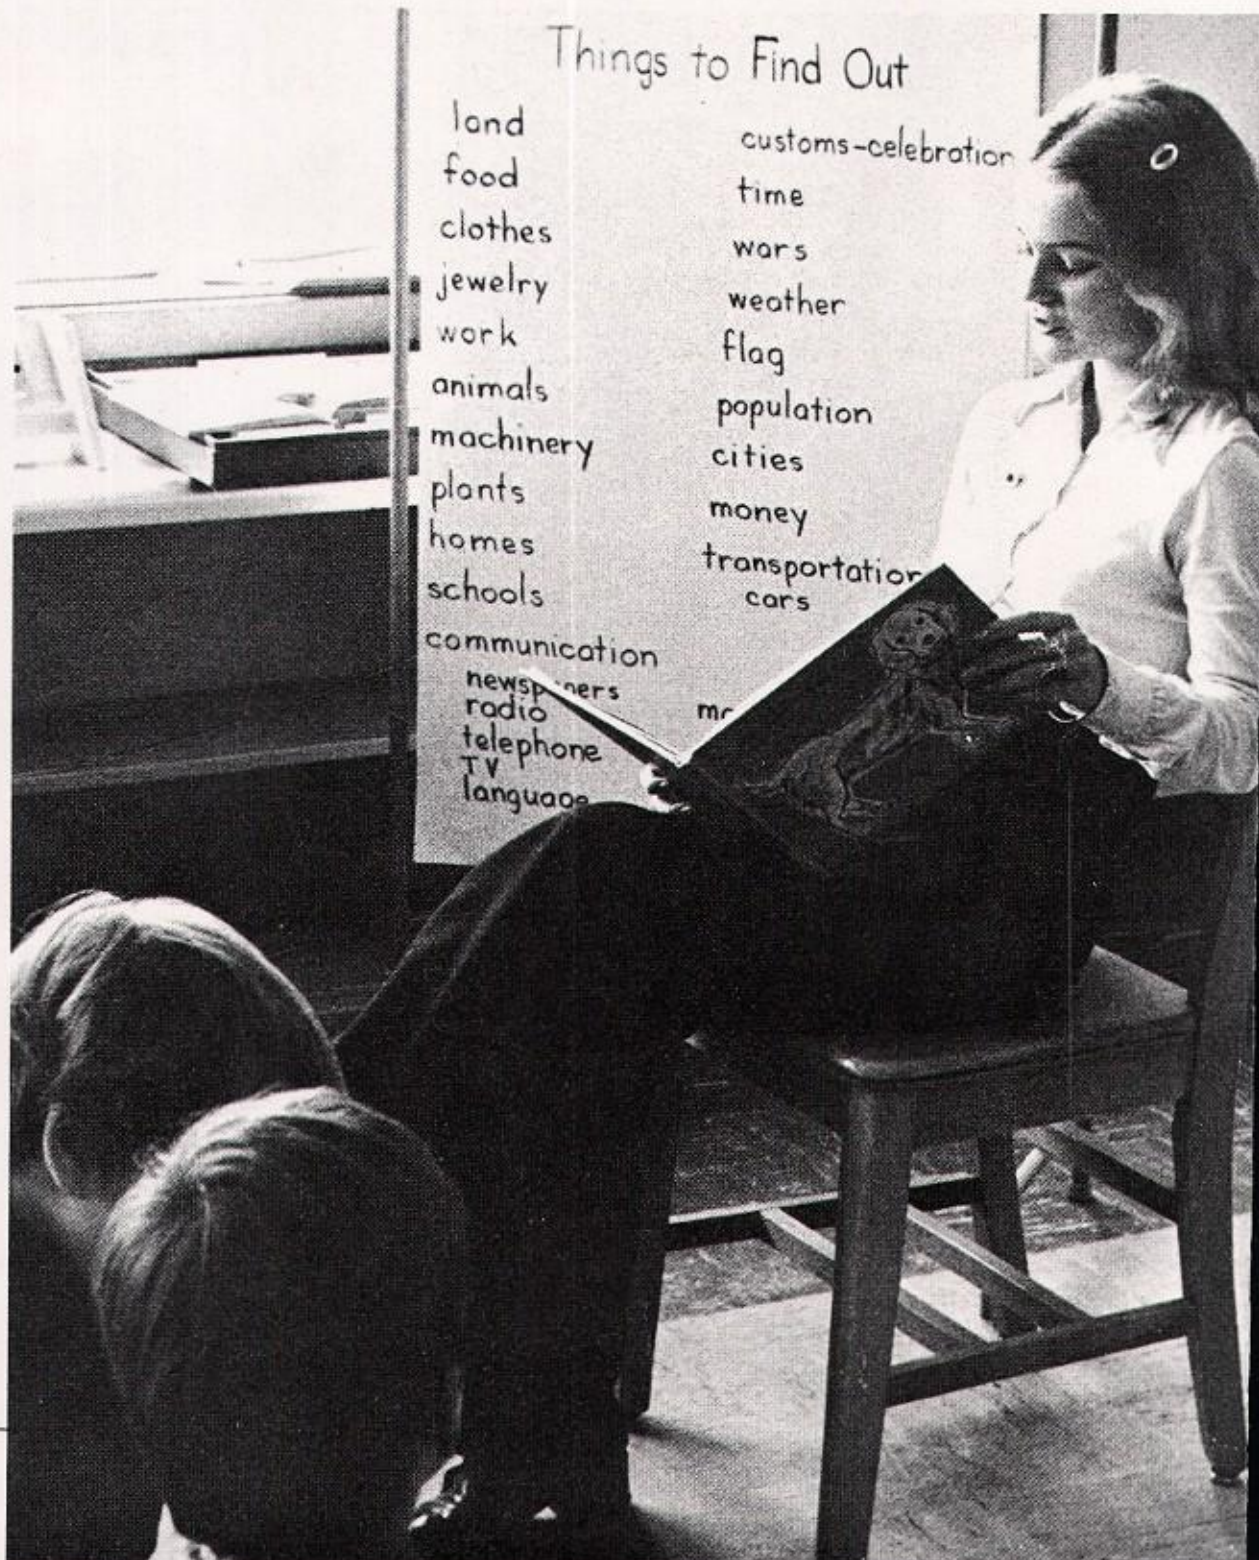

They assisted by doing things like helping the children with their work, correcting papers for their teachers, putting up bulletin boards, supervising playgrounds, and many actually taught lessons.

They tried to reach three goals: (1) to find out if they liked teaching, (2) to gain experience outside of school, and (3) to be of help to the classroom teacher.

The students met every three weeks to discuss their problems and sometimes had a guest speaker.

CAREER EDUCATION

Students gain credit and experience from jobs

A new area of the school was the Career Center. The instructor, Mr. Gordon James, told the students, "By working in smaller places we gain good experience for the future, when most of us will be working for a living."

The students work in school situations and also in public or private businesses outside of school.

The program included supervision and evaluation of the workers on the job. Students filled out evaluation sheets to obtain school credits.

There were many interesting jobs. Some of these were dental office assistant, seamstress, welder, gas station attendant, waitress, and stock and sales clerk. There were also people working in places like Meier and Frank, Palisades Lanes, McDonalds, Safeway, Stretch-n-Sew, First Assembly of God Church and the Portland Zoo.

Classes

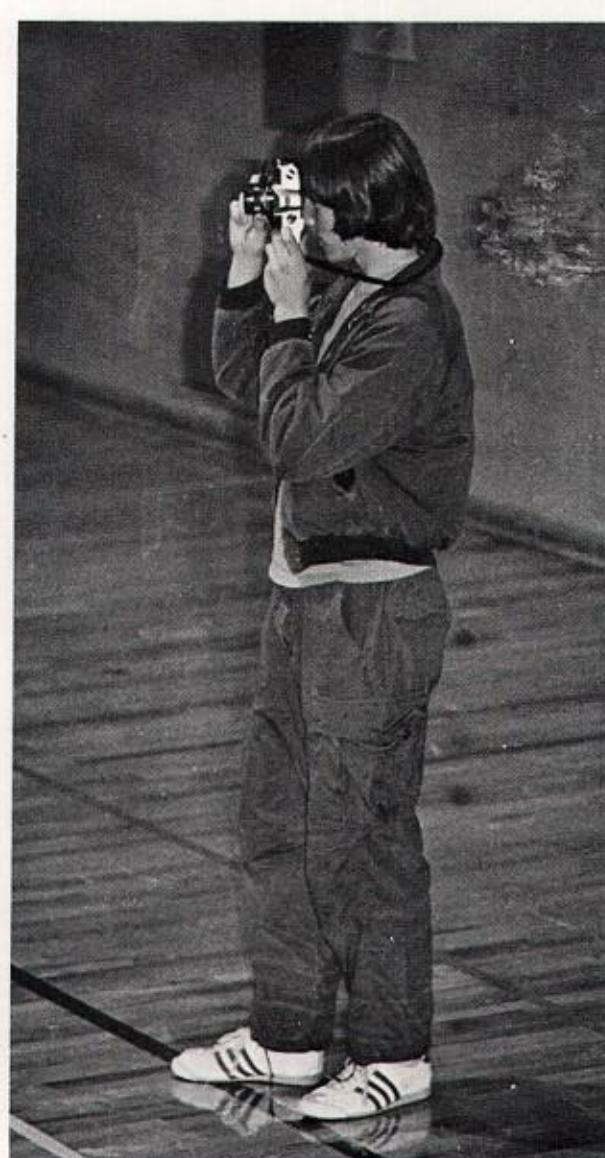

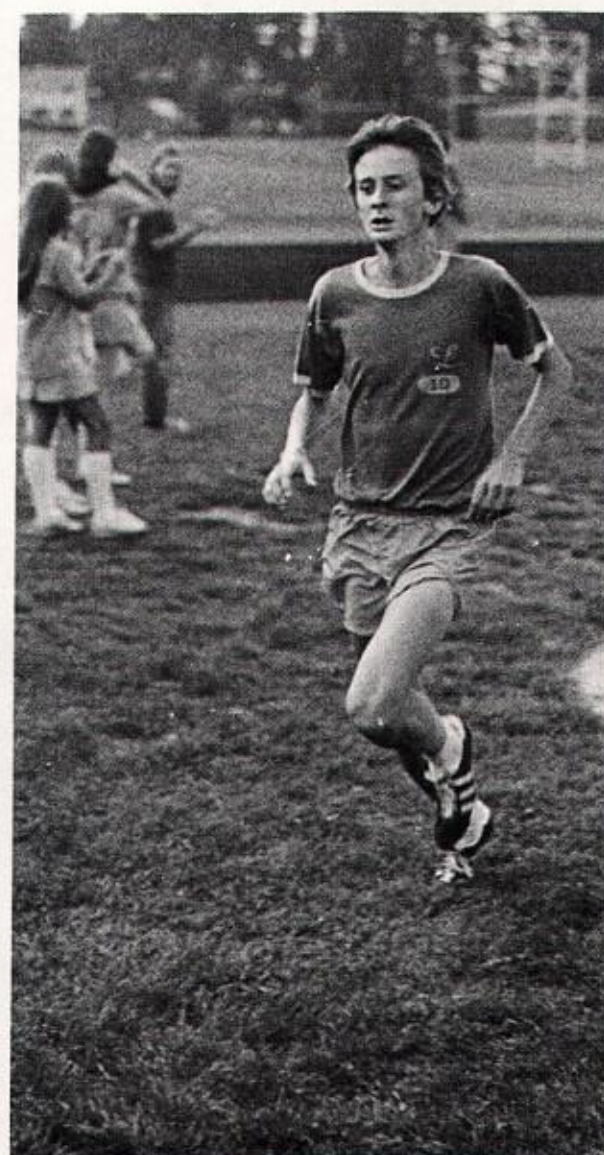

In an effort to achieve greater involvement in school functions, the freshman, sophomore and junior classes planned and headed a number of major activities.

The freshman class, largest in the school, was able to provide strength in numbers as they helped on both the Christmas and Valentines Day festivities.

Although they were much smaller, the sophomores were also extremely spirited and willing in their involvement. The "Second Wind" food drive for the Portland area needy was organized at Lakeridge almost exclusively by a team of sophomores. In the P.E. department, the sophomore girls took part in the modern dance finals.

The junior class prepared for next year as they participated in the Homecoming dance, car rally, and Christmas toy drive. Juniors, in a great part, headed the AFS program, and at year's end staged a well-attended benefit dinner as well as a successful Junior-Senior Prom.

Seniors

The graduating class of 1974 was involved in all aspects of school and community life.

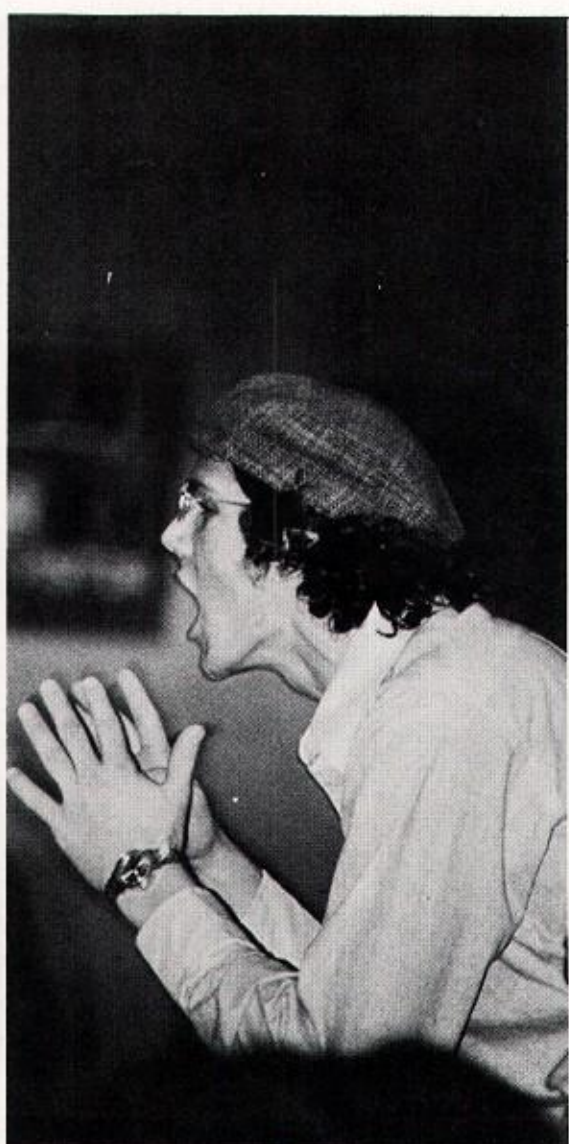

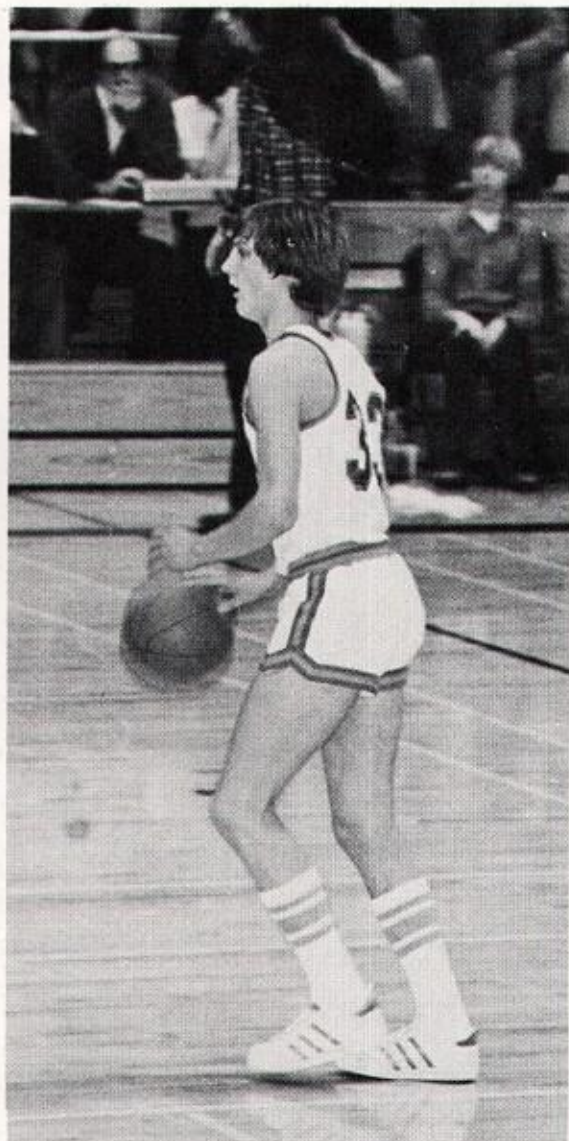

Academics provided the basis for the senior class, along with the whole school. The colleges throughout the country expressed this by accepting students from Lakeridge.

Sports, as always, were a basic part of school life. The winning teams and championships helped school spirit immensely.

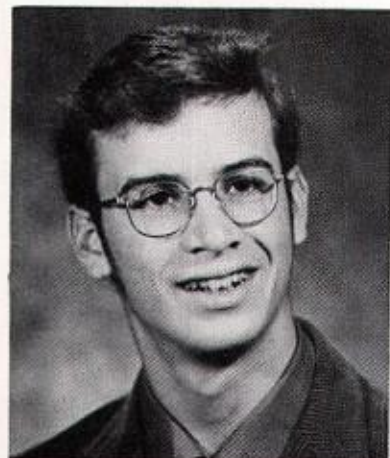

The seniors were involved in many school related activities. The Assembly had 11 senior members. Seniors were important members of the yearbook, newspaper, and Park Bench staffs. Extra time was devoted by students involved in speech, drama, art, choir, band, and Company.

An important part of learning for the seniors came from their outside involvements. School sponsored clubs for specially interested students and teachers, church activities, Young Life, volunteer work, and jobs took up more time for the active seniors.

Kris ~

Well, this was our last year of Lake Oswego schools, after going through six years of it. We've really been through a lot, good and bad times and we've grown and changed a lot since little 7th graders. I think we have more private jokes than anyone (sx?) in the world, but they all symbolize a time in our lives and our relationship. There are so many: Cow dress, math-science class, P.E., Miss Hestel, the cactus and Newton's, doughnuts in exhaust pipes, the bunny hop down the halls at school, Mr. Anderson, Mark le Chevalier, spending the night, tiger stand, my tulips are dying, Christmas shopping together, making cookies until 2:00 am, first dates, cheating on tests, Mrs. Lamb Home-Ed, writing letters to each other, getting our mother mad at us, jumping up and down on your bed, our related cats, first boyfriends, two plant trays, our wheels get kneaky, navy bees, getting drunk for the first time, Hartstone Point, mad Libs, going to parties, dragging B.W., Mr. Hamm, spin the bottle in the library, gymnastics, we were just leaving, all I can say is this place has certainly gone downhill, chasing each other around the library, Mr. Post, Jim Erdman, Dragon Lady, JUVS CAESAR, Ray (you're with n Two-fisted Dave McCormick, Ross, Claire Ironville, Carl Duffon, my new year's party, my last week of school party, Chef, Gene Remick, getting stoned, Mike Minogue, Dr. Daw (a bit out of sequence), meeting Cristi, discing, football games, comforting each other about guys, graduation, the party afterwards, Greg and Randy, Jeff and Stuart, Hand in hand foot in foot, hand in foot, foot in mouth, foot and mouth, silver lips, sometimes we astound me, I love us, only we understand us, I don't believe us, come again? Do you know who you look like? You look like Dave Wolfard, Beaverton party, are you guys sisters?, rush and that pretty much brings it up to date.

Kris, in the last eight months or so, you've been my savior; you taught me how to love and what it's like to be loved back, you've taught me to open up more and show that I ~~had~~ have other emotions besides anger and mistrust, which I think has helped me most. If it weren't for you, Kris, I'd be nowhere. Our two personalities balance each other out - you give me some emotions and romanticism (that, too!) and I give you some practicality and logic. You're such a sweet person and you have so much love to give anybody and everybody it's really neat. To use a run-into-the-ground cliché, I wish you all the happiness in the world. I mean it, Kris, I hope you can find a man who's good enough for you. That's going to be hard, because you're damn special. I hope you find the happiness and love you want and need.

I can honestly say I'd do anything for you. I hope that you have as few downs as possible and have many ups. I hate to see you upset or sad, because you're very much a part of me and it really hurts to see you unhappy. Also, you're the most radiant person I know when you're happy and smiling and so that's the way I always want you to be.

I want your life to be everything you want it to and I want you to be happy and successful in everything you do.

Just remember, Kris, you're the best friend I've ever had and probably ever will have. Hopefully, we'll never lose contact with each other, but if we ever do, I'll always think of you and all our experiences in our 6+ year relationship. If you ever think no one loves you, think of me and you'll have someone when you're down and troubled and you need a helping hand and nothing oh, nothing is going right.

Close your eyes and think of me and soon I will be there, to brighten up even your darkest night.

You just call out my name and you know where ever I am, I'll come running to see you, again.

Winter, Spring, Summer or fall, all you got to do is call and I'll be there, you've got a friend.

If the sky above you should turn dark and full of clouds and that old North wind should begin to blow.

Keep your head together and call my name out loud, soon I'll be knockin' upon your door.

You just call out my name and you know where ever I am, I'll come running to see you, again

Winter, Spring, Summer or Fall, all you got to do is call and I'll come running, hey, ain't it good to know you've got a friend, when people can be so cold.

They'll hurt you and desert you, well, they'll take your soul if you let them

Oh, yeah, but don't you let them.

You just call out my name and you know where ever I am, I'll come running to see you, again

Winter, Spring, Summer or Fall all you got to do is call and I'll be there, yes I will, you've got a friend this, you've got a friend. I love you always.

love,

Moosie
